

BATTLE FOUGHT TODAY

NIGHT EDITION IN POLICE COURT

Varied List of Offenders Disposed of by Judge Hadley

Peter Kuruski was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with assault and battery on Emanuel Kanelopoulos in Davidson street last Sunday afternoon, from what could be inferred from the testimony offered during the hearing of the case it appeared that the defendant was out looking for trouble and when he saw several strangers in what he considered the territory of his nationality he thought it was up to him to take the initiative and drive the invaders out. The complainant testified that he with friends was passing through Davidson street shortly before five o'clock Sunday afternoon when the defendant without any provocation whatsoever assaulted him on the back of the head. Patrolman Michael Lennon said he had been standing at the corner of East Merrimack and Davidson streets and saw the defendant strike a woman with a shoe and later saw him strike Kanelopoulos on the back of the head sending the latter into an alleyway. Cross-examined by Lawyer J. Joseph O'Connor, who appeared for the defendant, Patrolman Lennon said that he had been watching the defendant for he was under the impression that Kuruski was looking for trouble. No defense was offered and the court in considering the matter found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $12.

Drunken Offenders
Patrick Fels, who spent several months recently at the state farm in Bridgewater promised that he would do better in the future, but he failed to live up to his good resolutions and as a result, and this morning when the court learned that he was on parole from the state farm ordered that he be returned to that institution.

George H. Moriarty was fined $6 and three first offenders were fined $2 each.

Assault and Battery
The aftermath of a party which was held at 100 Tilden street last Christmas was aired in police court this morning in the form of an assault and battery case in which John Pontes was the defendant and Maria Tuhur was the complainant. Lawyer George A. J. O'Connor for the complainant, and J. J. O'Connor for the defense.

At the conclusion of the hearing of the case the court found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $10.

It appeared from the testimony offered that Pontes had been using roughhouse tactics and during the course of the festivities at the party bounced a china cup off the head of one of the guests. The Tuhur girl, who was the complainant, testified that the result of the attack was that she became angry and struck the former, and she immediately reported the matter to the police.

Alexis Discharged
James Alexis, charged with feloniously assaulting Annie D. Beaulieu, aged 14 years, was given a hearing in police court this morning at the conclusion of which he was found not guilty and discharged. Daniel J. Donahue appeared for the defendant.

According to the testimony offered by the government witnesses the Beaulieu girl and a friend of the latter named Irene Russell left their homes in Sherbrooke, P. Q., recently and went to Manchester, N. H., and several days ago came to this city.

It was alleged that Alexis met the girls and engaged a room in a block in Merrimack street, stating to the mother that the girls had secured employment in one of the local mills and intended to go to work in a few days.

Owing to alleged peculiar actions the mother notified the police with the result that Alexis was arrested, and the two girls were also taken into custody.

During the course of the hearing Judge Hadley told the girls that they would not have to testify if they did not care to do so, and accordingly they decided not to testify.

After the government had rested its case counsel for the defendant asked the court to discharge the defendant inasmuch as the government had not proven its case, and Alexis was found not guilty and discharged.

GENERAL ATTACK

Was Made on the City of Juarez, Mexico

General Madero Confident of an Early Insurrección. Victory—Bullets Poured Into El Paso—U. S. Troops Kept the Sightseers From the Riverfront

EL PASO, Texas, May 9.—A general engagement between the revolutionary forces of General Madero and the federal forces under General Navarro at Juarez ended today under a burning sun. The entire rebel army had broken camp during the night and up to noon today were rapidly swarming into town. The prospects of a rebel success were dependent on the ability of the federalists to use 91 machine guns within the town.

The insurrectos, it was reported, had silenced some of them but this report had verification only in the fact that the rebels were not shelling the insurrectos as extensively in the last few hours as they did earlier in the morning. General Madero admitted today that he had given his consent to a general attack on Juarez but explained that various circumstances had precipitated it. He declared that reports "which had reached him were that the federalists had opened fire and that the men who had been reported at revolting against his leadership had pursued them on their own accord and could not relinquish their positions. He distanced the counsel of his chiefs, who advised a general attack and though he made an effort to arrange an armistice it failed because of the progress the attack already made. All of the leaders had been acting under Madero's orders. They have surrounded Juarez with their men and prospects this noon were that the battle would continue throughout the day without any decisive turn.

General Madero was at his headquarters receiving the reports from the front and with him were the various political chiefs, confident of an insurrecto victory. Efforts of go-betweens to stop the fighting failed because of the difficulty of handling insurrectos who already gave orders for a general attack to reinforce the 200 men who had forced their way into Juarez despite the federal trenches, barricades and outposts. Bullets poured into El Paso after the attack began at 4:30 a. m. but the United States troops kept sightseers three blocks away from the river front. Privates Emilio Garcia and Patrick Cassidy of the American legion, with the insurrectos came to El Paso this morning to get food. They stated that 15 Americans already had been killed and wounded and that the rebel losses would reach 150 killed and wounded and that the federal loss was more than double that amount. "In one trench I counted 47 federalists and in another 35. They were stripped of most of their clothing," said Cassidy. He added that when the attack started yesterday there were probably 150 insurrectos and that no reinforcements came until last evening. Cassidy also said that Villareal had arrived from Ojinaga with reinforcements and two pieces of artillery. One, he said, was the famous "McGinly" stolen from El Paso.

Colonel Garibaldi is in command of the so-called "American legion" of insurrectos. The rebels have poured a stream of sharp and solid shot into the city. One of the guns is manned by United States and French artillerymen.

An American insurrecto named Anderson attempted to cross the Santa Fe bridge to El Paso but was driven back by the American troops. Mrs. Josefa Garcia and her young son were the persons shot early today, the former receiving a wound in her neck.

The commanding continued slowly. The rebels used their machine guns sparingly, while the federalists poured their shells into the insurrecto outposts.

Early this morning Col. Steyer, in charge of the United States troops, issued orders not to permit any provisions to be taken across to the insurrectos. A wagonload of food was at the bridge for the rebels but it was not permitted to cross. The insurrecto officers stated that they held the port of entry and that they had a right to bring food supplies to their men.

Madero explains the attack on Juarez merely by declaring that "it is the only thing to do." His leaders throughout yesterday begged them to allow them to go to the rescue of their comrades fighting in Juarez. In the proclamation of Sunday, Madero admitted it was with difficulty that he was able to restrain his leaders from attacking Juarez. It is generally considered here that he did not have the power to stop the fight but was forced to approve.

At the Madero headquarters a report was received from the front that federal cavalry had evacuated Juarez and were proceeding south toward El Paso. It is believed, however, that the cavalry intends to flank the rapid influx of the rebels in the town.

General Madero has left his headquarters for the front. He wishes to survey the progress of the battle but will not be in active command.

The federalists have renewed heavy firing. Bullets passed near the immigration station but no one was injured.

MCGLONE WILL CASE

Judge Lawton Finds in Favor of the Will

Will of Michael McGlone, Formerly of Billerica, Was Contested by His Nephew, Charles P. Smith, of This City

Judge Lawton in the case of Charles P. Smith, petitioner, to break the will of the late Michael McGlone which was heard in the probate court in Cambridge last Wednesday and Thursday, today rendered his decision, the court finding for and allowing the will.

Michael McGlone was formerly a resident of Billerica but subsequently and up to the time of his death resided with his sister, Mrs. Margaret Reidy of Cambridge. In making his will, Mr. McGlone made his sister, Margaret, the beneficiary to his entire estate, which includes valuable property in North Billerica. The provisions of the will were acceptable to a brother and another sister, but a contest was made by Charles P. Smith of this city, a nephew, who claimed undue influence and testamentary incapacity. Judge Lawton at the time reserved his decision and made his report this morning.

Messrs. Pratt and Devine appeared for the petitioner and Thomas J. Enright for the will.

"CHARLIE" MORSE

Likely to be Elected Supt. of Streets by the Council

That Charlie Morse will be elected superintendent of streets on the part of the common council, at the regular meeting of that body to be held tonight, is the report that is being given credence in political circles today and Supt. Novell P. Putnam is a little bit afraid that it is going to happen.

That the board of aldermen would concur in the election of Mr. Morse was some to be scarcely the shadow of a doubt, and the outlook as a whole points to the defeat of Mr. Putnam.

It was stated today that Mr. Putnam, upon whom Mr. Putnam banked, had gone over to Mr. Morse, and if that is true there is nothing to it but the election of Charlie Morse.

"Yes, I expect that Charlie Morse will be elected by the common council tonight," was an alderman's answer to a reporter's query this forenoon. "I expected it was going to happen at the last meeting of the lower board," he said, "but I understand that the 'kettle was tipped by a scrap in the caucus'."

A republican councilman spoken to by the reporter said: "I don't take any stock in this report about the defeat of Supt. Putnam. I do not think that he has lost strength in the council and it's a good bet that Mr. Morse will not be elected tonight."

FRENCH BRIGADE

The General Board of Officers Met

An interesting meeting of the general board of officers of the French American Volunteer Brigade of New England was held Sunday at the United States hotel in Boston, President A. J. Martin, of Willimantic, Conn., presiding. The meeting was held in the ballroom of the hotel. The business of the meeting was the question of asking reduced rates from the railroad companies for the transportation of the different guards to Willimantic, Conn., on July 4, where the annual field day of the brigade will be held. After a lengthy discussion it was decided not to ask the said rates.

July 4 promises to be a big day in Willimantic, for thousands of people are expected to be present to witness the maneuvers of the members of the brigade. The latter will compete in drilling exercises for the following prizes: First prize, $100 gold medal; second, $75 gold medal; third, $35 gold medal; fourth, $25 gold medal.

Those attending the meeting were: W. H. Mellen, Brockton, Mass., honorary president; A. J. Martineau, Willimantic, Conn., president general; Ernest Bergeron, Manchester, N. H., vice president general; Phyllis H. Bergeron, Manchester, N. H., secretary general; Albert Bergeron, Lowell, Mass., treasurer general; Joseph A. Turcotte, Claremont, N. H., auditor general; Horace Desilets, Lowell, Mass., master of ceremonies; A. J. Manderville, Abington, Mass., general; Philippe Doucet, Manchester, N. H., adjutant general; Theo. Morrisette, Willimantic, Conn., ordnance officer.

DIRECT NOMINATIONS

The House Orders the Bill to a Third Reading

The Corporal Punishment Bill Was Reported—The Senate Refused to Enter a Protest Against Free Boots and Shoes

BOSTON, May 9.—The bill for the direct nomination of all candidates for public office was ordered to a third reading in the house yesterday, on a voice vote, while the "noes" were rather feeble. The bill takes in every elective state officer from the governor down, also congressmen and county commissioners.

Representative Washburn was the only member to speak against it.

Speaker Walker, who a year ago came out for direct nominations all along the line, took the floor and made a brief argument in favor of the pending bill.

Representative Washburn said he believed the bill is too much wrought up in the idea that the republican party has not been all that it should have been. He said he believed in progress, but he also believed that the republican party has been a pretty good party, and that it has nothing to apologize for.

Good government, he said, depends not so much upon the system as upon the individuals who go to the polls and to the caucuses. Personally he said he strongly favored the elasticity of the delegates system and in the state convention, yet this bill emasculates the entire convention system.

Telephone Bill Rejected

On a voice vote the house turned down a motion of Representative McGrath of Natick to substitute for an adverse report a bill providing that the rates of telephone companies shall be subject to local taxation.

The house then took up the bill providing that shares of stock in public service corporations shall not be subject to the provisions of the inheritance tax law. Representative Dean of Woburn, speaking against the bill, said that the state would lose $100,000 a year if the measure became law. To this Representative Crocker of Boston said that the bill merely exempted from Massachusetts taxation stocks which are taxed elsewhere.

The bill was passed to be engrossed, 111 yeas, on a roll call.

Representative Dean then moved that the house substitute for an adverse committee report, a bill providing that telephone rates between any points in the suburban district shall not exceed five cents. There was comparatively little interest manifested in this proposition. The bill was rejected, 22 yeas, and the adverse report was accepted.

House to Meet at 10.30

Speaker Walker appointed Representatives Wells of Haverhill, Heigis of Montague and Conway of Boston as the house members of the special committee to consider changes in the rules for the purpose of shortening the legislative sessions.

The committee on ways and means reported ought not to pass on the bill providing that the franchise tax assessed upon a business corporation shall go in its entirety to the municipality in which the corporation conducts its business.

Water supply reported a bill authorizing Pittsfield to borrow $700,000 for improving its water supply.

Cities reported a bill authorizing the city of Boston to pay an annuity of $300 a year to the widow of Michael J. Coyne.

An order offered by Mr. Underhill of Somerville was adopted, providing that beginning today, the house shall meet at 10.30 in the forenoon each day except Monday and Saturday.

The house attached an amendment to the senate order extending the time for committee reports, the amendment providing that all matters shall be reported not later than May 20.

By a vote of 61 to 45, the house reconsidered its rejection of the bill providing for the abolition of the grade crossing at Orient Heights, and postponed further consideration until Friday.

The committee on railroads reported a bill authorizing the town of Winchester to adopt new plans for the abolition of its grade crossings, the increased expense to be assessed entirely upon the town. The act is to take effect upon its acceptance by two-thirds of the registered voters of the town.

The senate yesterday afternoon indefinitely postponed action on the order Senator Nason offered last Friday, placing the senate on record against the proposed removal of duties by congress on boots and shoes. The motion to indefinitely postpone was made by Senator Greenwood of Worcester and was carried, on a rollcall, 21 to 13. The democratic members, with the exception of Senator Timilty, voted for the Greenwood motion.

Many bills of importance were postponed, among them being the following: Boston charter bill to Thursday, Cambridge charter bill to tomorrow, adverse report on Chelsea annexation also to Friday, bill for extension of Boylston street across the fens in Boston to tomorrow, bill to provide for the determination of the value of shares of stock of consolidated railroad and street railway companies to Friday.

Senator Ross of Bristol offered a substitute bill for the pending measure to compel railroads to furnish drinking water and drinking cups to patrons. The new bill says that the railroads shall furnish water and cups on passenger trains free of subject to approval by the state health board. Equivalent methods of furnishing pure water free to passengers may be provided instead of the cups and water system if approved by the health board. The proposed act is to take effect June 15 of the present year.

The senate tabled the adverse report on the governor's recommendation relative to the election of U. S. senators. This was done on motion of Senator Malley of Hampden.

A LIVELY BLAZE

BROKE OUT ON OAK HILL, IN WESTFORD

One of the most spectacular fires which occurred in this vicinity for many years broke out about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon on Oak hill in Westford and fanned by a brisk wind spread rapidly. It swept over the hill toward Tyngsboro.

At Flint's corner, which is on the direct road to Dunstable from North Chelmsford where the road from Tyngsboro depot connects with it, Otis L. Wright's house was in imminent danger. Wet blankets were spread on the roof and a force of men sought to prevent the flying sparks from burning the buildings. They were successful, and by 10 o'clock in the evening the fire was making its way through the brush, away from the house.

Mr. Wright stated that the fire had swept some of his timberland, but he could not estimate the loss until he had a chance to go over the burned area and examine it.

PRESIDENT OF VENEZUELA AND CAPITAL THREATENED BY REVOLT

NEW YORK, May 9.—Important developments here reveal that plans are being formulated in this city to launch an insurrection in Venezuela to depose President Juan Vicente Gomez. The news of the contemplated movement to oust from power the successor of President Cipriano Castro came from Havana. The reports have been confirmed by Alejandro Rivas Vasquez, one of Venezuela's foremost public men, who has come to this city to prepare for the uprising, which he has been selected to lead. Dr. Rivas Vasquez, who even now is a member of the Venezuelan congress from the state of Apure, was formerly president of the state of Julia, an office corresponding to that of governor here, and was minister of public works in the cabinet of President Castro. He spoke most optimistically of the movement he is to head, asserting he had every reason to believe it would be successful. Two things, he said, made an insurrection successful. One was general dissatisfaction with the existing government and the other thoroughness of the preparation for such an undertaking. The plans of the revolutionists, it is declared, contemplate a concerted movement against Caracas, the capital of Venezuela. Former President Cipriano Castro is stated to be one of the instigators of the revolt. Dr. Vasquez denies that Castro is backing him in any way in spite of the fact that he became a member of Castro's cabinet through the influence of Castro.

THREE ARRESTED

In Connection With Murder at Livermore Falls

LIVERMORE FALLS, Me., May 9.—The three missing Italians wanted in connection with the alleged murder of Donico Ventrelli, whose body was found in front of his home on Church street, Chisholm, early yesterday, were captured during the night, six miles this side of Rumford Falls and were brought here during the forenoon.

They were arrested by Deputy Sheriff L. M. Small of Oxford and Deputy Miles of Rumford, five hours after they were first sighted by those officers during which they led a lively chase through the woods. It was planned to take them to the county jail at Farmington at noon, and the preliminary hearing probably will be held there as Chisholm is in Franklin county.

BAZAAR OPENED

At Highland Club in Aid of St. Margaret's Church

The bazaar in aid of St. Margaret's church was opened in the Highland club hall, last evening. Mayor Meehan officiating at the opening. The bazaar will continue all week. The hall presented a neat attractive appearance with its numerous booths adorned with pleasing colors. A feature of the booths is the tea garden enclosed in a vine-covered lattice and surrounded by an arch of autumn leaves and purple grapes. Tea, hot and iced, is served.

Each evening will be devoted to one of the bazaar tables, and the opening evening was St. Margaret's evening. The entertainment was furnished by Miner's orchestra, composed principally of high school students, with Miss Harriet Moran, soprano soloist, and Miss Elizabeth Murlingham, accompanist.

Mayor Meehan was introduced by John J. Pinder, for the committee and he congratulated the pastor and parishioners upon the worthy object of the bazaar, the erection of a new church.

Fr. Harkins in reply said that His Honor would be invited to occupy one of the front pews in the new church before another election comes around. After the formal opening general dancing was enjoyed.

Tonight is A. O. H. night and after the opening exercises there will be general dancing.

During the week the volunteer orchestra, Miner's and the "Ladies' Festival" orchestra will alternate in playing.

The tables and those in charge of them are as follows:

St. Augustine's (candy), decorations of purple and white, Misses Elizabeth Coughlin and Anastasia Downing.

Tea garden, Mrs. Charles E. Williams.

Knights of Columbus table, decorations of yellow chrysanthemums, Mrs. Patrick Gilbride, Mrs. George M. Harrigan and Mrs. John M. Murphy.

He has prepared for immediate introduction a bill comprising these provisions. The bill also seeks to restrict the exercise of the royal prerogative in the creation of new peers.

TEN BUILDINGS

On Fire in Winter and Summer Streets Today

The alarm from box 19 yesterday afternoon was for a fire that started in a shed in Winter street and communicated with neighboring roofs until it had a chain of ten burning roofs.

Most of the damage, however, was confined to the Napaack property where the fire started. The property extends from Summer street to Winter street. The cause of the fire was unknown but is supposed to have been caused by children playing with matches in the fire.

It looked for a time as if the fire would make small work of several buildings but the firemen arrived in time to check its headway.

Patrolman James Kennedy and Motorman John J. Meehan forced a door to a room where the smoke was thick.

est and rescued two women who were overcome with the smoke.

Shoe Shop Ablaze

Shortly after 1 o'clock a portion of the fire department was summoned to a fire in the shoe shop in the Hood building in Thorndike street. The fire was due, it was stated, to spontaneous combustion. One window was burned out and considerable damage was done to stock.

Another Fire

Another telephone alarm, shortly after the alarm for the fire in Winter and Summer streets, was sounded, called a portion of the department to a fire in Bay State court. The fire was in a pile of rubbish and did not amount to much.

JASPER'S BOUT

Jim Sullivan Was Easy for Him

WOBBURN, May 9.—Young Jasper of Boston so far outclassed Jimmy Sullivan of South Boston in the main bout at the Woburn A. A. meeting in Lyceum hall last night that Referee Tom Duffy stopped the bout in the second round and awarded the decision to Jasper.

The North End lad was bigger, stronger and far too clever for Sullivan, who was badly punished. In the preliminary bouts Jack Nelson of Woburn defeated Young McGarr, Doyle of Lowell and Cy Goodwin of Woburn, in six rounds; Young Doyle of Lowell and Cy Goodwin of Woburn boxed six rounds to a draw; Eddie Moran of Boston in six rounds, and Young Connolly of Everett defeated Young Murphy of Cambridge in one round.

GARY, Ind., May 9.—Harry Forbes won a decisive victory over Young Fitzgerald of Milwaukee last night. He felled Fitzgerald three times in the third round. Forbes won the fight by his superior ring knowledge and generalship.

MEN MARCHING IN PARADE, DEMANDING VOTES FOR WOMEN

ROBERTA HILL AND MISS MILDRED GARRING BANNER

NEW YORK, May 9.—Owing to the approach of the closing of the New York state legislature the members of the suffragist movement have begun a spirited crusade of national proportions to impress on the legislators the importance of their demand that women should be allowed to vote.

The leaders of the movement here have rallied to their support women from a score of states in the Union, including women who have voted in the various states where they have been given the suffrage. The parade down Fifth avenue in which about 4,000 men and women marched has aroused wide comment. The suffragists believe that demonstration will impress the legislators favorably and gain votes for them in the senate and assembly judiciary committees, which have the custom of the bills striking the word "male" from the state constitution. Tuesday, May 9, a large delegation of the paraders went to Albany to speak before the committees, carrying with them the banners displayed in the procession. A notable feature of the procession was the men's division, in which 300 men, many of them prominent citizens, marched. Two young women generally described as being of unusual beauty and attractiveness form one of the assets of the suffrage movement. They are Miss Roberta Hill of New Zealand and Miss Inez Mitholland of New York, society favorite, and are shown in the accompanying illustration carrying the banner they displayed in the suffragist parade. Miss Hill is holding the banner pole, and Miss Mitholland is at her right in the picture.

SINS OF THE TONGUE

Strong Sermon Delivered at St. Michael's Mission

Severe Arraignment of the Calumniator, the Slanderer, the Detractor and the Scandal Monger—Christ's Injunction to Charity and Love of One Another Forcibly Explained

The exercises of the second night of the mission for women being given this week at St. Michael's church were attended by a throng that filled the large edifice. The Dominican Fathers are in charge of the mission and are much pleased with the result attending their efforts.

The sermon last evening was preached by Rev. Fr. Kelly, O. P., and followed a practical talk on the Rosary by Rev. Fr. Donohue, O. P. The subject of the sermon was "Sins of the Tongue."

The reverend preacher spoke in part as follows:

"Man is distinguished from the lower animals by being endowed with the gift of reason and free will. He is capable of seeing the effect of his actions, capable also of abusing the many gifts bestowed upon him. Man is a responsible creature and will be judged according to the good or bad use he makes of his opportunities, gifts, talents, faculties. Our Lord in this judgment will be severe, not one iota of word escaping Him.

As a complement to reason and free will God has also given the gift of speech, which serves many purposes. It is a medium of communication by which we may share our thoughts and emotions, may give solace, may instruct, enlighten or edify one another. In harmony with all the other works of God it may be used to praise and glorify His Holy Name.

To the noble and sublime uses to which speech may be put, your presence here bears testimony and tribute. Through its medium the eternal truths are given to you and made operative on your soul.

Gift of Speech Abused

Yet what gift of God is more abused than that of speech? In blasphemy the name of God is debased through anger, envy, hatred or disappointment. Through calumny and detraction the good name of one's neighbor is injured. The sin of blasphemy may seem more grievous, but if the latter sins are less so, they are more widespread, more prevalent. Undoubtedly blasphemy is more common among men than women, for the besetting sin of woman's tongue is detraction, calumny, or the sins that follow idle gossip. Whether these are lies or simply detractions, they are injurious alike in their results, embarrassing, annoying, besmirching. And the faster with which these sins are committed is much to be regretted for there are few, even among those who lead good lives, who have not at one time or other been guilty of it. Those who seem able to resist all other temptations are ensnared by this one. Yet nothing is more despicable to the Christian than calumny or detraction, nothing more irreconcilable with the spirit of Jesus Christ, whose mission was one of love. Coming on earth to bring peace, he established the brotherhood of man and sealed the bond with His blood, and dying left us the injunction to love one another as He loved us. Surely our Lord could not have emphasized the necessity of charity more than when he made it one of the conditions of gaining eternal life. "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with thy whole heart, thy whole soul and thy whole neighbor as thyself," or when he made it the distinguishing mark of his followers. "By this shall all men know ye, that ye love one another."

Charity then should be the chief characteristic of the Christian, but what kind of charity is it that makes known the faults of another, or that betrays the good name of a neighbor? Most of the miseries of the world can be traced to this lack of charity. So many domestic infelicities spring from it, broken friendships follow in its train. It has disrupted business, been the source of trouble everywhere, separated friends, even separating husband and wife. It has been the cause of poor health, loss of employment, even of death. Many a man has fought death on the battlefield but has succumbed, has gone down before the deadly shots of the slanderer.

In all of us there is more or less of pride. Many there are who think themselves paragons of perfection. Charles-like they think they are not like the rest of men. They are self-appointed censors of their neighbors' faults. They make their neighbors' weaknesses the butt of their wit or ridicule or sarcasm. Let them fear for what they themselves are doing, lest they be more guilty in God's sight than the neighbor they undertake to criticize. Our Divine Lord says he who uses the sword shall perish by it, so let them beware that the weapon they use so skillfully may not be turned upon themselves.

Men and women are not all alike. Some are born with stronger passions than others, upon some the sins of parents have been visited, one is stronger, less tempted than another should thank God for it and strive to help the neighbor weaker than himself.

Pride goeth before destruction and envy prompts a great deal of this evil of calumny, of slander, of detraction. These so-called are insidious, they flatter a friend to his face but behind his back calumniate and disparage him. The success, the prosperity of a neighbor seems to hurt them and they set to work to disparage, to annoy, to sadden those who seem to be getting on better than themselves.

Envy and Rash Judgment

If one wishes to be really charitable, envy must be suppressed even in thought. By the envy of the devil, death came into the world and by the envy of mankind a spiritual death is everywhere being wrought daily. Once envy fastens itself on one, it consumes like a fire and many there are who through rash judgment sin mortally before they utter a word defamatory of another. Religion does not enjoin merely that we speak well of another, but it regulates our inner movements. Do unto others as you would be done by is not sufficient. Religion commands us to banish from our hearts even the thought of judgment. Judge not that you yourself be not condemned. Our charity should be of the kind that thinketh no evil.

And who are we that undertake to judge our neighbor? There is only one Judge. The parable of the unjust servant teaches us what the Lord thinks of those who wish to be treated fairly themselves, but who are unjust to others. Like the Pharisees they are many who impute bad motives even to the best of actions. Like them they would criticize alike those who follow the authorities of a John the Baptist or those who with the unadorned simplicity of our Lord mingle with the good and bad alike.

Spirit of Revenge

The spirit of revenge is often the cause of uncharitableness. Our Lord promulgated the doctrine of love and forgiveness. With what majesty did the Prince of Peace utter these words: "You have heard it said of old, an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, but I say to you, love your enemies, do good to those who hate you and bless those who persecute and calumniate you."

Did not our Lord teach us that mercy would be dealt out to us, only as we give it to others and do not ourselves ask for forgiveness only to the extent as we bestow it. "Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive others their trespasses against us."

There are some who defend and traduce their neighbors through habit. It is a second nature to them, and to be faultfinding, ill-natured and slanderous is as natural for them as it is to breathe.

The speaker then cited examples of the evil effects of calumny and detraction and begged his hearers to be as careful of the reputation of a neighbor as each would be of her own, to look for the good traits that are in even the worst of people, to praise these good traits instead of condemning their wickedness. Of course, he said, where wickedness must be denounced the laws of justice demand it, being made known to proper authorities, but where idle gossip, curiosity, envy or maliciousness are at the bottom of the revelation we make of our neighbors' faults a heavy account will be demanded of us and reparation must be made.

Not only serves to keep the bodily health at the highest notch of excellence, but in typhoid and malaria, especially, when the bodily functions are at their lowest ebb and death seems imminent, it is retained by the stomach when other agents are rejected, and as a food and stimulant sustains life until the crisis is passed. While convalescing after fever it is the greatest strength-giver and body builder known to science. It is a wonderful remedy in the prevention and cure of all lung, throat and stomach troubles, and all wasting and weakening conditions.

LARCENY OF $60,000

Is Charge Made Against Bank Teller in Cleveland

It is Said That He Has Confessed Stealing for Eight Years—Reported to Have Lost Money in Manufacturing Concern

CLEVELAND, May 9.—For alleged peculations amounting to nearly $115,000, Julius W. Hopkins, paying teller of the First National bank, was placed under arrest last night. It is stated by the bank officials that Hopkins made a confession three days ago, being the first in the line of the bank's employees who had confessed.

Bank Examiner Williams was sent for and the arrest ensued. He is held on a warrant issued by U. S. District Atty. Day, which specifically charged him with the theft of $60,000 from the bank.

When arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Weather, the accused man waived a preliminary hearing and was bound over in $50,000. He was unable to get bail and was sent to jail.

It is said that later, Teller Hopkins confessed to District Atty. Day, Federal Bank Examiner Henry A. Williams and officials of the bank that during the last eight years he had embezzled a total of $114,850 of the institution's funds.

The officials say that, according to his alleged confession, Hopkins juggled his entry accounts and succeeded in evading disclosure. Most of the embezzled money, bank officials say, was invested in a manufacturing concern, of which Hopkins was the head. Hopkins is 35 years old and a widower. He has a son.

He range in Dracut.

For a long time officers of the local militia companies have sought to have something done about the range in Dracut. Yet all of their work has brought them nothing.

There are eight targets for the 200 and 300-yard ranges, with four targets to be used interchangeably between the 500 and 600-yard ranges. Two of the present targets are two inches smaller than the others, yet all of them are fired at from the same place. It is proposed to get four more targets, if possible, which will allow four targets each for the 500 and 600-yard ranges.

Col. Upton also found some fault with the bunkers at the range. One only of these is constructed of cement; the others are of wood and dirt. These latter were declared unsafe, and the recommendation was made that all of the bunkers be of cement. A fence about the shooting grounds was also suggested.

HEAVY RAIN

DROWNED OUT FOREST FIRE NEAR DOVER

DOVER, May 9.—A heavy downpour of rain during the early morning drowned out the forest fire that had been burning between Dover and Westwood. During its course the fire spread over a territory five miles long and covering about 600 acres. Several buildings were destroyed by the fire, including three farm buildings, three camps and a water tank. The fire destroyed a large quantity of valuable standing timber.

OLD-FASHIONED TONIC

PROVES BEST

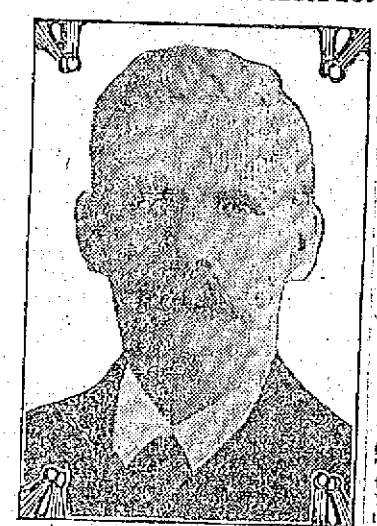

(From National Health Journal)

Statistics show that not one person in fifty emerges from the strains of winter in good health. Due to various causes the system becomes clogged with impurities and the liver, kidneys and bowels fail to perform their functions properly. As a result we have faded, sallow complexions, liver spots, spring fever, lost appetite, no energy—in fact, feel sick without knowing the cause.

For correcting these disorders there is nothing so far discovered to equal old-fashioned Karsen's Tonic which can be made at home at small cost. Dissolve an ounce of Karsen's in one-half pint alcohol, then add one-half cup sugar and hot water to make a quart.

A tablespoonful before each meal soon rids the system of impurities, clears the skin and restores the whole body to its normal, healthy condition.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1910 was Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 2, 1911. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

The oiling of macadamized streets is still a problem awaiting attention, and one that must soon be solved by every progressive city.

PUBLIC MORGUE NEEDED

Lowell should have a public morgue to which all unidentified bodies should be brought so as to offer the greatest facilities possible for identification. It is safe to say that many bodies taken from the canals and buried as "unknowns" would have been identified had the bodies been held for a reasonable time for inspection at a public morgue open at all hours. It might be located at the police station.

OUR LOCAL HALL OF FAME

Halls of fame are becoming very common nowadays. Nearly every nation has in some form a temple in which an assemblage of statues or of paintings commemorates the most eminent of the good and great men it has produced. The time will come when every city will have its hall of fame to be filled with the men who have at some time rendered signal service to the city, whether as private citizens, public officials, artists, inventors, patriots, heroes, poets, statesmen, orators, philanthropists.

The proposition to purchase David Neal's well known picture "The Rialto" on exhibition at the city library has the suggestion of a hall of fame for Lowell in which some of her great men might be commemorated in one way or another. Lowell in the first place could select for this hall of fame some of her great artists whose names are already immortal. Among these would be Whistler and David Neal, whose painting a few of his admirers are talking of purchasing for the library by public subscription. It would be a good thing for the city, a good thing for the artist and a good thing for the promotion of artistic taste in this community. The time may come when David Neal's paintings will be much more highly prized than at present, although he has won high honors in some of the greatest art centers in Europe.

But as to the hall of fame idea, we might select heroes, patriots, statesmen and orators in goodly numbers, while as for scholars, poets and writers, Lowell has produced as many as most cities of her size. Most of all could she score in the number of eminent men who she could commemorate in this hall of fame, from Kirk Boott, Patrick Tracey Jackson and Francis Cabot Lowell, down to Col. Francis, the great engineer, who might well be honored in any local hall of fame. Since the days of Col. Francis it would perhaps be more difficult to make a selection, not only from the leaders of our great industries, but from the men who have directed our municipal government.

No doubt there have been many good and a few great men, but of late years it would be difficult to find among our city officials, men worthy to stand side by side with the officials of our city's early history. The question then arises, is the present generation less prolific of men who have won distinction for some great quality, such for example as civic virtue, high ideals of citizenship, or devotion to the progress of our municipality? It would really seem so, but we are inclined to believe that we have as many great and good men as ever and their talents and ability would be shown if any great emergency demanded their services. While matters go along in hum-drum fashion, these men go about their own private affairs with apparent indifference, but if any grave emergency calls for their service to the city or the state, then they come forward and show the stuff they are made of. While we are not suggesting a hall of fame, it will do no harm to reflect upon the abundance of material for such an institution shown by one generation and the apparent dearth of such material shown by another. It is a matter of general concern also whether this apparent lack of able men is due to any system by which we put forward men of second or third rate ability. When the legislators of a state select a man to represent the state in the United States senate, they are expected to choose a man whose talents and integrity will always reflect credit upon the state he represents. Similarly, if the voters of a district have to choose a representative to congress, or to the general court, they are expected to select a man who will at least measure up to the standard of the men with whom he has to associate. Otherwise, the man's lack of ability will reflect upon his district and the intelligence of the people who sent him there. The same rule applies to the men elected to hold municipal offices. If they are below the standard the voters are to blame; for we insist that there is always a sufficient number of able and good men to select from. If, instead of selecting the best available, the voters choose some who are positively unfit, then what is to be done? It must be remembered that not only the voters of this or that ward or district have to blush for a municipal official, but the entire city. This is where the voters by districts seem to fail in their duty, whereas in the aggregate or at large, they select better and abler men. It does seem to us that if the voters exercised their best judgment in the selection of public officials, they should always be able to point to a number of officials who on account of ability and devotion to their public duties would deserve to be commemorated in the history of the city, or in any assemblage of the faithful and efficient servants of the municipality. The system, we admit, has been at fault and until a new system shall have been established we need not expect any better results. Until we have a new and modern charter we shall have to bear the presumption that the men selected for public office are the most experienced, the ablest and best we can find in the entire community. It seems to be the present aspiration of this community to remove the evils of this antiquated system and substitute one that will secure better results so that we shall be able to secure the best men who aspire for public office rather than as at present preventing such men from seeking public office.

Let it be remembered that in our public officials and our men of affairs we are unconsciously selecting subjects which will stand in our historical hall of fame, whether to our credit or our discredit. It may be a fact that some of us regard the exercise of the franchise too lightly, while some and perhaps the majority are tired of a system in which they have lost confidence. The only logical remedy is, to change the system and then appeal to the voters to use their best judgment for their own good.

SEEN AND HEARD

A woman living in Cross street, a good-natured soul who could never say no to a neighbor, says that hereafter she will draw the line on clothes pins. "I may lend the clothes line or the clothes-horse, but not the pins," she says, and there's a reason. She loaned her bag of clothes pins to a neighbor. The pins were not returned and a few days later she sent her boy to get them.

"Mother sent me for the clothes pins," said the boy to the neighbor. "Your mother is a good woman," said the neighbor, "and she'll not be vexed when she hears about the clothes pins. I was late in getting up the other morning and would have been late at the mill if I stopped to gather kindling, so I used the clothes pins to start a fire and make a cup of coffee. Your mother is a good woman and she'll never miss them."

"Make people happy and there will not be half the quarreling or a tenth part of the wickedness there is."

Let us be of good cheer, however, remembering that the misfortunes hardest to bear are those which never come.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Go to your work and be strong, halting not in your ways. Balking the end half-way, for an instant's dote of praise. Stand to your work and be wise, certain of sword and pen. Being neither child nor gods, but men in a world of men.

"Pay as little attention to discouragements as possible. Plough ahead as a steamer does, rough or smooth, rain or shine. To carry your cargo and make your port is the point."

"Worry is the moth that eats into the precious threads of thought and character. It confuses the judgment and enfeebles the will. Anxiety and fret are fatal to the integrity of nerve and brain. Worry is a poison and happiness a medicine."

"Not what you think ought to be done. Not what you would like to do. Not what you would like to do if you had more time. Not what somebody else thinks you should do."

BARCLAY, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing woman's ills such as inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life.

SOUTH COMMON

SOUTH COMMON

Mr. Corbett Says It is Given Up to Rowdyism

The following communication addressed to The Sun by Mr. Michael Corbett calls public attention to a matter of considerable importance. If conditions on the South common are as bad as represented here, they should be remedied at once.

The communication follows:

Editor Lowell Sun:

Dear Sir: I should like to make use of your columns to express my opinion and that of many other citizens concerning the conditions which are existing and have been allowed to exist for the past eight years, upon the South common. This common, as well as the other parks belonging to the city of Lowell, is under the exclusive control of the park commissioners; yet, through their neglect of this, the largest and most valuable park in the city, they have allowed conditions to exist which are a disgrace to our community, and especially to these gentlemen, who are solely and entirely responsible.

Until this commission was established the South common was a recreation ground, a place of innocent amusement, where law and order was maintained. It was a safe and healthful resort for the women and children of the poor. I have counted, at five o'clock of a summer morning, fifty baby carriages with their occupants and guardians, who were there to spend the greater part of the day. Invalids and convalescents were there, seeking relief from their hot and crowded tenement homes. How many now? Not one! Under the beneficent care (?) of the park commissioners, the common has been given over to thugs and bums, to disreputable persons worse than bums. Assaults are numerous. No woman crossing the common at evening can be sure of safety. In spite of ample space reserved for ball grounds, and to which, in justice, they should be restricted, boys and men play ball all over the common, breaking windows in the vicinity, endangering the lives of passers-by. The commissioners, when requested to provide at least one policeman for the protection of the public, who have occasion to pass through the common, say that they cannot afford it.

Yet the South common yields a yearly revenue to the city, that of last year being $1087.00. In return, the commissioners magnanimously expended upon the common $1063.88—$23.12 less than the revenue, observed; while on Fort Hill park, on the outskirts of the city, yielding no revenue, and frequented by few, they lavished $5567.74. Let me quote from the Report of the Park Commissioners of 1910: "Suggestions of Geo. C. Wilton, head supervisor: The pool at the South common is in present condition, is also a menace, not only to health, but to the life and limb of the boys and girls that use it for wading purposes. It is filled with mud, fill and broken glass, and many boys contract cases of blood poisoning, as a result of cuts received while using the same." Again: "Suggestions of the Hon. J. S. Smith, supervisor: 'The pond on the South common is a menace to public health. The bottom is filthy, unsanitary and unsightly.' Then follow suggestions for improvement, which the commissioners have, so far, seen fit to disregard."

On July 3d, a massive limb fell from an elm tree on the common, directly upon some children at play. One child was killed and others injured. Could not a little care have prevented this accident?

Now, I understand that the commissioners are considering the turning over of the common to the militia, to be used as a drill-ground. Let the state provide a ground for the militia.

Preserve the South common for the purpose for which it was intended by its donors to the city of Lowell: for the use of the general public; for the public health; for the public amusement; for the good of the women and children.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for allowing me the use of your space, I remain Respectfully yours,
Michael Corbett.

CHILD SAVED

RESCUED FROM TRAIN BY OLD CRO: ING TENDER

PAWTUCKET, R. I., May 9.—John Mahan, aged 60, crossing tender at Broadway on the India point branch line of the New Haven road, saved the life of Annie Smith, aged 6, yesterday afternoon and was himself injured.

A freight train was passing over the crossing, when the child stepped on the track, and as she did not hear his cries he rushed out and seized her and was himself hit by the engine and knocked to one side.

He received cuts in the head and bruises on the legs and hips, and was carried to his home at 74 Summer avenue, Central Falls, after being attended.

PALE AS A GHOST

This Young Woman Was Thought to Be Dying of Anaemia.

After Two Years in Bed She Was Cured By Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and Has Since Been Well.

Anemia is simply a lack of blood. It therefore follows that the correct treatment for anemia is one that increases the blood supply. That is the only treatment that can possibly be successful. To restore the blood supply to its normal quantity and quality, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be recommended with confidence. First, because they are known to have cured thousands of anemic people—the highest possible recommendation. Secondly, they actually contain the ingredients that combine with the food and oxygen to make rich, red blood, without which no man, woman or growing boy or girl can be healthy.

Miss Carrie E. Hathaway, of North Houghton street, North Adams, Mass., was cured of anemia by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills after recovery was pronounced hopeless by her doctor. The statement of her cure is told by her mother, Mrs. A. A. Hathaway: "My daughter, Carrie, was confined to bed for two years suffering from anemia. She seemed to have no blood and was as pale as a ghost. She was thin and did not weigh more than 100 pounds, had no strength or ambition and couldn't sit up. Her appetite was poor and she had difficulty in breathing. 'No one expected her to get well and our minister, before going on his vacation, came to bid her good-bye as he did not think she would live until his return.'"

We spent hundreds of dollars but the doctor seemed to be puzzled and could not help her. She had been sick for over two years before I decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. The pills gave her quick relief and saved her after a fair trial. She has had no serious sickness since and weighs 170 pounds. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a wonderful remedy and I cannot say enough in praise of them."

A new edition of our booklet, "Diseases of the Blood," will be sent free on request to any one interested.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50c. per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

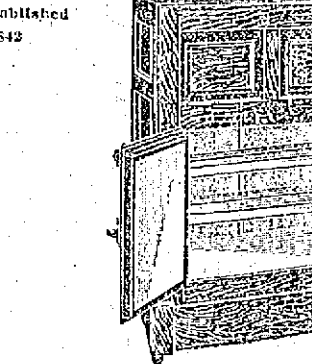

Pills sold in any other package or loose, by the dozen or hundred are not the same, whatever the clerk says.

She was in command of Captain Cash of Key West.

BATTLE FOUGHT

THE FEDERALS FLED

EL PASO, Texas, May 9.—Continued firing during the night indicated that the rebels were pressing closely the advantage gained yesterday by forcing the federals from their trenches and outlying fortification near Juarez and that they would make a general attack on the city some time during the day. The small band of rebels which precipitated the engagement have driven the federals well into town and when reinforcements are at hand they believe they will take the city. General Navarro men have mines in various places and also machine guns with which to turn a deadly volley at their foes. It was reported early today that one of the federal machine guns late yesterday had torn a part of the rebel detachment to pieces.

The decision to attack the federal forces was made after the rebels had shortly before midnight (to General Navarro returned, saying that he refused to surrender. For an armistice arrangements he referred them to Judge Carbajal, the federal peace envoy, but he, too, refused to enter into an agreement with part of the rebels already in Juarez. The firing by the insurgents was begun by a small detachment of men stationed in an adobe house near the Stanton street bridge. With their machine gun levelled to sweep the main streets of Juarez they waited for the first break of dawn and opened fire. A United States soldier while off duty swam across the Rio Grande on a log, and the other, with his two of the wounded insurgents. Orders had been given not to allow the wounded to take refuge in El Paso but under cover of darkness the soldier towed the two wounded men to shore and brought them to a hospital. One of the insurgents had a bullet wound in his leg and the other a bullet hole in his leg. The soldier declared that the detachment of men with the machine gun near the Stanton street bridge was ready to keep up a continuous fire all day as they had plenty of ammunition.

Navarro is Confident

General Navarro is confident of holding Juarez and military experts in town think he can do it. He has his two field pieces and cannon in an advantageous place in the town. He has 12 guns in all, three of which are in action on the outskirts of the town shelling the hills from which the main column of the insurgente army must pass to enter the city unless they decide to follow the river bank. This route is bound to draw heavy fire into American territory.

Thousands of residents of El Paso for hours have been watching from rooftops and points of vantage. The United States troops have ordered everybody on the American side of the line to stay three blocks away from the river front. Colonel Villareal, the insurgente chief, is advancing on Juarez this morning from the east with 600 men fresh from the siege of Ojinaga while General Rabago is advancing to Juarez with 1000 federals. A strong command has been assigned to oppose him and Navarro says he has no fear from that quarter.

Two Americans have been shot within the last two hours since the fighting began, one of whom has a wound in the neck.

The range of the federal artillery was remarkably accurate, their shells landing close to the on-coming insurgents and forcing them to scatter. It is obvious that the heavy artillery of the federals has given them a tremendous advantage.

Small bands of rebels can be seen marching from the Madero camp toward Juarez along the river front. It is probable the insurgents will send a detachment to attack Juarez on its opposite side. The federal machine guns are keeping up a sweeping fire within every radius of the town.

ANNIHILATED BY REBELS

TIJUANA, Cal., May 9.—A detachment of 200 federals which left here at midnight last night on a scouting expedition were annihilated by the rebels according to a report brought to the international line early this morning by Enrique Gonzalez, a federal official.

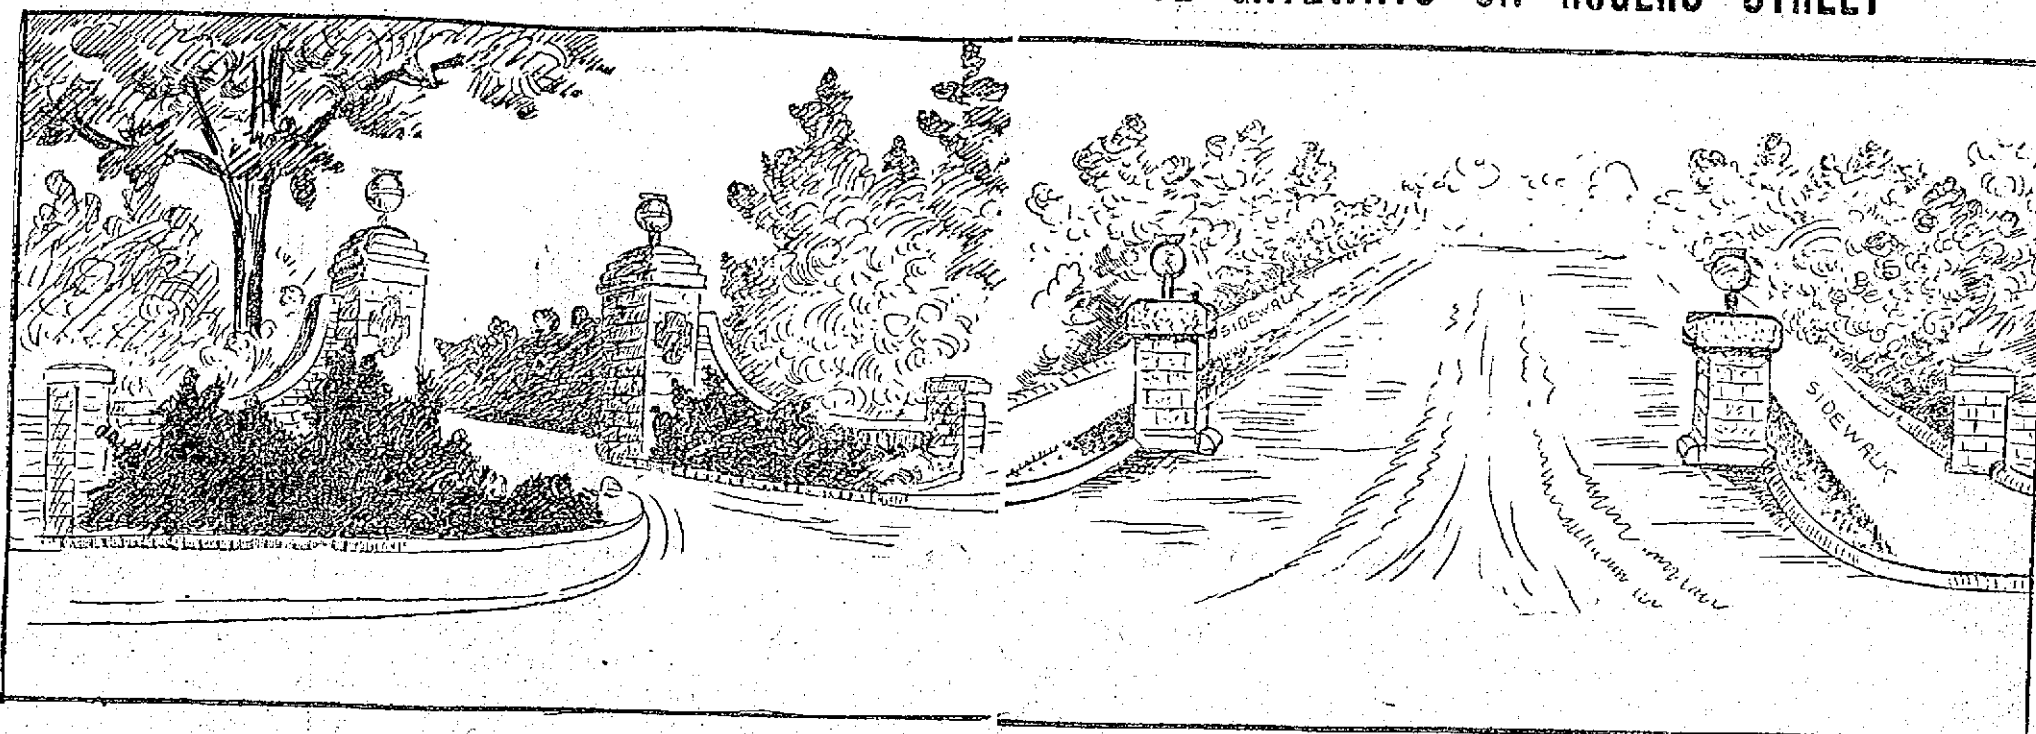

Another detachment left the Mexican town at the same time and it is believed that they met the same fate. Early today the revolutionary forces had completely surrounded Tijuana and the federal forces have been driven into the bull ring. It is believed the town will be captured. Authentic reports of the dead on either side are obtainable. Hundreds of Americans in automobiles lined the border watching the night fighting.

STUBBORN FIGHTING

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 9.—After a night which began about 11 o'clock yesterday and continued all day and into the night, the federal forces continue in possession of Tijuana, lower California, today. When the fighting began in the distance three prisoners in the cartel tried to escape. As they fled the guards fired on them. Bruce Hudson, said to be a United States army deserter, was wounded. Monroe McKinley, held as a rebel sympathizer, was instantly killed. A German prisoner whose name was not learned got away. The number of killed and wounded cannot be ascertained. The rebels outnumbered the federals and are supposed to have suffered the more severely as they were more exposed. When the fighting began Juan Triate, chief of police of Tijuana, crossed the boundary line and was arrested. He explained that he wanted to confer with the American command. He was promptly released but decided not to return to the Mexican side. General Bliss of the United States army who was at Lakeside when the fighting began, at once started in an automobile for Tijuana. The fighting was witnessed from the American side by a crowd of men from San Diego. Local agents of the Red Cross are at Tijuana, California, during the fight, but the American commander refused to let them cross the line while the fighting was in progress. Captain Wilcox, commanding the detail of United States troops on this side of the line, expressed admiration for the skill with which the rebel forces were handled.

When the insurgents reached the edge of the town the main struggle began at the bull ring. The federals had a line of breastworks. The federals put up a stubborn fight but gave way at last. In parties of two and three they could be seen from the American side running from the breastworks to the town. Several of the fugitives fell, wounded. The rebels captured the customs house, which they held all night while desultory firing continued.

VIEW OF THE SHEDD PARK AND KNAPP AVENUE GATEWAYS ON ROGERS STREET

The Shedd Park Gateway and that of Knapp Avenue, when the latter is completed, will appear as shown above. The Gumb Brothers have the blocks for the stone-work of the Knapp Avenue entrance almost completed, and it will soon be set upon the foundation. This double gateway will then be one of the most attractive features in connection with our park system. It is rumored that Mr. Freeman B. Shedd, the donor of the Shedd Park and both these gateways, contemplates a further improvement near the entrance to Knapp Avenue after Rogers street in that vicinity shall have been widened as now proposed by the street department.

The sub-committee from the committee on streets, Alderman Barrett and Councilmen Brady and Elliott, appointed to look into the matter of the widening of Rogers street and the cutting down of new gate and the land that would be taken in the process of widening the street. Mr. Shedd has not made public all of his plans for the beautification of Shedd park and the extent of the improvements to be made by him will depend in no small measure upon the work done by the city during the early summer. Mr. Shedd has a plan for the uniformity of streets in the vicinity of the main entrance and the gate and Knapp avenue towards Boylston street.

The park department will get busy at Shedd park next week. The department has about $5000 left over from the Shedd park appropriation, and the first work to be done there this summer will be on the skating rink. The department will clean out and clear away all brush, tree roots, peat, etc., and install a gravel foundation. This will make the temporary rink permanent and it will be in the pink of condition for next winter.

FACTORY EMPLOYEES TARGET PRACTICE STATEHOOD FAVORED

Say All They Want From the Lasters is a Square Deal

LYNN, May 9.—"All we want is a fair deal and in a spirit of fairness we appeal to the lasters to cooperate," are the closing words of a petition circulated today among the employees of the Sorosis factory of the shoe manufacturing firm of Charles A. Little & Co. where more than 1000 employees have been idle for more than a month as the result of a strike of 70 lasters. The petition is in the form of a "round robin," the list of signatures giving no indication of the leaders in the movement on the part of the employees, all of whom are affiliated with some labor union connected with the industry, to induce the striking lasters to return to work pending a settlement of the difficulty originating in a demand for a higher price list for work on certain "high toe" lasts.

The petition declares that many of the workmen forced into idleness are facing financial distress, while others are in actual want. The petitioners offer an earnest remonstrance against a system under which the interests of a great many can be sacrificed for the furtherance of the cause of a few. "Therefore, we petition the striking lasters in the Sorosis factory to return to work pending the settlement of the question and give us a chance to earn the wages of which we feel we have been unjustly deprived."

It became known today that Richard T. Barry, the Lynn member of the state board of conciliation and arbitration, at a conference with President Little of the company, suggested arbitration of the difficulty with the lasters but was told by Mr. Little that the time for arbitration had passed.

JOSEPH LAMBERT

Said to Have Been Threatened With Death

He is a Witness in an Alleged Conspiracy Case — It is Said That Two Men Made Threat and Efforts Will be Made to Find Them

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 9.—That Joseph Lambert, a witness in the trial of James Beach for conspiracy to defraud the city of Pawtucket had been threatened with death if he testified against Beach was brought out in the trial today. When Lambers, a teamster of Central Falls, was questioned by Assistant Attorney General Cross regarding the case his memory proved so poor that Mr. Cross had the jury taken out and then told the court that the man had come to him last night and told him that two men had tried to intimidate him. Lambert said that they threatened him with death if he testified in the case. Judge Lee declared that efforts would be made to find the men who tried to intimidate the witness and prosecute them.

Beach, who is now serving time for defrauding the city through crushed stone contracts, is on trial on another indictment for a second count in the same connection.

Described at the Trial of Mrs. Dodge Today

More Expert Testimony Was Offered Today—Mrs. Dodge's Face Wreathed in Smiles When She Entered the Court Room, Accompanied by Her Daughter

GUILDFORD, Vt., May 9.—Target shooting with the revolver that has figured as one of the exhibits in the case was described by three witnesses today at the trial of Mrs. Florence Dodge for the alleged murder of William Heath. The target practice, these witnesses said, took place in the orchard behind the Dodge home four or five years ago and Mrs. Dodge watched it, although it was testified, she did not herself fire the weapon.

The prospect of another day of expert testimony seemed to keep the crowd away from the courthouse to-day when the case was resumed with Dr. B. R. Johnson of Concord, one of the experts for the defense, on the stand.

In answer to the question as to whether a person five feet five inches tall could shoot a person five feet six inches tall at the angle indicated by the testimony of the previous experts and the report of the autopsy on Heath's death, the witness replied on cross examination that it would be impossible if both persons were standing or if the person shot was on his knees painting a baseboard. Dr. Bradley, who was in the courtroom and who in general is of the same proportions as Heath, was placed on his knees as a model of Heath painting a baseboard and Dr. Johnson was questioned regarding the angle of the wound that might be produced. The witness expressed the opinion that the point of entrance of the bullet would be nearer the floor than the point of exit, but when a measurement was made it was found that the point of exit was nearer the floor by two inches.

The testimony concerning the target shooting in the orchard behind

Mrs. Dodge's house was then given by Alfred Morrow and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis Morrow, who is the under-laker's assistant who testified for the prosecution regarding the wounds on Heath's body, said that four or five years ago he boarded at Mrs. Dodge's house and on several occasions there was target practice in the orchard. On one occasion Mrs. Dodge's revolver, which, it is alleged, was the one with which Heath was killed, was used in the practice. Morrow did not remember who brought this revolver out, but he did know that it was fired, although he said, Mrs. Dodge did not discharge it as she was merely a spectator of the target shooting by himself and Fred Curtis. After the practice was ended Morrow cleaned Mrs. Dodge's revolver and put it back in the box. He could not remember whether he reloaded it or not. He did not know whether Mrs. Dodge knew if the revolver was loaded or unloaded when it was taken back into the house. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis corroborated Morrow's testimony.

Another expert was then called, Leonard Jones of Island Pond, a draftsman who had made measurements in the Dodge home. Mr. Jones in the course of his testimony said that if Heath was in the position described by the government witnesses when he met his death he could not have been shot from the door leading from the front hall but rather from the bay window from the other side of the room.

Mrs. Dodge's face was wreathed in smiles when she entered the courtroom accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Bell, and by the matron of the Essex county jail.

Cullen against Nora Cuniffe, an action of contract, in which the former brought suit against the latter to reimburse for work done on the defendant's house, was non-suited when the matter was brought before Judge Hadley in the civil session of the police court this afternoon.

J. J. Buckley of Lawrence was the legal representative of the plaintiff, while John W. McEvoy appeared for the defendant.

For the Territories of Arizona and New Mexico

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Statehood for Arizona and New Mexico held the attention of the senate yesterday. Reports were received from committee on inquiry and the committee on territories which met early in the day and approved the sub-committee report recommending statehood for both territories after they all have voted on certain constitutional amendments. Arizona is asked to re-submit the call provision of its constitution, voting on an amendment which eliminates the judiciary. New Mexico is asked to vote on an amendment making its constitution more easily amendable. The joint resolution, reported by Chairman Flood of the committee on territories, will be called up later in the week. Inquiries and investigations also kept the members busy. Chairman Henry of the committee on rules was ready to call up the report providing for an inquiry into the United States Steel corporation and to report the recommendation of the board of investigation for investigation of the American Sugar Refining Co. and all other manufacturers and refiners of sugar. Chairman Ashbrook of the committee on expenditures in the post-office department was instructed to call up its report recommending the adoption of the resolution of Rep. Saunders of Virginia to ascertain the outside business affiliations and political activities of postmasters. The military affairs committee took up the Gardner resolution directing the secretary of war to inform congress regarding army shoe contracts. Discussion of the wool schedule was general about the capitol. Democrats of Ohio and Massachusetts talked of conferences to poll the delegations on the issue of free raw wool. Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee announced that the committee probably would meet Wednesday and take up the wool schedule. The senate finance committee continued its hearings on the reciprocity bill.

60 YEARS MARRIED

Venerable Couple Celebrated a Notable Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Byrne, two well known and highly respected residents of this city, observed yesterday the 60th anniversary of their marriage, at their home, 253 Hildreth street. The event was a most joyous one, and the venerable couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts as well as a host of congratulations from their numerous friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Byrne were married in this city 60 years ago yesterday, the ceremony being performed at St. Patrick's church by the late Rev. John O'Brien. They made their home in this city and have lived here ever since, where they count a host of friends. From this marriage four children were born, three of whom are living, namely: Mrs. James Cassidy of North Billerica, Mrs. James Quinn and Mr. George F. Byrne of this city, as well as 10 grandchildren.

Mr. Byrne is 84 years of age, while his devoted partner is nearing the 80s. Despite their advanced age, they both enjoy the best of health.

BAY STATE MEN

To be Nominated for Bishop

PHILADELPHIA, May 9.—Three Massachusetts clergymen will be nominated for bishop coadjutor at the 27th annual convention of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Pennsylvania, which began here today in the church of St. Luke. The clergymen are Rev. Alexander Mann, rector of Trinity church, Boston; Prof. Philip Mercer-Rhineclander of the Episcopal theological school, Cambridge; and Rev. Edmund Rousmaniere, pastor of St. Paul's church, Boston. Each has a strong following in the convention and as the coadjutor who will be chosen will succeed Bishop Mackay-Smith as head of the diocese, interest in the proceedings of the convention is intense. The names of the Massachusetts candidates will be presented by a nominating committee appointed a short time ago to consider the merits of those suggested for the coadjutorship. The election probably will take place tomorrow. The convention will also choose a suffragan bishop. Bishop Mackay-Smith came to Philadelphia from Washington, D. C., as coadjutor bishop and on the death of the bishop a short time ago became head of the diocese. Ill health, however, forced him to resign. He suggested that a coadjutor and suffragan be chosen and the resignation become effective at the end of a year.

ORPHANS' OUTING

May Possibly be Held This Summer

IF AUTOMOBILE OWNERS WILL FURNISH CARS

Outings Held in Previous Years Have Been Greatly Appreciated by the inmates of Local Institutions—Other Automobile News

It is impossible to imagine the joy that automobile outings give to children—after being housed up for the winter are given a long ride, a good dinner and an unrestrained frolic in an amusement park or pleasure grove. It does one good to see so many heart-gladdened in this manner and its importance can only be judged by seeing the delight it brings to the unfortunate little ones.

It was only a few years ago that philanthropic citizens tendered their automobiles and also contributed funds in order to give the inmates of the different orphanages in the city outings at Long-Sought-For Ford in Westford, but for some reason or other none of these outings has been held of late.

There are enough of generous minded automobile owners in the city at the present time who would be willing to give the use of their machines for an afternoon in order to afford pleasure to some of the unfortunate children who have to depend upon others for their means to secure amusement.

Those who attended the different outings held in past years can realize that the orphans appreciated the gala days and would be delighted to have a chance this year to have an outing. Without doubt some of those who were interested in the former outings will entreat automobile owners and public spirited citizens to get together and make arrangements for an outing for the children.

W. W. Thibodeau has ordered a model K, 40-horse power, special Oakland touring car through the agency of the Moody Bridge garage.

Charles B. Abbott is one of the latest to join the ranks of automobile enthusiasts. He recently got the fever and will be seen at the wheel of a model 24 horse power Oakland car.

The management of the Moody Bridge garage reports good business during the past week. The demand for Oakland cars has resulted in an extra large order being sent to the factory despite the fact that two car loads of Oakland cars were delivered during the week.

Some owners and operators of automobiles seem to be under the impression that the highways were made for their individual use, and that if a citizen is injured he must not complain even if it wasn't his fault. Mere thought does not seem to have had much effect upon this class of criminality. It may be a few months in the county prison would have the desired effect. Where human life is taken, the severity of the maximum penalty of the law would probably have a healthy effect in rooting out this growing evil.

The automobile manufacturers who are not afraid to condemn the racing fever realize thoroughly the apprehension that all the attendant evils of the racing game bring upon the legitimate use of the motor car. They are fully alive to the fact that unless the speed mania is checked, drastic legislation will surely be enacted. Indeed, indications of this fact are already seen in several bills recently introduced into the legislatures of some of the eastern states toward curtailing the maximum speed limit now permitted on the highway.

Charles P. Walker and Charles E. Jeffrey of the E. R. Thomas Motor Co., who are on a missionary tour through New England, arrived in Lowell yesterday.

Edmond H. Mercer is spending a few days at the Stevens-Duryea factory in Chicopee Falls, Mass., having one of his machines tuned up.

Automobilists who have occasion to use the Pawtucket boulevard appreciate the fact that the oil used on the road for the automobile races a year ago last fall has kept the road in excellent condition and all dust is eliminated.

Mr. White, agent for the Reo, has received from the factory another delivery wagon, which is on exhibition at City Hall garage. This is of the 1500 lbs. capacity type, selling for $730, and all of those in use are giving the best of service.

"BILL" CAME BACK

Endicott To Drive at Indianapolis

"Farmer Bill" Endicott has come back. The glare and glamour that surrounds the big 500-mile race on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, May 30, has made him want to stay down on his farm at Crawfordville, Ind., and "Farmer Bill" is to drive the Cole 30 "Wizard" in the big race. J. J. Cole, president of the Cole Motor Car company, has entered the Cole Wizard for Endicott; also a regular Cole 30 racing car, the driver of which is yet to be selected.

It was a huge surprise when "Farmer Bill" Endicott stepped into Mr. Cole's office and made known the fact that he was uncomfortable because the Cole was not to be run in the big race. It was only a five minutes' conversation that brought him back, temporarily, to be the head of the Cole racing organization and caused Mr. Cole to send him check for $1000 to the Speedway officials making the Cole entries officially numbers 12 and 13.

"Farmer Bill" has been arranging his spring farm duties in hope of a big crop for the coming season. He has kept away from automobile circles, all yesterday in a model M 6-40 Thomas Flyer and will remain in this city today and tomorrow.

The purpose of bringing the machine to this city is to demonstrate to the public the many good qualities of the long-stroke, large-valve motor for which the Thomas Flyer is famous. Yesterday and today many Lowell people were given demonstrations of the excellent qualities of the car and those who are interested in automobiles and desire a demonstration can secure one by communicating with Mr. Walker, who is making his headquarters at the Waverly hotel.

One of the best assets of the Thomas Flyer is that it develops 60 horse power on the brake. In conjunction with the necessity for transmission gears and enable the car to run practically all the time on high gear without changing, entirely eliminating the jerks, jags and rasping noises of gear changes and the vibration inevitable in other cars.

Mr. Walker gave the automobile editor of The Sun a demonstration in the Thomas Flyer yesterday afternoon and showed how easily the speed of the car could be changed from over 60 miles per hour to one mile an hour without the constant manipulation of levers. The running on high gear without changes makes it possible for the driver to operate his car through the crowded traffic of city streets.

In climbing a hill, with many cars it is necessary to keep shifting the levers for a lower speed or else making a "breakneck" start in order to travel over the grade on high, but in order to show how easily the Thomas Flyer can travel up grade Mr. Jeffrey practically stopped his car at the beginning of Third street hill and then shifted from the high gear climbed the hill and then asked if there were any other hills to climb.

"Nothing counts like service," is the motto of the Thomas company and the Boston branch of the company at 515 Boylston street is equipped in such a manner that customers always have the benefit of the experience of the men in charge of the different departments. Mr. George Schuster, who drove the Thomas Flyer around the world and defeated every other competitor, is at the head of the technical department in Boston.

Arthur G. Beharrell who recently moved to the City Hall garage in Moody street in order to take care of his increasing business has one of the best equipped storerooms in the city. A plenty of storage room, a machine shop fitted out with the latest machinery for use in connection with the repairing of automobiles and expert mechanics, he is now in a position to take care of his many customers.

Harry Pitts of Hurd street has been interesting automobilists in a self-starter which can be attached to any automobile and which obviates the use of the crank.

Arthur J. Cumiskey of the Moody Bridge garage has sold a model 33 Oakland automobile to George W. Peasley of Shirley, Mass.

The automobile fire patrol was delivered to the city a year ago last month and has given general satisfaction. The cost of upkeep has not been large compared with the service rendered. Chief Hemenway, a firm believer in the self-propelled apparatus and is of the opinion that the use of the automobile will solve the problem of combating with fires in the outskirts of the city which will obviate the erecting of new fire houses in suburban districts.

Mrs. Julian Talbot of Nesmith street has purchased a seven passenger Oldsmobile Autocrat through the agency of the Lowell Automobile corporation.

Mr. E. N. Burke is one of the latest automobile enthusiasts and is now enjoying rides in a five passenger model 21 Buick car which was recently delivered to him through the agency of the Lowell Automobile corporation.

Mrs. Charles Adams has purchased a model 21 Buick automobile.

Walter Perham has delivered Cadillac machines to F. E. Haines and Laforest Beals.

Edmond H. Mercer is spending a few days at the Stevens-Duryea factory in Chicopee Falls, Mass., having one of his machines tuned up.

Automobilists who have occasion to use the Pawtucket boulevard appreciate the fact that the oil used on the road for the automobile races a year ago last fall has kept the road in excellent condition and all dust is eliminated.

Mr. White, agent for the Reo, has received from the factory another delivery wagon, which is on exhibition at City Hall garage. This is of the 1500 lbs. capacity type, selling for $730, and all of those in use are giving the best of service.

"BILL" CAME BACK

Endicott To Drive at Indianapolis

"Farmer Bill" Endicott has come back. The glare and glamour that surrounds the big 500-mile race on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, May 30, has made him want to stay down on his farm at Crawfordville, Ind., and "Farmer Bill" is to drive the Cole 30 "Wizard" in the big race. J. J. Cole, president of the Cole Motor Car company, has entered the Cole Wizard for Endicott; also a regular Cole 30 racing car, the driver of which is yet to be selected.

It was a huge surprise when "Farmer Bill" Endicott stepped into Mr. Cole's office and made known the fact that he was uncomfortable because the Cole was not to be run in the big race. It was only a five minutes' conversation that brought him back, temporarily, to be the head of the Cole racing organization and caused Mr. Cole to send him check for $1000 to the Speedway officials making the Cole entries officially numbers 12 and 13.

"Farmer Bill" has been arranging his spring farm duties in hope of a big crop for the coming season. He has kept away from automobile circles,

But, a visit to Indianapolis and the tremendous excitement that characterizes the race and the fact that his pride and pet, the Cole 30, was not entered made him disheartened.

"Mr. Cole" queried Endicott, "why isn't the Cole in the 500-mile race?"

"Well, Bill," confessed Mr. Cole, "we were just waiting for you to come back."

It was a random shot, but "Farmer Bill" was ready for the emergency and said: "I'm game, you furnish me the car and I'm your driver. That $10,000 looks good to me. It would buy another farm."

Negotiations were promptly closed. Mr. Cole decided that Endicott should drive a Cole special and "Farmer Bill" said that it ought to be called the "Wizard". In addition to the Wizard, it was decided that a regular Cole 30 racer should also be entered in the 500-mile race.

Endicott did not go back to the farm. He telephoned for Mrs. Endicott to hire a farm hand and for her and the children to come to Indianapolis.

"Farmer Bill" went into the racing shop at the Cole factory and quietly changed his clothes for his knicker racing suit still in his locker. It was not long before he had the various mechanical jumping about, getting the material ready for his big car.

The old happy smile of Bill's played around his face. He was like a school boy. Broomed all over from his farm work, without a thought he would even change his mind to come back to the racing game. Endicott has entered into the spirit of the occasion just as if it was only yesterday that he stepped out of the Cole racing camp and retired to the farm.

During the 1910 season Endicott won over $10,000 cash, with which he purchased a farm near Crawfordville. Among his prominent victories last year were a world's speed record at Los Angeles, a successful completion of the classic Massachusetts trophy in the Vanderbilt cup race.

The Cole Wizard that Endicott is to drive in the 500-mile race has four cylinders and a 90 horsepower rating. "Yes, I am back," said Bill all smiles to the reporter, "I am going after the money in this big race. I have always wanted to make a big strike on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. It's the right home for me. I have watched the Cole racing team this year, in the Florida beach races and when they were out in Los Angeles. I had a twinge the other day that I would like to be with Johnny Jenkins in California. I am sure that driver. He has great stuff in him. Will I drive after the Indianapolis race? Well, no, I'm going back to the farm. But then one never can tell. When racing gets a grip on you and you become attached to a car it's hard to give up. It's just you newspaper fellows, it's pretty hard for you to get away from your game."

When asked about the Cole Wizard, Endicott said: "It's going to have four cylinders and it's going to be painted green—a good Irish green."

Dawson and Herroun Ready

The Marmon racing team is working out daily at the Speedway in preparation for many of the greatest road and track events to be held this season. The first big race on the Marmon calendar will be the 500-mile race to be held on the 30th.

Practically the brunt of the entire season's racing will be borne by Joe Dawson, who was favorably last season at the wheel of the record breaking yellow car. In the Decoration Day race he will have Ray Harroun as his teammate to pilot the six cylinder Marmon "Wasp".

Both of these drivers have gone into strenuous training for the big event and during the past few weeks will have their racing cars in daily practice. While the two drivers are the best of friends a spirit of good-natured rivalry has sprung up between them and on several occasions during practice they have matched their cars over short distances in speed trials.

Dawson believes that his new Marmon four cylinder car will be able to make better time over the 500-mile distance than the "Wasp," while Harroun has every faith in his rakish racing car and the remaining days of practice he promises to be enlivened by many battles between the team mates.

Harroun will drive the 500 miles of the big speed event alone without the assistance of a mechanic and his car is equipped with but one seat. He hopes to make the 500 miles without a stop, vesting the non-stop record from Dawson who drove his Marmon car to victory in the Savannah Trophy race of 217 miles without a stop.

FILIPINO LEPER

Is to be Returned to Relatives

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Anacleto Palabay, the young Filipino leper confined in a pesthouse here, is to be returned to relatives and friends in the Philippines. Manuel L. Quezon, resident commissioner from the Philippines, last night received a cablegram from the governor-general of the island, authorizing the return of Palabay. The war department will defray the expenses. It is said the leper will be sent aboard some sailing vessel.

ANDERSON HELD

Blames Arrest to a Perambulator

BOSTON, May 9.—George W. Anderson, 24 years old, who was arrested by Inspectors Wolf and O'Neill of police headquarters on Saturday, and who was wanted by the Philadelphia police for the alleged embezzlement of $488 from the Great Hiram Vacuum Cleaning company of that city, blames his arrest to his and his wife's eagerness to obtain a perambulator that had been bought for their month-old child.

Last Thursday, Anderson, who was employed as a traveling salesman by the Philadelphia concern, disappeared suddenly leaving his accounts about $500 short. It is said, Philadelphia detectives learned that Anderson and his wife had arranged to come to Boston to live with his grandmother on Washington street, near Northampton, and they further learned that he had arranged to have the perambulator shipped to his grandmother's house.

The destination of the carriage was telegraphed to Boston and Saturday the local officers made the arrest.

TWO FIRE ALARMS

One Needless From Local Shoe Shop

An alarm from box 23 at 7:12 o'clock this morning summoned a portion of the fire department to a slight blaze in a tenement in Riverside avenue, Centralville, belonging to Samuel P. Hebert. The fire was caused by one of the occupants of the house carelessly throwing a lighted match in a pile of clothing in the cellarway, but the blaze was extinguished before much damage was done.

Overheated Thermostat

An overheated thermostat at the factory of the American Shoe Co., in Stackpole street, caused the sounding of an automatic alarm at 9:47 o'clock this morning. The members of Engine 4 responded only to find that there was no fire.

ALL IRISH PARTIES UNITED IN MOVEMENT TO REVIVE GAELIC TONGUE AND ANCIENT ARTS

By GEORGE WAUGH ARNOLD.

THAT it is possible to get Irishmen together on one object and keep them enthusiastic workers at it for seventeen years, though they differ widely in religious and political views, is proved by the remarkable history of the Gaelic league.

Its messengers now in America from the parent body on the "old sod" are the Rev. Father Michael O'Flanagan and Mr. Fionan MacColum, and to look after the art industry side of the campaign are the Misses Marian O'Shea, Brigit O'Quinn, Eileen Noone and Brigit MacLaughlin. A mass meeting will be held in Chicago on May 11 to celebrate the success of their winter's propaganda, and they hope to take back to the educational fund of the league an even greater fund than the $55,000 subscribed by American sympathizers five years ago.

League Has Dual Purpose.

The league has two purposes. One is the restoration of Gaelic as a spoken tongue and the other the revival of Irish arts and industries.

The headquarters are in Dublin, in charge of President Douglas Hyde, and there are branches in each of the thirty-two counties in Ireland, with a total membership of 50,000. When the league was organized there was scarcely a school in which Gaelic was taught. Now there are 181 schools in which the whole course of study is bilingual—English and Gaelic—and in 3,058 out of the 5,345 Irish primary schools the ancient language is taught either as an ordinary or as an added subject. Then the league has established six summer and four winter colleges in which Gaelic is the only language used. And the crowning victory is the determination of the senate of the National university to make Irish a necessary subject for entrance beginning with the year 1912.

The league's success in the revival of arts and industries has been quite as great. Thousands of young folks have been made self supporting, and thousands more are making bigger salaries than they ever dreamed of making except they emigrated.

Tremendous Industrial Boom.

An interesting example of how Ireland's high class exports are increasing is shown in its trade with just one American city, St. Louis. Four years ago, when Father O'Flanagan first began to arouse in that city public interest in the league, the average value of goods imported from the Emerald Isle was $20,000 per year. But in 1910 there passed through the St. Louis custom house Irish goods to the value of $315,485, divided as follows: Linens, $232,485; fabrics, $55,183; handkerchiefs, $12,742; laces, $6,002; miscellaneous, $37,765.

As Father O'Flanagan said in one of his speeches, "You who have endured the pangs of sorrow, the heartbreak, when you parted with your parents, your relatives, your sweethearts and friends when leaving the Green Isle know what it would have meant to you to have been able to secure profitable employment at home."

Colleagues as Pretty as Clever.

The four young ladies who have come over to show their American sisters how to train their nimble fingers to reproduce old Irish art work are experts in their respective lines and are as pretty as they are clever. They come from the "four winds of Erin," and each has the typical beauty of her locality. One has blue eyes, another has shimmering brown hair and brown eyes, another brown hair, light blue eyes and marble skin, and another auburn hair and gray eyes.

Miss O'Shea lectures while Miss O'Quinn makes Limerick lace and Irish crochet. Miss Noone makes marquetry and repousse leather work and Miss MacLaughlin weaves rugs.

At the lectures the gentlemen wear gowns that are historically perfect reproductions of Gaelic fifteenth century dress. They are loose fitting tunics made in one piece with a girdle of cord, from which a purse is suspended. "The designs are copied from the Book of Kells, in Trinity college, Dublin."

"It will probably surprise most Americans as I am frank to say, it did not," said Mr. MacColum, "to know that on this continent there are 500,000 persons who speak Gaelic. There are 50,000 in New York city alone. You can imagine their interest in this revival of their mother tongue, and we have published for them in the last three years scores of works in Irish—histories, novels, plays, poems and operas."

Great Temperance Factor.

One very important feature of the league is its constant teaching of temperance. The clergy, the employers, the police and even the publicans are praising it for the fine results it has achieved. Dr. Hyde's idea is to have all through the long winter frequent Gaelic concerts and dances, and the 130 organizers and traveling teachers must know how to dance and sing and play the pipes as well as understand the intricacies of the Irish vocabulary.

Then in summer there is the fells, or, as we would say, educational festival, and, thanks to the league influence, the sight of even one drunken man at these gatherings is extremely rare. It is a strict rule of the league that no intoxicants shall be offered for sale at its festivities, and no meetings for either business, study or sport may be held in a house where liquor is sold.

The league is also reviving the old Irish games and customs, including the ceilidh, or roadside dance, and the hurling match. It recognizes that healthy amusement has become a necessity in modern life. It works to elevate the tastes of the people. While promoting real fun and humor, it steadily discourages not only objectionable entertainments, but also those which are merely vulgar.

Gaelic Older Than Latin.

Gaelic is the principal living branch of the old Celtic language, which was spoken over western Europe before Rome was built. The names of many rivers and mountains in western and central Europe prove this, just as the Indian names of places in America prove that that language was once spoken in the greater part of the United States. For instance, there is the river Garonne, in France. That would be written in modern Irish "Garbhann," which means rough river. The Rhone would be "Ruadhann," meaning red river. The termination "abann," meaning river, is found all through Great Britain under the form "avon." There are plenty of good old Gaelic words in English, like "galore," spelled "geilor," which means plenty or enough. "Shanty" is simply "sean-tigh," which means literally "old house."

There are nine varieties of lace made in Ireland, and there are about 10,000 girls constantly engaged in its manufacture, while there are two or three times that number who intermittently or not altogether as a means of livelihood work at lacemaking. From 50 to 75 cents per day of eight hours' work will perhaps be the average pay of the lacemakers, although it should be stated in this connection that a dollar there has about twice the purchasing power which it has here.

All Irish lace is made by hand. The implements are simple—sewing or crochet needles, depending upon the design of the lace to be made, and for certain varieties a small frame, upon which the threads are woven. Irish point lace is the most expensive variety and sells for about $45 per yard. It requires two or three weeks for an operator to produce a yard of this lace. Of course there are masterpieces in lacemaking, just as in any other branch of art. As the value of a wonderful painting may assume fabulous proportions, so very large sums are paid for lace creations which may be classed as masterpieces.

Revival of the Bagpipe.

And through the persistence of the league the old Irish bagpipe has come into its own again. It disappeared from Irish firesides except in a few remote districts in the west until its reappearance at the Felsenma brought it again into popular favor. The women are taking up the study of the bagpipe as well as of the harp, and a collection with the drones over, her shoulder makes a delightful picture.

MILLION BOOK LIBRARY LATEST ADDITION TO AMERICA'S WONDERS

HALF OF THE FRONT OF THE NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY, LOOKING DOWN FIFTH AVENUE FROM THE CORNER OF FORTY-SECOND STREET.

ON Tuesday, May 23, the magnificent New York Public Library, built at a cost of $7,500,000 and containing more than 1,000,000 books, will be opened to the public.

At the ceremony will be President Taft, Governor Dix, Mayor Gaynor and so many other men of mental prominence that it is impossible for space reasons to give even a partial list of them.

The great marble pile on Fifth avenue, covering the frontage from Fortieth to Forty-second street, has already become one of the sights of the metropolis. Its architectural beauty would make it a feature even of the great art centers abroad.

Mayor Seth Low laid the cornerstone on Nov. 10, 1902, after three years had been spent in removing the old Egyptian reservoir that had been a landmark for our grandfathers. The stone weighs eight tons and has beneath it a leaden box containing newspapers of current date from all over the world, coins of the year's minting, a history of New York city, a history of the various libraries incorporated in the great institution and copies of the speeches made at the laying.

When Samuel J. Tilden died in 1896 the project to unite the Astor and Lenox libraries on one foundation, became ready for fulfillment through the fortune he left to the city for educational purposes. It took nine years to settle the legal complications arising over the will.

Several of the Carnegie circulating libraries were associated with the Lenox and Astor in the new foundation, which was incorporated as the New York Public Library. The city agreed to provide a site for the institution and put up a building on condition that a circulating library should be part of the foundation and that the library should be open evenings, Sunday afternoons and holidays. With these conditions accepted the terms of the open competition among architects were announced, and from the designs offered the best six were to be accepted. This competition was won by Carrere & Hastings on Nov. 11, 1897.

As just one final figure to fix the size and worth of this great library in one's mind it may be set down that the circulating department is prepared to loan 25,000,000 volumes per year.

ARTHUR J. BRINTON.

In the meantime the site of the old reservoir had been secured, and in June, 1899, the work of removing this structure was begun. The foundations on which the present library stands were started in the spring of that year.

Some statistics of the New York Public Library are necessary to a conception of the great scale on which the building has been erected. It is 320 feet long on Fifth avenue and 270 feet deep from Fifth avenue. Leaving out the courtyard on the Fortieth street side of the building, it extends over an area of 115,000 feet.

The reading room, on the Bryant park side of the building, is the largest apartment of the kind in the world. It is 235 feet long, 77 feet wide and 50 feet high. Beneath this reading room is the main stack room, divided into seven stories. The stack room is fitted with sixty-three miles of shelves, capable of holding 2,700,000 volumes. As other rooms for books are capable of holding about 500,000 volumes, the library may house as many as 3,500,000 books.

In addition to the main reading room there are 200 smaller rooms meant for various purposes. As a home for the valuable books it contains the new building is naturally fireproof. The bookshelves are of bronze, and this material and marble practically make up the whole building. There is 375,000 cubic feet of marble in the library, and wood is used only in the wainscoting of certain rooms.

The history of the New York Public Library is epitomized in the inscriptions that occupy the three spaces on the attic. On the left in the square space are the words, "The Astor Library, founded by John Jacob Astor for the advancement of useful knowledge, 1848." On the center space is the inscription, "The Lenox Library, founded by James Lenox, dedicated to history, literature and the fine arts." On the right plaque is the inscription, "The Tilden Trust, founded by Samuel Jones Tilden to serve the interests of science and popular education, 1883."

Behind the blind top story of the library is a series of art galleries lighted from the top. The ceiling over the staircase has been decorated with an elaborate painting by James Flinn. In these galleries will be housed the famous Stuart collection of paintings, which has been kept in the Lenox library. It includes canvases by Gainsborough, Landseer, Turner, Reynolds, Corot, Innes, Copley and other great masters.

As just one final figure to fix the size and worth of this great library in one's mind it may be set down that the circulating department is prepared to loan 25,000,000 volumes per year.

Maderos, Mexico's Proudest Family. Divided Over the Insurrection

ONE can hardly think of Mexico these days, especially if he pronounces it the Spanish way, "May-hee-ko," without his mind instantly jumping to its alliterative Madero. Francisco Ignacio de Madero is the center of the storm cloud that threatens the Diaz dynasty, and the majority of his relatives may be said to compose its circumference.

Counting the Madero family from the late Evaristo, the insurgent's grandfather, down to the grandchildren of the insurgent leader's brothers, the sum total is popularly believed to be 1,000. But in the affair of the present insurrection it is a case of a house divided against itself, for Francisco senior and five sons, Emilio, Gabriel, Julio, Evaristo and Carlos, vigorously uphold the Diaz regime. The brothers upholding Francisco are Gustavo, Alfonso and Raul, and the blood relatives include Aguirre Benavides, Jose Vasconcelos, Pino Suarez, Roque Estrada and Pedro Antonio Santos, all of whom may be seen in the accompanying picture.

The family of Madero is of Portuguese extraction, and its many members are justly proud of the fact that no one of the name has ever broken his or her word. It is enormously wealthy, old Evaristo's will alone disposing of about $20,000,000, and a majority of the second and third generations are millionaires.

All are highly educated, nearly every one holding degrees from colleges in the United States and Europe, and the members of the revolutionist faction are far from being the ragged and bald, tall sort of creatures that usually figure in Latin American rebellions.

The interests of the Maderos are principally agricultural, but they are also heavy owners of lead and silver mining properties. In the smelting industry they control the large Torreon smelters. They are also engaged in banking. Ernesto Madero, an uncle of the insurrectionist leader, being the president of the Banco de Nuevo Leon in Monterrey.

The Madero hacienda—a large property embracing a number of ranches—in the northern part of the state of Coahuila, constitutes in many respects a remarkable institution. It embraces an area about fifty miles wide and 200 miles long. This property is devoted largely to grazing, and on it vast herds of cattle are raised. The stock consists chiefly of horned cattle and sheep.

Certain members of the family are large wheat growers. The Maderos have extensive vineyards, in fact the largest in Mexico. They have in the town of Parras, not far from the line of the Mexican International railway, which is now a part of the National railways system of Mexico, flour, wine and cotton factories. A highly modernized flour mill converts the wheat they raise into flour for export and domestic purposes. For making wine and liquors of their grapes they have an enormous establishment.

Their cotton mill—the Maderos also own large cotton plantations—is also a modern affair where prints are made on a large scale, as well as the raw and where the whole year around some of the family is to be found. Their winter homes are mostly in Monterrey, although Francisco Madero has a palatial residence in the City of Mexico. It is at Parras where the most lavish hospitality is extended to even the transient guest. The most ideal life is led at this beautiful hacienda. Not a Sunday passes but there is a riding party ending with a picnic in some most wonderful mountain gorge, or a coach and four will carry the beautiful dark eyed scionillas and the gay young seniors off to Monterrey or Saltillo to attend a dance or fete.

The venerable grandfather used to look upon all this reveling with leniency, but "early to rise" was a habit cotton being prepared, spun and woven.

The power for these three manufacturing establishments was obtained by driving a number of tunnels under the mountains near Parras. This water power system is a costly work showing great engineering skill.

Francisco I. learned his English at Mount St. Mary's college at Emmitsburg, Md., where he was a private pupil of Professor Ernest La Garde, who says he was one of the brightest scholars that ever came under his care. "No highland clan is more loyal to its own than are the Maderos of Mexico. Every summer they gather at Parras, the ancestral home which they all love of his life, and he insisted upon breakfast at 6:30 o'clock every morning. One young man, speaking of the hospitality of the Maderos, said: "My father had some business dealings with the governor, and he asked me to call and pay my respects to the family. After a short talk with the old gentleman he said, 'Where are you stopping?'"

"I named my hotel. 'Isn't my house good enough for you?' he asked. When I returned to the hotel I was told that two Mexicans had carried my trunk away and paid my bill. I went to spend an hour and tarried two weeks."

PINE OF PORTLAND If It's in the Sun You'll Hear From It

Put Up a Score of 344 at Candiepins, Equalling the Record

The Portland rollers had their innings at the national duck and candlepin bowling congress yesterday at the Grand Hotel. In the first round, Fred Pine was the honor man. In the individual class at candlepins he rolled 244, which tied the existing record which is to the credit of Warren Brown of Boston.

In the two-men class Delano and Russell of Portland put up 616, which is sixth in the standing. Among the three-men competitors, Pine, McConville and Delano, split the sticks for 875 and the score stands third in the five-men class at 1438.

Pine and Cahill, the Providence duckpin stars, competed in the individual and two-men divisions, and they showed excellent class, despite the fact that they were under a handicap of being forced to bowl on polished alleys. Their home city is strictly sandpapered but the men took their chance. Flint hit 208 and Cahill 298. In the two-men they scored 680. Later in the evening the pair rolled a special live-string match with Concanon and Coleman, two of the best duckpin stars in the city, and the local men were lucky to score by 23 pins. Coleman hit 511, Concanon 492, Cahill 499 and Flint 481.

House, Chandler and Drisko of the Colonial club rolled several of their postponed entries and the club annexed a few extra prizes. The trio landed first in candles and Boston pins.

The big match between Poehler and Martel and Galway and Christopher, which was planned for Wednesday and Thursday evenings, has been called off, owing to Galway not being in shape. The men will meet later and try and bowl the match on some alley in Boston.

As far as this city is concerned the match will not be rolled here. As to where in Boston the bowling will be done later in the month has not been settled. Poehler is desirous of having 10 strings rolled on Murray's alleys and has his opponents choose the alleys, where the other 10 will be contested. Christopher and Galway want all 20 strings rolled on some neutral alley.

Jack Money of Worcester will have his all-star aggregation in action today and it is expected that more than one of the existing candlepin records will be shattered. The scores:

SUES HER HUSBAND

Woman Trying to Stop Gift to His Daughter-in-Law

BOSTON, May 9.—Mary E. Dorey, aged 30, of Lannaline street, Jamaica Plain, brought a bill in the superior court that came up before Judge Pierce in the equity session yesterday against her husband, John J. Dorey, aged 75, a retired contractor, and his daughter-in-law, Nellie B. Dorey, of Somerville, with a view to set aside a gift of property made by him to his confederant and to free his estate from incumbrance so that she might reach it for the purpose of compelling him to contribute to the support of their two children.

Judge Pierce issued a special precept of attachment for $15,000 against the estate of the husband and issued an injunction restraining the woman defendant from transferring the mortgages and lease of his real estate pending the determination of this action.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorey were married five years ago, when she was 25 and he 70. They lived together only a short time.

He had been a friend of her father and frequently called at her house. He was a widower, having two adult sons. After a time disagreements arose. Their tastes were dissimilar and separation arose. Since then he has been involved in more or less litigation. Two children were born, Robert J. and Louise E., the latter shortly after her parents had separated.

June 27, 1907, Mrs. Dorey brought an action in the probate court asking for the custody of the boy Robert, who then was the only child. She was successful and was awarded $8 a week for the support of the child. She at legates that her husband is in arrears to the amount of $600.

Says He Leased Property

She says he has conspired with his daughter-in-law to part with all his property so that the wife cannot reach it to compel him to contribute to the support of the children.

He had real estate in Somerville worth $25,000, a parcel in Boston worth $2,000, 75 shares of American sugar refinery stock, mortgages and cash in banks aggregating $14,000.

She alleges that he mortgaged the realty for $27,000 to Nellie Dorey and transferred the stock and other mortgages to another party not disclosed in the bill. It is alleged he also leased his daughter-in-law the entire property with a view to giving her absolute control of it.

Mrs. Dorey says her husband was prompted to take this course to coerce her into giving up the children to him. She says he never contributed anything toward the support of the little girl.

She wants the court to order Nellie Dorey to deliver up the mortgages and note and the lease for cancellation, to leave the property free from incumbrance.

Joseph P. Lyons appeared yesterday for the plaintiff, Edward Bayley for Nellie Dorey and Charles J. Martell for John Dorey.

One note that comes under the injunction was made to Nellie Dorey $27,000, being secured by a mortgage on the Somerville property for $25,000 and on the estate in Boston for $2,000.

By a singular coincidence, another action relating to the same property, in which the defendants named in the wife's bill were the contending parties, was decided yesterday. It became known through a decision by Judge Fessenden that Nellie B. Dorey, the daughter-in-law, brought a bill against John J. Dorey to compel him to give her the note for $27,000 for which she holds the mortgages referred to in the other proceeding.

In her suit Nellie Dorey claims that she had agreed with her father-in-law to care for him for life upon his executing the mortgage and lease to her. And that he gave her a note for $27,000. Subsequently, she alleges, he induced her to give him the note and when she sought to get it back he refused to deliver it to her.

Arthur Wellman, to whom that matter was referred as master, filed a report in which he found for the plaintiff, holding that she was entitled to a delivery of the mortgage note. Judge Fessenden yesterday confirmed the report of the master and made a decree directing the defendant to deliver the note to the plaintiff.

The wife will claim that there was no real consideration for the mortgage and lease at issue in the first suit and that the same were executed pursuant to a conspiracy between the defendants named in her bill.

The wife's case will be heard later on its merits.

Law and Order League May Was Made on the City of Juarez, Mexico

Likely to be Elected Supt. of Streets by the Council

The Law and Order League, to quote sporting parlance while slightly disfigured is still in the ring, for although $700 shy the league is ready to resume business as soon as money can be collected and is sending around circulars to prominent citizens. The circular reads as follows:

Lowell, Mass., April 29, 1911.

Dear Sir:

The growth of drunkenness in and near licensed communities has averaged 35 per cent. in the last six years. To remedy this most serious condition, the bar and bottle law was enacted in spite of the determined opposition of the liquor interests. No law has been put upon the statute books for years which has so great possibilities of decreasing drunkenness, and none has received so wide support from temperance men of all shades of opinion. The law should be given an honest and thorough trial, but to secure this will require constant watchfulness.

The Law and Order League is the only organization in our city that has interested itself actively in the enforcement of our liquor laws; it has done efficient and effective work in the past; and is determined to continue the work along conservative lines.

At the recent hearing given by our board of police to the Law and Order League and other organizations, the appeal was repeatedly made to the large majority vote last fall in defence of a practically unimpaired license policy. This shows how important it is to keep the license vote as low as possible. For several years the league steadily reduced this vote, but last year, when it was inactive because crippled by lack of funds, the vote jumped to one of the highest figures the city ever recorded.

Now in view of these facts we earnestly solicit your membership in the league and a contribution to our fund—of which $700 should be used to settle its outstanding bills, and the remainder for new work. In consideration of the good work of the league in the past and the pressing need of a continuation of the work, we appeal to you with confidence. Please send your contribution to Mrs. Lilly A. Clark, treasurer, 583 Andover street.

Very sincerely yours,

Allan Conant Petrin,
Geo. F. Kennigott,
H. William Hook,
W. T. S. Bartlett,
J. T. Carleton,
Lilly A. Clark,
James M. Cray,
Geo. W. Putnam,
N. W. Matthews,
E. Victor Bigelow,
Executive Committee of the Law and Order League.

P. S. You are urgently invited to attend the next public meeting of the league, Monday evening, May 22d, at the Y. M. C. A., when Mr. George J. Anderson, a newspaper man of Boston, will speak on "The Bar and Bottle Law: How it came to be, and what it will do."

Accompanying each circular are blanks for contributions or pledges to wards making up the deficiency in the treasury.

General Madero Confident of an Early Insurrecto Victory—Bullets Poured Into El Paso—U. S. Troops Kept the Sightseers From the Riverfront

EL PASO, Texas, May 9.—A general engagement between the revolutionary forces of General Madero and the federalists under General Navarro at Juarez ended today under a burning sun. The entire rebel army had broken camp during the night and up to noon today were rapidly swarming into town. The prospects of a rebel success were dependent on the ability of the federalists to use 91 machine guns within the town.

The insurgents, it was reported, had silenced some of them, but this report had verification only in the fact that the rebels were not shelling the federalists as extensively in the last few hours as they did earlier in the morning.

General Madero admitted today that he had given his consent to a general attack on Juarez, but explained that various circumstances had precipitated it. He declared that reports which had reached him were that the federalists had opened fire and that the men who had been reported as revolting against his leadership had pursued them on their own accord and could not relinquish their positions. He listened to the counsel of his chiefs, who advised a general attack and though he made an effort to arrange an armistice it failed because of the progress the attack already made. All of the leaders had been acting under Madero's orders. They have surrounded Juarez with their men and prospects this noon when the battle would continue throughout the day without any decisive turn.

General Madero was at his headquarters receiving the reports from the front and with him were the various political chiefs, confident of an insurrecto victory.

Efforts of go-betweens to stop the fighting failed because of the difficulty of handling insurgents who already had entered Juarez. General Navarro would have consented to an armistice if the insurrectos had evacuated the town and he told this to General Madero over the telephone early today but the rebel chief by this time had given orders for a general attack to reinforce the 200 men who had forced their way into Juarez despite the federal trenches, barricades and outposts.

Bullets poured into El Paso after the attack began at 4.30 a. m. but the United States troops kept sightseers three blocks away from the river front. Privates Emilio Garcia and Patrick Cassidy of the American legion with the insurrectos came to El Paso this morning to get food. They stated that 15 Americans already had been killed and wounded and that the rebel losses would reach 150 killed and wounded and that the federal loss was more than double that amount.

"In one trench I counted 47 federalists and in another 38. They were stripped of most of their clothing," said Cassidy. He added that when the attack started yesterday there were probably 150 insurrectos and that no reinforcements came until last evening. Cassidy also said that Villard had arrived from Ojinaga with reinforcements and two pieces of artillery. One, he said, was the famous "McGlinchey" stolen from El Paso.

Colonel Garibaldi is in command of the so-called "American legion" of insurrectos. The rebels have poured a stream of shrapnel and solid shot into the city. One of the guns is manned by United States and French artillerymen.

An American insurrecto named Anderson attempted to cross the Santa Fe bridge to El Paso but was driven back by the American troops.

Mrs. Josefa Garcia and her young son were the persons shot early today, the former receiving a wound in her neck.

The cannonading continued slowly. The rebels used their machine guns sparingly, while the federalists poured their shells into the insurrecto outposts.

Early this morning Col. Stever, in charge of the United States troops, issued orders not to permit any provisions to be taken across to the insurrectos. A wagonload of food was at the bridge for the rebels but it was not permitted to cross. The insurrecto officers stated that they held the port of entry and that they had a right to bring food supplies to their men.

Madero explains the attack on Juarez merely by declaring that "it is the only thing to do." His leaders throughout yesterday begged them to allow them to go to the rescue of their comrades fighting in Juarez.

In the proclamation of Sunday, Madero admitted it was with difficulty that he was able to restrain his leaders from attacking Juarez. It is generally considered here that he did not have the power to stop the fight but was forced to approve.

At the Madero headquarters a report was received from the front that federal cavalry had evacuated Juarez and were proceeding south toward El Paso. It is believed, however, that the cavalry intends to flank the rapid influx of the rebels in the town.

General Madero has left his headquarters for the front. He wishes to survey the progress of the battle but will not be in active command.

The federalists have renewed heavy firing. Bullets passed near the immigration station but no one was injured.

That Charlie Morse will be elected superintendent of streets on the part of the common council, at the regular meeting of that body to be held tonight, is the report that is being given credence in political circles today and Supt. Newell F. Putnam is a little bit afraid that it is going to happen.

That the board of aldermen would concur in the election of Mr. Morse there seems to be scarcely the shadow of a doubt, and the outlook, as a whole, is to the defeat of Mr. Putnam.

It was stated today that republicans, upon whom Mr. Putnam banked, had gone over to Mr. Morse, and if that is true there is nothing to it but the election of Charlie Morse.

"Yes, I expect that Charlie Morse will be elected by the common council, tonight," was an alderman's answer to a reporter's query this forenoon.

"I expected it was going to happen at the last meeting of the board," he said, "but I understand that the republicans are not taking any stock in this report about the defeat of Supt. Putnam. I do not think that he has lost strength in the council and it's a good bet that Mr. Morse will not be elected tonight."

BOARD OF POLICE

May Complete License Grant Tonight

The board of police will meet in regular session tonight and in all probability some action will be taken on the granting of additional liquor licenses. Of the 100 licenses which the city is entitled to but 88 have been granted and issued.

Owing to the difference of opinion of many of the state's leading lawyers relative to the interpretation of the new law the board has not granted a double license to any one person, although many of the applicants for two licenses anticipate that the members of the board will take favorable action on the matter at tonight's meeting.

federalists are holding the church and small court. Some of the federalists are said to be retreating in the direction of the race track on the outskirts. The federalists in the church are firing spiritedly.

The rebels have abandoned firing their field pieces for fear of hitting their own men, who are in all parts of Juarez. One of the rebel leaders has been hurt thus far.

A big explosion near the church at the head of Commerce street, shortly before noon, was believed to have been a federal mine though it may have been caused by the dynamite bombs which the insurrectos are throwing.

An Associated Press correspondent returned from the interior of Juarez this afternoon and reported that the rebels are slowly gaining possession of the town. The federalists are keeping up a continuous fire from the church in the center of the town but from no other point. The insurrectos are concealing their whereabouts by withdrawing their fire and are skulking behind houses in a gradual advance toward the federal stronghold.

Col. Garibaldi has just given orders to the insurrectos in his command to bring the field artillery into the streets preparatory to shelling the church. He denied to the correspondent that he had been wounded.

FEDERALS BADLY BEATEN

SAN DIEGO, May 9.—The federal forces were drawn into a trap and badly beaten today.

In this engagement San Wood, elected by the rebels to succeed Jack Massey in command, and his negro aide were killed. How many other rebels were killed in the brief bloody struggle is not known. A scouting party sent out by the federalists at Tinjuna, finding no trace of the banking party, returned late last night with the report that the rebels probably had retreated. The town went to sleep. No guards were posted.

An irregular valley at close range awakened the defenders of the town this morning, too late for them to gain the trenches and resist the rush of the rebels. Part of the federalist and catholic church, a wooden building, others entered the adobe customs house. The rest fled, only to be shot down as they ran. One small party managed to break through the rebel line and escaped to the south. The Catholic church was set on fire after it had been riddled with bullets. Those inside who sought to escape by rushing through the flames were shot down by the rebels. At the customs house a small party of federalists was still holding out when the last news came from the town. Some of the men are said to have been wounded, and others killed by the fire poured through the windows by the rebels.

Two buildings in the town and vicinity have been burned but it is thought that the rest will be spared by the victors. The American Red Cross has asked permission to go into the town and care for the wounded.

Reports from the camp of the American troops at the line are that two Americans were killed today while attempting to escape from Tinjuna. Whether they were members of the federalist and or residents of Tinjuna was not known.

A great crowd of spectators slept on the line last night. They were ordered away from the line of the morning by United States troops. Many bullets sped into United States territory but as the fighting was half a mile off from the line the spectators were comparatively safe.

WORCESTER BOWLERS

Are Trying for Prizes at the Crescent Alleys

J. J. Monsey and 25 of the fastest bowlers in the city of Worcester are bowling for honors and prize money at the Crescent alleys this afternoon in one of the series of contests in connection with the annual duck and candle pin bowling congress.

The visitors arrived in Lowell this morning and started to roll during the early part of the afternoon. Carl Hedberg who put up a triple of 360 at the tournament held on the Adams Square alleys last year, was the most prominent entry and he put up some high scores in the different contests in which he was entered.

The five-men teams included the Commonwealths, Monsey and American Steel & Wire Co. The latter team last winter broke the record in the five-men class at candles, putting up a total of 1622.

Besides the three five-men teams there are eight two-men teams and three three-men teams. W. C. Finch, captain of the Commonwealth team, is a bowler of no mean ability and it is expected that he will make a creditable showing during the tournament.

Mr. Monsey, who has charge of the aggregation from the Heart of the Commonwealth has the proud distinction of being the first president of the bowling congress and the man who was instrumental in drawing up the rules and by-laws in connection with the congress.

One of the members of the Worcester team is Lavigne, the catcher of the Brockton team, who it is expected will be able to arrive in Lowell tonight in time to compete in the different contests in which he has been entered.

Marchand, the Rhode Island grange; and Richard Patten, the New Hampshire grange.

A BRUSH FIRE

BROKE OUT IN VARNUM AVENUE THIS AFTERNOON

At 2.27 o'clock this afternoon a telephone alarm was sent in for a brush fire in Varnum avenue. The auto protective hose 3 and hose 12 responded, but upon the arrival of the apparatus it was discovered that the fire was in the Tyngham limit, so the firefighters returned to their respective quarters.

THE MINISTRY

MAY BE FORCED TO RETIRE FROM OFFICE

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 9.—Popular feeling against the government on account of the Jerusalem incident is so strong that the ministry may be forced from office. In the chamber of deputies today the minister of the interior admitted that the Englishmen who are alleged to have profaned the mosque of Omar in their search for sacred relics beneath its foundations, operated within the mosque through the connivance of its guardians, whom the explorers corrupted.

Mr. Eudaviste Barlette of Lilley avenue has accepted a position in Providence, R. I.

Miss Anna Boucassa and Miss Louise Monier have returned from a pleasant trip to Manchester, N. H., where they were the guests of their friends, Miss Emma Coudon and Miss Mildred C. LeFebvre.

Mr. Ernest Gagnon of Manchester, N. H., has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Maxime Lapine of Fox street.

FACING DEFICIT OF $750,000

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 9.—Pointing out that the state is facing a deficit of nearly three quarters of a million dollars because of appropriation bills passed and awaiting passage by the legislature, Governor Aram J. Pothier in a special message to the legislature today urged that some action be taken by that body to provide an increased revenue along the lines proposed by the special committee on taxation. Unless something is done Governor Pothier declares practically that he will refuse to sign the appropriation bills now awaiting his signature and those which will come to him today and tomorrow.

FOREST FIRES EXTINGUISHED

SPRINGFIELD, May 9.—Reports received today from the various sections of western Massachusetts that have been afflicted with forest fires for the past two or three days indicate that the heavy rain of last night and early today has practically extinguished the flames. A large territory has been flame-swept and great money loss has resulted from the destruction of valuable standing timber and, in some cases, farm buildings.

The spectators cheered and clapped their hands and the director's friends rushed to him with congratulations.

TWO OVERCOME TOO EXPENSIVE

First Heat Prostrations in Boston

BOSTON, May 9.—A drouth that had already affected early crops was broken late last night when at 11 o'clock brisk showers brought the first rainfall of the present month.

Two heat prostrations, the first since last summer, occurred yesterday when the temperature, according to official figures, for the second consecutive day climbed to 81 degrees, the highest hot weather mark to date of the present year.

Both prostrations occurred on Kneeland street, where the temperature was several degrees higher than that recorded by the U. S. observation station thermometers on top of the federal building.

The victims were Thomas Gannon, aged 18, of 265 Dorchester street, South Boston, and Julius Grosky, aged 18, of 58 Brighton street.

Former Lowell Girl the Bride

Ryan, a Brockton boy, now on the Georgia, and Josephine LeMay, Miss LeMay proposed marriage to Miss Ryan four years ago, only to be refused. He enlisted in the navy, hoping to forget Brockton and all that it contained. Soon after Miss LeMay left for Lowell, hoping to forget Ryan.

When the explosion took place on the Georgia Ryan was severely injured and was hurried to the Marine hospital at Charlestown. Miss LeMay, reading his name in the published injured list, hastened from Lowell to the hospital. It didn't take long for the old friendship to be renewed. Again Ryan proposed and was accepted.

Sunday they were married and left for Maine, where they will pass two weeks.

STATETREASURER "JOE" CHRISTO

Refuses to Give Books Is Entered in Several Big Races

BOSTON, May 9.—Appearing with two assistants at the office of State Treas. Elmer A. Stevens, as he had said he would, Harvey S. Christo, the expert employed by Gov. Foss, was virtually ejected from the office yesterday.

Atty. Gen. James M. Swift was called into the controversy to determine whether Mr. Christo had authority to call again for documents which he wished to examine. Until his opinion is given the books will not be surrendered to the expert.

At 9 a. m. Mr. Christo and his assistants, Messrs. Tuttle and Oakley, entered the state treasurer's office. They were informed by Mr. Bridge, assistant to the treasurer, that only Mr. Christo was to be admitted according to orders of Treasurer Stevens. While this explanation was being made Mr. Christo pressed on into the inner office. Treas. Stevens, who was signing checks, looked up in surprise. Mr. Christo said that he had come, just as he had said Saturday that he would, to make an examination of the office. "I have nothing to say to you at this moment," said Mr. Stevens. Stenographers were called, and Mr. Christo dictated a statement to Mr. Stevens, in which he said he doubted the expert's authority to re-examine the books and announced his intention to submit the whole matter to the attorney general before allowing him to proceed further. Mr. Christo then left the office.

Commenting upon the incident, Mayor Fitzgerald said: "What would have happened a couple of years ago if I had refused to allow the finance commission to examine the books at city hall? Why, the hall would have been mobbed and a house of police stationed about the building to see that I did not escape with the city's funds. And as for the newspapers, they would have lashed themselves into madness over my act. The whole thing only goes to show how differently things are handled at the state house and at city hall."

WOOD'S BIG SALE

It has been generally settled that the long talked of improvements on the Hamilton site in Central street are to be made. If rumor has it right, Mr. George H. Wood, who has been for more than a quarter of a century on the premises as a tenant in one of the Hamilton block stores and has been one of the most interesting business men in Lowell, as he has two very large wholesale and retail jewelry shops, one on Northmain street and one at his old home stand in Central street, must vacate. The rebuilding of this property will make it necessary for him to vacate. The premises until such time as the new building is constructed and it begins to have the new show windows trimmed with the endive variety of beautiful and up-to-date articles such as are carried in a thoroughly up-to-date jewelry store. Mr. Wood cannot get out in a day or a week or a month without sustaining a great loss financially, and as the project is now considered a reality he at once will start to inaugurate a sale that will be great in its value to the purchasing public. He then on an auctioneer would be as intends to place without limit or reserve any and every article in his mammoth stock of both stores almost at the mercy of the trading public. Any reasonable offer for these goods will not be refused.

The six large windows are filled with a beautiful variety of articles varying in size, from small pins to a sapphire pin in a diamond of the first water, also gold, silver, china, cut glass, clocks, watches and an almost endless variety of useful and ornamental articles. It does seem that it would be impossible for prudent persons to read this special announcement without realizing that it meant a wonderful saving to them to take advantage of the wonderful offers in merchandise. A short time ago Mr. Woods conducted a bundle sale and in a very few days he disposed of nearly 6500 bundles of a miscellaneous collection of articles that were when opened marvelous values for the price asked, namely, 25 cents. It may seem an exaggerated statement, but nevertheless it is true that some of these bundles contained more than ten times the price asked, but they went just the same.

This removal sale will take place within a short time, and Mr. Woods will again treat the public in a brief bundle sale having had a few hundred left over, and he intends to add a limited number more and people should get their eye on his advertisement in the Sun, which will announce when it will take place. The regular stock is on sale at present in the stores. A word to the wise should be sufficient. Don't fail to give this announcement special consideration, and go at once and select what you desire.

DIRECT NOMINATIONS PRESIDENT OF VENEZUELA AND CAPITAL THREATENED BY REVOLT

The House Orders the Bill to a Third Reading

The Corporal Punishment Bill Was Reported—The Senate Refused to Enter a Protest Against Free Boots and Shoes

BOSTON, May 9.—The bill for the direct nomination of all candidates for public office was ordered to a third reading in the house yesterday, on a voice vote, in which the "noes" were rather feeble. The bill takes in every elective state officer from the governor down, also congressmen and county commissioners.

Representative Washburn was the only member to speak against it.

Speaker Walker, who a year ago came out for direct nominations all along the line, took the floor and made a brief argument in favor of the pending bill.

Representative Washburn said he believed the bill is too much wrought up in the idea that the republican party has not been all that it should have been. He said he believed in progress, but he also believed that the republican party has been a pretty good party, and that it has nothing to apologize for.

Good government, he said, depends not so much upon the system as upon the individuals who go to the polls and to the caucuses. Personally he said he strongly favored the elasticity of the delegates system and in the state convention, yet this bill emasculates the entire convention system.

Telephone Bill Rejected

On a voice vote the house turned down a motion of Representative McGrath of Natick to substitute for an adverse report a bill providing that the poles, wires and other like appurtenances of railroad corporations shall be subject to local taxation.

The house then took up the bill providing that shares of stock in public service corporations shall not be subject to the provisions of the inheritance tax law. Representative Dean of Wakefield, speaking against the bill, said that the state would lose $100,000 a year if the measure became law. To this Representative Crocker of Boston said that the bill merely exempted from Massachusetts taxation stocks which are taxed elsewhere.

The bill was passed to be engrossed, 114 to 98, on a roll call.

Representative Dean then moved that the house substitute, for an adverse committee report, a bill providing that telephone rates between any points in the suburban district shall not exceed five cents. There was comparatively little interest manifested in this proposition and the Dean bill was rejected, 52 to 49, and the adverse report was accepted.

House to Meet at 10.30

Speaker Walker appointed Representatives W. J. of Haverhill, Halgals of Montrose and Conway of Boston as the house members of the special committee to consider changes in the rules for the purpose of shortening the legislative sessions.

The committee on ways and means reported ought not to pass on the bill providing that the franchise tax assessed upon a business corporation shall go in its entirety to the municipality in which the corporation conducts its business.

Water supply reported a bill authorizing Pittsfield to borrow $700,000 for improving its water supply.

Cities reported a bill authorizing the city of Boston to pay an annuity of $300 a year to the widow of Michael J. Coyne.

An order offered by Mr. Underhill of Somerville was adopted, providing that beginning today, the house shall meet at 10.30 in the forenoon each day except Monday and Saturday.

The house attached an amendment to the senate order extending the time for committee reports, the amendment providing that all matters shall be reported not later than May 20.

By a vote of 61 to 46 the house reconsidered its rejection of the bill providing for the abolition of the grade crossing at Orient Heights, and postponed further consideration until Friday.

The committee on railroads reported a bill authorizing the town of Winchester to adopt new plans for the abolition of its grade crossings, the increased expense to be assessed entirely upon the town. The act is to take effect upon its acceptance by two-thirds of the registered voters of the town.

The senate yesterday afternoon indefinitely postponed action on the order Senator Nason offered last Friday, placing the senate on record against the proposed removal of duties by congress on boots and shoes. The motion to indefinitely postpone was made by Senator Greenwood of Worcester and was carried, on a rollcall, 21 to 13. The democratic members, with the exception of Senator Timilty, voted for the Greenwood motion.

Many bills of importance were postponed, among them being the following: Boston charter bill to Thursday, Cambridge charter bill to tomorrow, adverse report on Chelsea annexation also to Friday, bill for extension of Boylston street across the fens in Boston to tomorrow, bill to provide for the determination of the value of shares of stock of consolidated railroad and street railway companies to Friday.

Senator Ross of Bristol offered a substitute bill for the pending measure to compel railroads to furnish drinking water and drinking cups to patrons. The new bill says that the railroads shall furnish water and cups on passenger trains free, subject to approval by the state health board. Equivalent methods of furnishing pure water free to passengers may be provided instead of the cups and water system if approved by the health board. The proposed act is to take effect June 15 of the present year.

The senate tabled the adverse report on the governor's recommendation relative to the election of U. S. senators. This was done on motion of Senator Malley of Hampden.

A LIVELY BLAZE

BROKE OUT ON OAK HILL, IN WESTFORD

One of the most spectacular fires which occurred in this vicinity for many years broke out about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon on Oak Hill in Westford and fanned by a brisk wind spread rapidly. It swept over the hill toward Tyngsboro.

At Flint's corner, which is on the direct road to Dunstable from North Chelmsford where the road from Tyngsboro depot connects with it, Otis L. Wright's house was in imminent danger. Wet blankets were spread on the roof and a force of men sought to prevent the flying sparks from burning the buildings. They were successful, and by 10 o'clock in the evening the fire was making its way through the brush, away from the house.

Mr. Wright stated that the fire had swept some of his timberland, but he could not estimate the loss until he had a chance to go over the burned area and examine it.

NEW YORK, May 9.—Important developments here reveal that plans are being formulated in this city to launch an insurrection in Venezuela to depose President Juan Vicente Gomez. The news of the contemplated movement to oust from power the successor of President Cipriano Castro came from Havana. The reports have been confirmed by Alejandro Rivas Vasquez, one of Venezuela's foremost public men, who has come to this city to prepare for the uprising, which he has been selected to lead. Dr. Rivas Vasquez, who even now is a member of the Venezuelan congress from the state of Apure, was formerly president of the state of Julia, an office corresponding to that of governor here, and was minister of public works in the cabinet of President Castro. He spoke most optimistically of the movement he is to

In Connection With Murder at Livermore Falls

LIVERMORE FALLS, Me., May 9.—The three missing Italians wanted in connection with the alleged murder of Donico Ventrelli, whose body was found in front of his home on Church street, Chisholm, early yesterday, were captured during the night, six miles east of Rumford Falls and were brought here during the forenoon.

They were arrested by Deputy Sheriff L. M. Small of Oxford and Deputy Niles of Rumford, five hours after they were first sighted by those officers during which they led a lively chase through the woods. It was planned to take them to the county jail at Farmington at noon and the preliminary hearing probably will be held there as Chisholm is in Franklin county.

HOUSE OF LORDS

The Fight to Reform is On

LONDON, May 9.—Lord Lansdowne, leader of the opposition in the house of lords, has opened his fight for the form of the upper chamber. His proposal is that the membership of the house of lords be reduced to 300, 100 being chosen for a term of years from the existing house, with the safeguard of a minority representation introduced by a proportional vote, fifty to be of eminent standing, such as cabinet ministers, governors of dominions and others of renown in the service of the state; fifty to be peers nominated by the ministry of the day for a term of years and 100 to be elected for a short term by county and borough councils. He has prepared for immediate introduction a bill comprising these provisions. The bill also seeks to restrict the exercise of the royal prerogative in the creation of new peers.

The tables and those in charge of the tables are as follows:

Among the special attractions during the week will be a hurdy gurdy party on Wednesday night. Thursday evening the May table has the entertainment in charge and a pleasant evening is assured all who attend. On Saturday afternoon a children's party by the Knights of Columbus table, the bazaar to close Saturday night, with a Matthews' evening.

Each evening will be devoted to one of the bazaar tables, and the opening evening was St. Margaret's evening. The entertainment was furnished by Minner's orchestra, composed principally of high school students, with Miss Harriet Moran, soprano soloist, and Miss Elizabeth Muringham, accompanist.

Mayor Meehan was introduced by John J. Pinder, for the committee and he congratulated the pastor and parishioners upon the worthy object of the bazaar, the erection of a new church.

Fr. Harkins in reply said that His Honor would be invited to occupy one of the front pews in the new church before another election comes around. After the formal opening general dancing was enjoyed.

Tonight is A. O. H. night and after the opening exercises there will be general dancing.

During the week the volunteer orchestras, Minner's and the "Ladies Festival" orchestra will alternate in playing.

TEN BUILDINGS

On Fire in Winter and Summer Streets Today

The alarm from box 19 yesterday afternoon was for a fire that started in a shed in Winter street and communicated with neighboring roofs until it had a chain of ten burning roofs. Most of the damage, however, was confined to the Namack property where the fire started. The property extends from Summer street to Winter street. The cause of the fire was unknown but is supposed to have been caused by children playing with matches in the shed. It looked for a time as if the fire would make small work of several buildings but the firemen arrived in time to check its headway. Patrolman James Kennedy and Motorman John J. Meehan forced a door to a room where the smoke was thick and rescued two women who were overcome with the smoke.

JASPER'S BOUT

Jim Sullivan Was Easy for Him

WOBURN, May 9.—Young Jasper of Boston so far outlasted Jimmy Sullivan of South Boston in the main bout at the Woburn A. A. meeting in Lyceum hall last night that Referee Tom Duffy stopped the bout in the second round and awarded the decision to Jasper. The North End lad was bigger, stronger and far too clever for Sullivan, who was badly punished.

In the preliminary bouts Jack Nelson of Woburn defeated Young McGarr, also of Woburn, in six rounds; Young Doyle of Lowell and Cy Goodwin of Boston boxed six rounds to a draw; Eddie Moran of Boston in six rounds, and Young Connolly of Everett disposed of Young Murphy of Cambridge in one round.

FORBES A QUICK WINNER

GARY, Ind., May 9.—Harry Forbes won a decisive victory over Young Fitzgerald of Milwaukee last night. He floored Fitzgerald three times in the third round. Forbes won the fight by his superior ring knowledge and generalship.

The honors were about even for the first two rounds, but when the third opened Forbes began to mix things. He felled with his left and then gave a stiff wallop with his right which sent the Milwaukee man to the mat. Fitzgerald took the count of eight and as he staggered up to Forbes the latter laid him on his back, and he was assisted to his corner by his seconds.

REV. FR. PAQUETTE GUEST OF OBLATE FATHERS

Rev. Fr. C. A. Paquette, O. M. I., formerly of this city and more recently of McCook, Nebraska, is the guest of the Oblate Fathers of St. Joseph's parish.

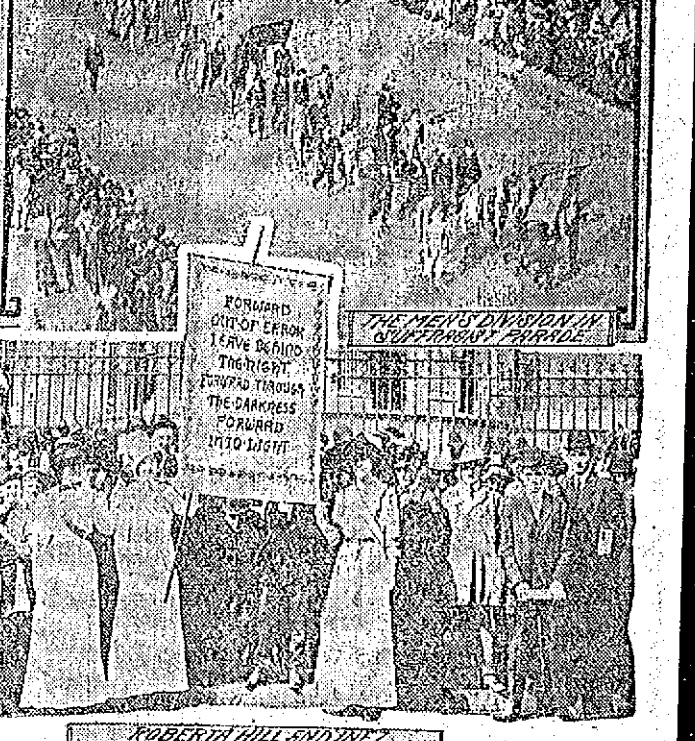

Fr. Paquette is well known in this city, where he lived for a number of years, serving as curate for St. Joseph's parish. In 1897 he was assigned to the pastorate of St. Andrew's church, North Billerica, where he remained for two years, after which time he went to Plattsburg, N. Y. In 1905 Fr. Paquette was transferred to the state hospital in Tewksbury as chaplain, a position he held till Dec. 1907, at which time he was assigned to the direction of the McCook missions, which numbered seven. The Oblate father has been called to this part of the country by the provincial of the order, Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, and he may be assigned to St. Joseph's parish.

MEN MARCHING IN PARADE, DEMANDING VOTES FOR WOMEN

NEW YORK, May 9.—Owing to the approach of the closing of the New York state legislature the members of the suffragist movement have begun a spirited crusade of national proportions to impress on the legislators the importance of their demand that women should be allowed to vote. The leaders of the movement here have rallied to their support women from a score of states in the Union, including women who have voted in the various states where they have been given the suffrage. The parade down Fifth avenue in which about 4,000 men and women marched has aroused wide comment. The suffragists believe that demonstration will impress the legislators favorably and gain votes for them in the senate and assembly by their committees, which have the custody of the bills striking the word "male" from the state constitution. Tuesday, May 9, a large delegation of the paraders went to Albany to speak before the committees, carrying with them the banners displayed in the procession. A notable feature of the procession was the men's division, in which 300 men, many of them prominent citizens, marched. Two young women generally described as being of unusual beauty and attractiveness form one of the assets of the suffrage movement. They are Miss Roberta Hill of New Zealand and Miss Inez Millholland of New York, society favorite, and are shown in the accompanying illustration carrying the banner they displayed in the suffragist parade. Miss Hill is holding the banner pole, and Miss Millholland is at her right in the picture.

SINS OF THE TONGUE

Strong Sermon Delivered at St. Michael's Mission

Severe Arraignment of the Calumniator, the Slanderer, the Detractor and the Scandal Monger—Christ's Injunction to Charity and Love of One Another Forcibly Explained

The exercises of the second night of the mission for women being given this week at St. Michael's church were attended by a throng that filled the large edifice. The Dominican Fathers are in charge of the mission and are much pleased with the result attending their efforts.

The sermon last evening was preached by Rev. Fr. Kelly, O. P., and followed a practical talk on the Rosary by Rev. Fr. Donohue, O. P. The subject of the sermon was "Sins of the Tongue." The reverend preacher spoke in part as follows:

Man is distinguished from the low-er animals by being endowed with the gift of reason and free will. He is capable of seeing the effect of his actions, capable also of abusing the many gifts bestowed upon him. Man is a responsible creature and will be judged according to the good or bad use he makes of his opportunities, gifts, talents, faculties. Our Lord in this judgment will be severe, not one iota or word escaping Him.

As a complement to reason and free will God has also given the gift of speech, which serves many purposes. It is a medium of communication by which we may share our thoughts and emotions, may give praise, may instruct, enlighten or edify one another in harmony with all the other works of God. It may be used to praise and glorify His Holy Name.

To the noble and sublime uses to which speech may be put, your presence bears testimony and tribute. Through its medium the eternal truths are given to you and made operative on your soul.

Gift of Speech Abused

Yet what gift of God is more abused than that of speech? In blasphemy the name of God is debased through anger, envy, hatred or disappointment. Through calumny and detraction the good name of one's neighbor is injured. The sin of blasphemy may seem more grievous, but if the latter sins are less so, they are more widespread, more prevalent. Undoubtedly blasphemy is more common among men than women, for the besetting sin of women is detraction, calumny, or the sin that follows idle gossip. Whether these are lies or simply detractions, they are injurious alike in their results, embarrassing, annoying, besmirching. And the facility with which these sins are committed is much to be regretted for there are few, even among those who lead good lives, who have not at one time or other been guilty of it. Those who seem able to resist all other temptations are ensnared by this one. Yet nothing is more despicable to the true Christian than calumny or detraction, nothing more irreconcilable with the spirit of Jesus Christ, whose mission was one of love. Coming on earth to bring peace, he established the brotherhood of man and sealed the bond with His blood, and dying left us the injunction to love one another as He loved us. Surely our Lord could not have emphasized the necessity of charity more than when he made it one of the conditions of gaining eternal life. "Without shall love the Lord thy God with thy whole heart, thy whole mind, and thy neighbor as thyself," or when he made it the distinguishing mark of His followers, "By this shall all men know ye, that ye love one another."

Charity then should be the chief characteristic of the Christian, but what kind of charity is it that makes known the faults of another, or that besmirches the good name of a neighbor? Most of the miseries of the world can be traced to this lack of charity. So many domestic infelicities spring from it, broken friendships follow in its train. It has disrupted business, been the source of trouble everywhere, separating friends, even separating husband and wife. It has been the cause of poor health, loss of employment, even death. On the battlefield it has succumbed, has gone down before the deadly shots of the slanderer.

In all of us there is more or less of pride. Many there are who think themselves paragons of perfection. Pharisee-like they thank God they are not like the rest of men. They are self-appointed censors of their neighbors' faults. They make their neighbors' weaknesses the butt of their wit or ridicule or sarcasm. Let them fear for what they themselves are doing, lest they be more guilty in God's sight than the neighbor they undertake to criticize. Our Divine Lord says he who uses the sword shall perish by it, so let them beware that the weapon they use so skillfully may not be turned upon themselves.

Men and women are not all alike. Some are born with stronger passions than others, upon some the sins of parents have been visited. If one is stronger, less tempted than another, he should thank God for it and strive to help the neighbor weaker than himself.

Pride goeth before destruction and envy prompts a great deal of this evil of calumny, of slander, of detraction. Those so actuated are insidious, they flatter a friend to his face but behind his back they endeavor to disparage him. The success the prosperity of a neighbor seems to hurt them and they set to work to disparage, to annoy, to sadden those who seem to be getting on better than themselves.

Envy and Rash Judgment

If one wishes to be really charitable, envy must be suppressed even in thought. By the envy of the devil, death came into the world and by the envy of mankind a spiritual death is everywhere being wrought daily. Once envy fastens itself on one, it consumes like a fire and many there are who through rash judgment, see materially before they utter a word derogatory of another. Religion does not enjoin merely that we speak well of another, but it regulates our inner movements. Do unto others as you would be done by is not sufficient. Religion commands us to banish from our hearts even the thought of judgment. Judge not that you yourself be not condemned. Our charity should be of the kind that thinketh no evil.

And who are we that undertake to

MR. C. J. SWANSON.

"Twenty years ago I was taken sick with Typhoid and Malaria Fever, and for a time was at the point of death. As soon as I turned a little toward the better my physician prescribed Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and it was just what I needed to build me up. I have also found it excellent for weak lungs and rheumatism. I am now near the age of seventy, and will always continue to use it."—C. J. Swanson, 5140 Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

not only serves to keep the bodily health at the highest notch of excellence, but in typhoid and malaria, especially, when the bodily functions are at their lowest ebb and death seems imminent, it is retained by the stomach, when other agents are rejected, and as a food and stimulant sustains life until the crisis is passed. While convalescing after fever it is the greatest strength-giver and body builder known to science. It is a wonderful remedy in the prevention and cure of all lung, throat and stomach troubles, and all wasting and weakening conditions.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the only whiskey that was taxed by the Government as a medicine during the Spanish-American war.

It is Said That He Has Confessed Stealing for Eight Years—Reported to Have Lost Money in Manufacturing Concern

CLEVELAND, May 8.—For alleged peculations amounting to nearly $115,000, Julius W. Hopkins, paying teller of the First National bank, was placed under arrest late yesterday. It is stated by the bank officials that Hopkins made a confession three days ago, being the first inking they had of wrongdoing.

Bank Examiner Williams was sent for and the arrest ensued. He is held on a warrant issued by U. S. District Atty. Day, which specifically charged him with the theft of $60,000 from the bank.

When arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Walther, the accused man waived a preliminary hearing and was bound over in $60,000. He was unable to get bail and was sent to jail.

It is said that lately, Teller Hopkins confessed to District Atty. Day, Federal Bank Examiner Henry A. Williams and officials of the bank that during the last eight years he had embezzled a total of $114,850 of the institution's funds.

The officials say that, according to his alleged confession, Hopkins juggled his entry accounts and succeeded in evading disclosure. Most of the embezzled money, bank officials say, was invested in a manufacturing concern, of which Hopkins was the head. Hopkins is 37 years old and a widower. He has a son.

Friends who saw Hopkins in his cell last night say he told them he would plead guilty and "take his medicine without a fight."

Charles E. Farnsworth, cashier of the First National bank, made the following statement: "One of our trusted employees, Julius W. Hopkins, is a defaulter in the sum of $114,850, which amount he has abstracted from express packages containing currency sent us by the national banking department at Washington."

"The bank is fully protected by a blanket guaranty policy issued by a London company, so that the loss of this defalcation will not fall upon the bank. The facts will be placed before the public officials for such action as they deem it proper to take with reference to Mr. Hopkins."

RIFLE RANGE

TO BE EQUIPPED WITH FOUR TARGETS

It is probable that within a short time the rifle range in Dracut, Centre, according to reports from the armory. It is said that Col. Upton, Inspector of rifle practice for the Massachusetts militia, declared that Lowell sadly needs new targets for the rifle range in Dracut.

For a long time, officers of the local militia companies have sought to have something done about the range in Dracut. Yet all of their work has brought them nothing.

There are eight targets for the 200 and 300-yard ranges, with four targets to be used interchangeably between the 600 and 800-yard ranges. Two of the present targets are two inches smaller than the others, yet all of them are fired at from the same place. It is proposed to get four more targets, if possible, which will allow four targets each for the 600 and 800-yard ranges.

Col. Upton also found some fault with the bunkers at the range. One only of these is constructed of cement; the others are of wood and dirt. These latter were declared unsafe, and the recommendation was made that all of the bunkers be of cement. A fence about the shooting grounds was also suggested.

HEAVY RAIN

DROWNED OUT FOREST FIRE NEAR DOVER

DOVER, May 8.—A heavy downpour of rain during the early morning drowned out the forest fire that had been burning between Dover and Westwood. During its course the fire spread over a territory five miles long and covering about 600 acres. Several buildings were destroyed by the fire, including three farm buildings, three camps and a water tank. The fire destroyed a large quantity of valuable standing timber.

OLD-FASHIONED TONIC

PROVES BEST

(From National Health Journal)

Statistics show that not one person in fifty emerges from the strains of winter in good health. Due to various causes the system becomes clogged with impurities and the liver, kidneys and bowels fail to perform their functions properly. As a result we have faded, sallow complexions, liver spots, spring fever, lost appetite, no energy—in fact, feel sick without knowing the cause.

For correcting these disorders there is nothing so far discovered to equal old-fashioned kaffee tonic which can be made at home at small cost. Dissolve an ounce of kaffee in one-half pint alcohol, then add one-half cup sugar and hot water to make a quart.

A tablespoonful before each meal soon rids the system of impurities, clears the skin and restores the whole body to its normal, healthy condition.

Not Exactly Sick, but—feeling dull, tired, worn, run down? It's liver activity that you need. Take Schenck's Mandrake Pills today and mark their magic effect. One box will prove their efficacy in all liver ills, indigestion, dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, sick headache, giddiness, heartburn, flatulence, jaundice, etc. Wholly vegetable—absolutely harmless—plain or sugar coated—25c. PUBLIC MORGUE NEEDED

Lowell should have a public morgue to which all unidentified bodies should be brought so as to offer the greatest facilities possible for identification. It is safe to say that many bodies taken from the canals and buried as "unknown" would have been identified had the bodies been held for a reasonable time for inspection at a public morgue open at all hours. It might be located at the police station.

OUR LOCAL HALL OF FAME

Halls of fame are becoming very common nowadays. Nearly every nation has in some form a temple in which an assemblage of statues or of paintings commemorates the most eminent of the good and great men it has produced. The time will come when every city will have its hall of fame to be filled with the men who have at some time rendered signal service to the city, whether as private citizens, public officials, artists, inventors, patriots, heroes, poets, statesmen, orators, philanthropists.

The proposition to purchase David Neal's well known picture "The Rialto" on exhibition at the city library has the suggestion of a hall of fame for Lowell in which some of her great men might be commemorated in one way or another. Lowell in the first place could select for this hall of fame some of her great artists whose names are already immortal. Among these would be Whistler and David Neal, whose painting a few of his admirers are talking of purchasing for the library by public subscription. It would be a good thing for the city, a good thing for the artist and a good thing for the promotion of artistic taste in this community. The time may come when David Neal's paintings will be much more highly prized than at present, although he has won high honors in some of the greatest art centers in Europe.

But as to the hall of fame idea, we might select heroes, patriots, statesmen and orators in goodly numbers, while as for scholars, poets and writers, Lowell has produced as many as most cities of her size. Most of all could she score in the number of eminent mill men she could commemorate in this hall of fame, from Kirk Boott, Patrick Tracey Jackson and Francis Cabot Lowell, down to Col. Francis, the great engineer, who might well be honored in any local hall of fame. Since the days of Col. Francis it would perhaps be more difficult to make a selection, not only from the leaders of our great industries, but from the men who have directed our municipal government.

No doubt there have been many good and a few great men, but of late years it would be difficult to find among our city officials, men worthy to stand side by side with the officials of our city's early history. The question then arises, is the present generation less prolific of men who have won distinction for some great quality, such for example as civic virtue, high ideals of citizenship, or devotion to the progress of our municipality? It would really seem so, but we are inclined to believe that we have as many great and good men as ever and their talents and ability would be shown if any great emergency demanded their services. While matters go along in hum-drum fashion, these men go about their own private affairs with apparent indifference, but if any grave emergency calls for their service to the city or the state, then they come forward and show the stuff they are made of. While we are not suggesting a hall of fame, it will do no harm to reflect upon the abundance of material for such an institution shown by one generation and the apparent dearth of such material shown by another. It is a matter of general concern also whether this apparent lack of able men is due to any system by which we put forward men of second or third rate ability. When the legislators of a state select a man to represent the state in the United States senate, they are expected to choose a man whose talents and integrity will always reflect credit upon the state he represents. Similarly, if the voters of a district have to choose a representative to congress, or to the general court, they are expected to select a man who will at least measure up to the standard of the men with whom he has to associate. Otherwise, the man's lack of ability will reflect upon his district and the intelligence of the people who sent him there. The same rule applies to the men elected to hold municipal offices. If they are below the standard the voters are to blame; for we insist that there is always a sufficient number of able and good men to select from. If, instead of selecting the best available, the voters choose some who are positively unfit, then what is to be done? It must be remembered that not only the voters of this or that ward or district have to blush for a municipal misfit, but the entire city. This is where the voters by districts seem to fail in their duty, whereas in the aggregate or at large, they select better and abler men. It does seem to us that if the voters exercised their best judgment in the selection of public officials, they should always be able to point to a number of officials who on account of ability and devotion to their public duties would deserve to be commemorated in the history of the city, or in any assemblage of the faithful and efficient servants of the municipality. The system, we admit, has been at fault and until a new system shall have been established we need not expect any better results. Until we have a new and modern charter we shall have to bear the presumption that the men selected for public office are the most experienced, the ablest and best we can find in the entire community. It seems to be the present aspiration of this community to remove the evils of this antiquated system and substitute one that will secure better results so that we shall be able to secure the best men who aspire for public office rather than as at present preventing such men from seeking public office.

Let it be remembered that in our public officials and our men of affairs we are unconsciously selecting subjects which will stand in our historical hall of fame, whether to our credit or our discredit. It may be a fact that some of us regard the exercise of the franchise too lightly, while some and perhaps the majority are tired of a system in which they have lost confidence. The only logical remedy is, to change the system and then appeal to the voters to use their best judgment for their own good.

SEEN AND HEARD

A woman living in Cross street, a good-natured soul who could never say no to a neighbor, says that hereafter she will save the time on clothespins. "I may lend the clothes line or the clothes-horse, but not the pins," she says, and there's a reason. She loaned her bag of clothes pins to a neighbor. The pins were not returned and a few days later she sent her boy to get them.

"The other sent me for the clothes pins," said the boy to the neighbor. "Your mother is a good woman," said the neighbor, "and she'll not be vexed when she hears about the clothes pins. I was late in getting up this other morning and would have been late at the mill if I stopped to gather kindling, so I used the clothes pins to start a fire and make a cup of coffee. Your mother is a good woman and she'll never miss them."

"Make people happy and there will not be half the quarrelling or a tenth part of the wickedness there is."

Let us be of good cheer, however, remembering that the misfortunes hardest to bear are those which never come.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Go to your work and be strong, halting not in your way. Balking the end half-way, for an instant's dole of praise. Stand to your work and be wise, certain of sword and pen. Being neither children, nor gods, but men in a world of men.

PALE AS A GHOST

This Young Woman Was Thought to Be Dying of Anæmia.

After Two Years in Bed She Was Cured By Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and Has Since Been Well.

Anæmia is simply a lack of blood. It therefore follows that the correct treatment for anæmia is one that increases the blood supply. That is really the only treatment that can possibly be successful. To restore the blood supply to its normal quantity and quality, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be recommended with confidence. First, because they are known to have cured thousands of anæmic people—the highest possible recommendation. Secondly, they actually contain the ingredients that combine with the food and oxygen to make rich, red blood, without which no man, woman or growing boy or girl can be healthy.

Miss Carrie E. Hathaway, of North Houghton street, North Adams, Mass., was cured of anæmia by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills after recovery was pronounced hopeless by her doctor. The statement of her cure is told by her mother, Mrs. A. A. Hathaway.

"My daughter, Carrie, was confined to bed for two years suffering from anæmia. She seemed to have no blood and was as pale as a ghost. She was thin and did not weigh more than 100 pounds, had no strength or ambition and couldn't sit up. Her appetite was poor and she had difficulty in breathing. No one expected her to get well and our minister, before going on his vacation, came to bid her good-bye as he did not think she would live until his return.

"We spent hundreds of dollars but the doctor seemed to be puzzled and could not help her. She had been sick for over two years before I decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. The pills gave her quick relief and cured her after a fair trial. She has had no serious sickness since and weighs 170 pounds. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a wonderful remedy and I cannot say enough in praise of them."

A new edition of our booklet, "Diseases of the Blood," will be sent free on request to any one interested.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50c, per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

SOUTH COMMON

Mr. Corbett Says It is Given Up to Rowdiness

The following communication addressed to The Sun by Mr. Michael Corbett calls public attention to a matter of considerable importance. If conditions on the South common are as bad as represented here, they should be remedied at once.

The communication follows:

Editor Lowell Sun:

Dear Sir: I should like to make use of your columns to express my opinion and that of many other citizens concerning the conditions which are existing and have been allowed to exist for the past eight years, upon the South common. This common, as well as the other parks belonging to the city of Lowell, is under the exclusive control of the park commissioners; yet, through their neglect of this, the largest and most valuable park in the city, they have allowed conditions to exist, which are a disgrace to our community, and especially to these gentlemen, who are solely and entirely responsible. Until this commission was established the South common was a recreation ground, a place of innocent amusement, where law and order was maintained. It was a safe and healthful resort for the women and children of the poor. I have counted, at five o'clock of a summer morning, fifty baby carriages with their occupants and guardians, who were there to spend the greater part of the day. Invalids and convalescents were there, seeking relief from their crowded tenement homes. How many now? Not one! Under the beneficent care (?) of the park commissioners, the common has been given over to thugs and bums, to disreputable persons worse than bums. Assaults are numerous. No woman crossing the common at evening can be sure of safety. In spite of ample space reserved for ball grounds, and to which, in justice, they should be restricted, boys and men play ball all over the common, breaking windows in the vicinity, endangering the lives of passers-by. The commissioners, when requested to provide at least one policeman, for the protection of the public, who have occasion to pass through the common, say that they cannot afford it. Yet, the South common yields a yearly revenue to the city, that of last year being $1087.00. In return, the commissioners, ignominiously expended upon the common $1063.38—$23.12 less than the revenue, observe; while on Fort Hill park, on the outskirts of the city, yielding no revenue, and frequented by few, they lavished $556.74. Let me quote from the Report of the Park Commissioners of 1910: "Suggestions of Geo. C. Wilton, head supervisor: The pool at the South common in its present condition, is also a menace, not only to health, but to the life and limb of the boys and girls that use it for wading purposes. It is filled with mud, filth and broken glass, and many boys contract cases of blood poisoning, as a result of cuts received while using it." Again: "Suggestions of Christopher Sciffe, supervisor: 'The pond on the South common is a menace to public health. The bottom is filthy, unsanitary and unsightly.' Then follow suggestions for improvement, which the commissioners have, so far, seen fit to disregard.

On July 3d, a massive limb fell from an elm tree on the common, directly upon some children at play. One child was killed and others injured. Could not a little care have prevented this accident?

Now, I understand that the commissioners are considering the turning over of the common to the militia, to be used as a drill-ground. Let the state provide a ground for the militia.

Preserve the South common for the purpose for which it was intended by its donors to the city of Lowell: for the use of the general public; for the public health; for the public amusement; for the good of the women and children.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for allowing me the use of your space, I remain Respectfully yours,

Michael Corbett.

CHILD SAVED

RESCUED FROM TRAIN BY OLD CROCKING TENDER

PAWTUCKET, R. I., May 9.—John Mahan, aged 60, crossing tender at Broadway on the India point branch line of the New Haven road, saved the life of Annie Smith, aged 6, yesterday afternoon and was himself injured.

A freight train was passing over the crossing, when the child stepped on the track, and as she did not hear his cries he rushed out and seized her and was himself hit by the engine and knocked to one side.

He received cuts in the head and had bruises on the legs and hips, and was carried to his home at 74 Summer avenue, Central Falls, after being attended by a doctor.

The girl was bruised on the head and knees. She is the daughter of Samuel Smith, 1038 North Main street. At this crossing the state railroad commissioner has ordered protection gates, but they have not yet been put in position.

THE FEDERALS FLED

EL PASO, Texas, May 9.—Continuous fighting during the night indicated that the rebels were pressing closely the advantage gained yesterday by forcing the federals from their trenches and outlying fortification near Juarez and that they would make a general attack on the city some time during the day. The small band of rebels which precipitated the engagement have driven the federals well into town and when reinforcements are at hand they believe they will take the city. General Navarro men have mines in various places and also machine guns with which to turn a deadly volley at their foes. It was reported early today that one of the federal machine guns late yesterday had torn a part of the rebel detachment to pieces.

The decision to attack the federal forces was made after the envoys sent shortly before midnight to General Navarro returned, saying that he refused to surrender. For an armistice arrangements he referred them to Judge Carbajal, the federal peace envoy, but he, too, refused to enter into an agreement with part of the rebels already in Juarez. The firing by the insurgents was begun by a small detachment of men stationed in an adobe house near the Stanton street bridge. With their machine gun leveled to sweep the main streets of Juarez they waited for the first break of dawn and opened fire. A United States soldier, while on duty, saw the first shot of the attack, only a hour before the attack began and brought back with him two of the wounded insurgents. Orders had been given not to allow the wounded to take refuge in El Paso but, under cover of darkness, the soldier towed the two wounded men to shore and brought them to a hospital. One of the insurgents had a bullet wound in his neck and the other a bullet hole in his leg. The soldier declared that the detachment of men with the machine gun near the Stanton street bridge was ready to keep up a continuous fire all day as they had plenty of ammunition.

Navarro is Confident

General Navarro is confident of holding Juarez and military experts in town think he can do it. He has his two field pieces and cannon in an advantageous place in the town. He has 12 guns in all, three of which are in action on the outskirts of the town shelling the hills from which the main column of the insurgente army must pass to enter the city unless they decide to follow the river bank. This route is bound to draw heavy fire into American territory.

Thousands of residents of El Paso for hours have been watching from rooftops and points of vantage. The United States troops have ordered everybody on the American side of the Rio Grande to stay three blocks away from the river front. Colonel Villareal, the insurgente chief, is advancing on Juarez this morning from the east with 600 men fresh from the siege of Ojinaga, while General Rabago is advancing to Juarez with 1000 federals but a strong command has been assigned to oppose him and Madero says he has no fear from that source.

Two Americans have been shot within the last two hours since the fighting began, one of whom has a wound in the neck.

The range of the federal artillery was remarkably accurate, their shells landing close to the on-coming insurgents and forcing them to seek refuge in obvious places. The heavy artillery of the federals has given them a tremendous advantage.

Small bands of rebels can be seen marching from the Madero camp toward Juarez along the river front. It is probable the insurgents will send a detachment to attack Juarez on its opposite side. The federal machine guns are keeping up a hot fire within every radius of the town.

ANNIHILATED BY REBELS

TIJUANA, Cal., May 9.—A detachment of 200 federals which left here at midnight last night on a scouting expedition has been annihilated by the rebels, according to a report brought to the international line early this morning by Enrique Gonzales, a federal official.

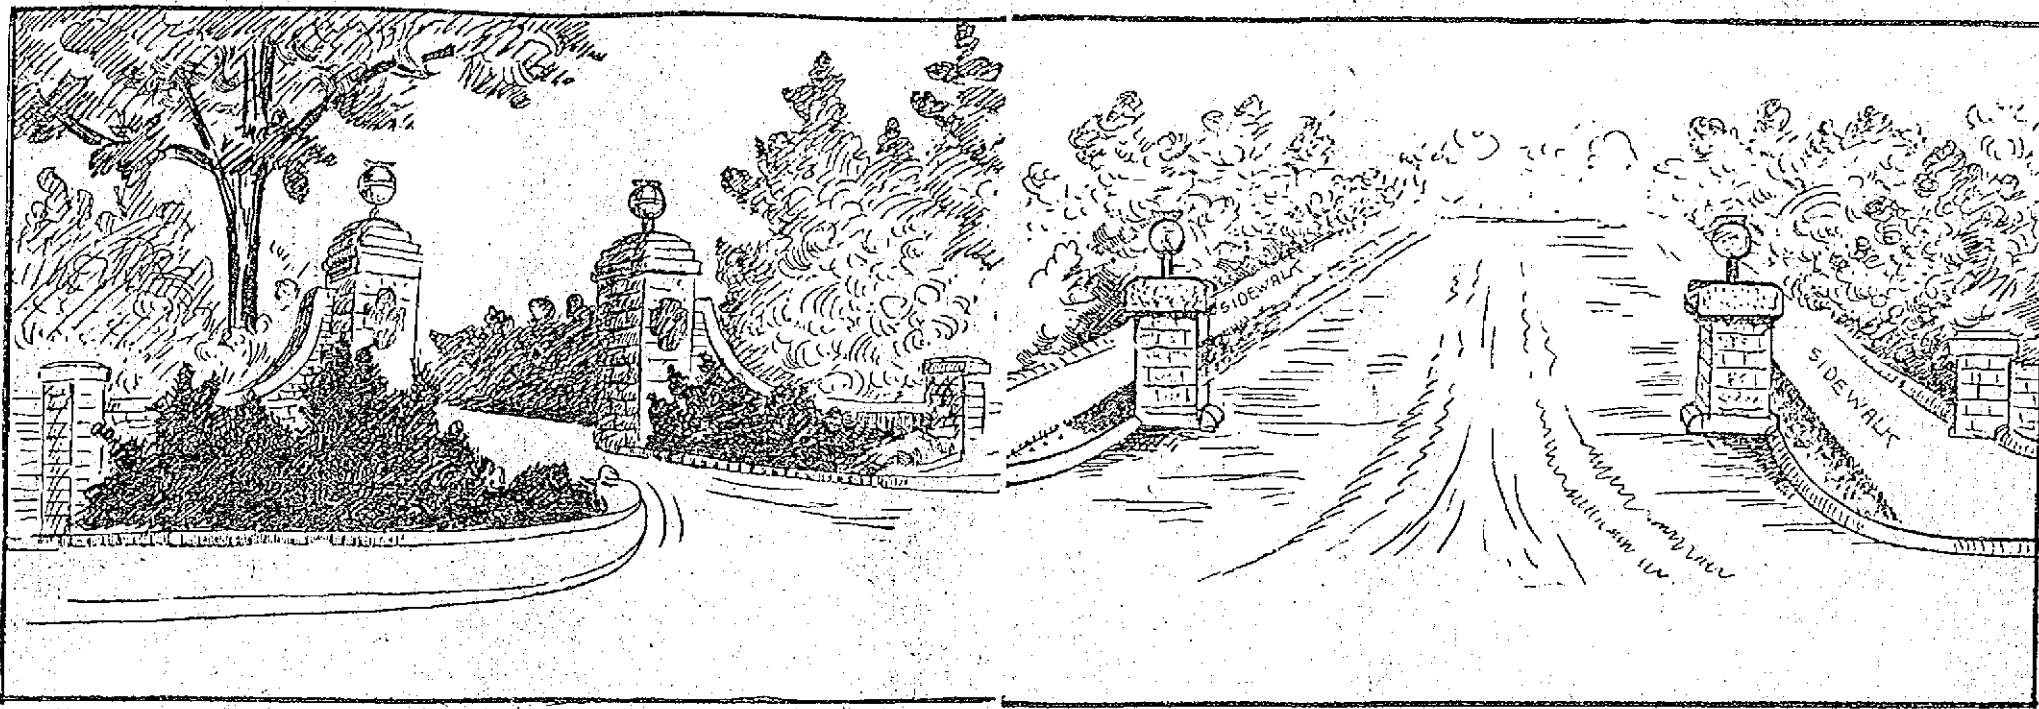

Another detachment left the Mexican town at the same time and it is believed that they met the same fate. Early today the revolutionary forces had completely surrounded Tijuana and the federal defenders have been driven into the bull ring. It is believed the town will be captured. No authentic reports of the dead on either side are obtainable. Hundreds of Americans in automobiles lined the border watching the night fighting.

STUBBORN FIGHTING

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 9.—After a fight which began about 11 o'clock yesterday and continued all day and into the night, the federal forces continue in possession of Tijuana, lower California, today. When the fighting began in the distance three prisoners in the quartet tried to escape. As they fled the guards fired on them. Bruce Hudson, said to be a United States army deserter, was wounded. Monroe McKinley, held as a rebel sympathizer, was instantly killed. A German prisoner whose name was not learned got away. The number of killed and wounded cannot be ascertained. The rebels outnumbered the federals and are supposed to have suffered the more severely as they were more exposed. When the fighting began Juan Triate, chief of police of Tijuana, crossed the boundary line and was arrested. He explained that he wanted to confer with the American commander. He was promptly released but decided not to return to the Mexican side. General Bliss of the United States army who was at Lakeside when the fighting began, at once started in an automobile for Tijuana. The fighting was witnessed from the American side by a great crowd from San Diego. Local agents of the Red Cross were at Tijuana, California, during the fight but the American commander refused to let them cross the line while the fighting was in progress. Captain Wilson, commanding the detail of United States troops on this side of the line, expressed admiration for the skill with which the rebel forces were handled.

When the insurgents reached the edge of the town the main struggle began at the bull ring, where the federals had a line of machine guns. The rebels put up a stubborn fight, but were driven at last in parties of two and three, they could be seen from the American side running from the breastworks to the town. Several of the fugitives fell, wounded or dead. The rebels captured the customs house, which they held all night while desultory firing continued.

VIEW OF THE SHEDD PARK AND KNAPP AVENUE GATEWAYS ON ROGERS STREET

The Shedd Park Gateway and that of Knapp Avenue, when the latter is completed, will appear as shown above. The Gumb Brothers have the blocks for the stone-work of the Knapp Avenue entrance almost completed, and it will soon be set upon the foundation. This double gateway will then be one of the most attractive features in connection with our park system. It is rumored that Mr. Freeman B. Shedd, the donor of the Shedd Park and both these gateways, contemplates a further improvement near the entrance to Knapp Avenue after Rogers street in that vicinity shall have been widened as now proposed by the street department.

The sub-committee from the committee on streets, Alderman Barrett and Councilmen Brady and Elliott, appointed to look into the matter of the widening of Rogers street and the cutting down of Knapp avenue, visited Shedd park yesterday afternoon and looked the grounds over. City Engineer Kearney supplied the sub-committee with a plan on which was outlined the position of the proposed new gate and the land that would be taken in the process of widening the street. Mr. Shedd has not made public all of his plans for the beautification of Shedd park and the extent of the improvements to be made by him will depend in no small measure upon the work done by the city during the early summer. Mr. Shedd has a plan for the uniformity of streets in the vicinity of the main entrance and the gate about to be built, and it is understood that he is negotiating for another strip of land for the development of his plans. The improvements will include a concrete wall extending from Rogers street and Knapp avenue towards Boylston street.

The park department will get busy at Shedd park next week. The department has about $5000 left over from the Shedd park appropriation, and the first work to be done there this summer will be on the skating rink. The department will clean out and clear away all brush, tree roots, peat, etc., and install a gravel foundation. This will make the temporary rink permanent and it will be in the pink of condition for next winter.

FACTORY EMPLOYEES TARGET PRACTICE STATEHOOD FAVORED

Say All They Want From the Lasters is a Square Deal

LYNN, May 9.—"All we want is a fair deal and in a spirit of fairness we appeal to the lasters to cooperate," are the closing words of a petition circulated today among the employees of the Sorosis factory of the shoe manufacturing firm of Charles A. Little & Co., where more than 1000 employees have been idle for more than a month as the result of a strike of 70 lasters. The petition is in the form of a "round robin," the list of signatures giving no intimation of the leaders in the movement on the part of the employees, all of whom are affiliated with some labor union connected with the industry, to induce the striking lasters to return to work pending a settlement of the difficulty originating in a demand for a higher price list for work on certain "high toe" lasts.

The petition declares that many of the workmen forced into idleness are facing financial distress, while others are in actual want. The petitioners enter an earnest remonstrance against a system under which the interests of a great many can be sacrificed for the furtherance of the cause of a few. "Therefore, we petition the striking lasters in the Sorosis factory to return to work pending the settlement of the question and give us a chance to earn the wages of which we feel we have been unjustly deprived."

It became known today that Richard T. Barry, the Lynn member of the state board of conciliation and arbitration, at a conference with President Little of the company, suggested arbitration of the difficulty with the lasters but was told by Mr. Little that the time for arbitration had passed.

JOSEPH LAMBERT

Said to Have Been Threatened With Death

He is a Witness in an Alleged Conspiracy Case — It is Said That Two Men Made Threat and Efforts Will be Made to Find Them

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 9.—That Joseph Lambert, a witness in the trial of James Beach for conspiracy to defraud the city of Pawtucket had been threatened with death if he testified against Beach, was brought out in the trial today. When Lambert, a teamster of Central Falls, was questioned by Assistant Attorney General Cross regarding the case his memory proved so poor that Mr. Cross had the jury taken out and then told the court that

More Expert Testimony Was Offered Today—Mrs. Dodge's Face Wreathed in Smiles When She Entered the Court Room, Accompanied by Her Daughter

GUILDHALL, Vt., May 9.—Target shooting with the revolver that has figured as one of the exhibits in the case was described by three witnesses today at the trial of Mrs. Florence Dodge for the alleged murder of William Heath. The target practice, these witnesses said, took place in the orchard behind the Dodge home four or five years ago and Mrs. Dodge watched it, although, it was testified, she did not herself fire the weapon.

The prospect of another day of expert testimony seemed to keep the crowd away from the courthouse today when the case was resumed with Dr. B. R. Johnson of Concord, one of the experts for the defense, on the stand.

In answer to the question as to whether a person five feet five inches tall could shoot a person five feet nine inches tall at the angle indicated by the testimony of the previous experts and the report of the autopsy on Heath's death, the witness replied on cross examination that it would be impossible if both persons were standing or if the person shot was on his knees painting a baseboard. Dr. Bradney, who was in the courtroom and who in general is of the same proportions as Heath, was placed on his knees as a model of Heath painting a baseboard and Dr. Johnson was questioned regarding the angle of the wound that might be produced. The witness expressed the opinion that the point of entrance of the bullet would be nearer the floor than the point of exit, but when a measurement was made it was found that the point of exit was nearer the floor by two inches.

The testimony concerning the target shooting in the orchard behind

WANT REAL GUNS

The members of la Garde des Saints Anges want real guns now for their military maneuvers, instead of the wooden arms they are at present using, and for this purpose a contest has been cover $40, which it is alleged, is due

Mrs. Dodge's house was then given by Alfred Morrow and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis Morrow, who is the undertaker's assistant who testified for the prosecution regarding the "younds on Heath's body," said that four or five years ago he boarded at Mrs. Dodge's house and on several occasions there was target practice in the orchard. On one occasion Mrs. Dodge's revolver, which, it is alleged, was the one with which Heath was killed, was used in the practice. Morrow did not remember who brought this revolver out, but he did know that it was fired, although, he said, Mrs. Dodge did not discharge it as she was merely a spectator of the target shooting by himself and Fred Curtis. After the practice was ended Morrow cleaned Mrs. Dodge's revolver and put it back in the box. "He could not remember whether he reloaded it or not. He did not know whether Mrs. Dodge knew if the revolver was loaded or unloaded when it was taken back into the house. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis corroborated Morrow's testimony."

Another expert was then called, Leonard Jones of Island Pond, a draughtsman who had made measurements in the Dodge home. Mr. Jones in the course of his testimony said that if Heath was in the position described by the government witnesses when he met his death he could not have been shot from the door leading from the front hall but rather from the bay window from the other side of the room.

Mrs. Dodge's face was wreathed in smiles when she entered the courtroom accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Bell, and by the matron of the Essex county jail.

NON-SUITED

THE CASE OF CULLEN VS. CUNIFFE ENDED TODAY

The much continued case of William B. Cullen against Nora Cuniffe, an action of contract, in which the former brought suit against the latter to reclaim for work done on the defendant's house, was non-suited when the matter was brought before Judge Hadley in the civil session of the police court this afternoon.

J. J. Buckley of Lawrence was the legal representative of the plaintiff, while John W. McEvoy appeared for the defendant.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Statehood resolution for investigation of the for Arizona and New Mexico held the attention of the senate yesterday. Reports were received from committee on inquiry and the committee on territories which met early in the day and approved the sub-committee report recommending statehood for both territories after they all have voted on certain constitutional amendments. Arizona is asked to resubmit the recall provision of its constitution, voting on an amendment which eliminates the judiciary. New Mexico is asked to vote on an amendment making its constitution more easily amendable. The joint resolution, reported by Chairman Flood of the committee on territories, will be called up later in the week. Inquiries and investigations also kept the members busy. Chairman Henry of the committee on rules was ready to call up the report providing for an inquiry into the United States Steel corporation and to report the recommendation of the Har-

60 YEARS MARRIED

Venerable Couple Celebrated a Notable Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Byrne, two well known and highly respected residents of this city, observed yesterday the 60th anniversary of their marriage, at their home, 382 Hildreth street. The event was a most joyous one, and the venerable couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts as well as a host of congratulations from their numerous friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Byrne were married in this city 60 years ago yesterday, the ceremony being performed at St. Patrick's church by the late Rev. John O'Brien. They made their home in this city and have lived here ever since, where they count a host of friends. From this marriage four children were born, three of whom are living, namely: Mrs. James Cassidy of North Billerica, Mrs. James Quinn and Mr. George F. Byrne of this city, as well as 10 grandchildren.

Mr. Byrne is 84 years of age, while his devoted partner is nearing the 80s. Despite their advanced age, they both enjoy the best of health.

BAY STATE MEN

To be Nominated for Bishop

PHILADELPHIA, May 9.—Three Massachusetts clergymen will be nominated for bishop coadjutor at the 27th annual convention of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Pennsylvania, which began here today in the church of St. Luke. The clergymen are Rev. Alexander Mann, rector of Trinity church, Boston; Prof. Philip Mercer-Rhinelander of the Episcopal theological school, Cambridge, and Rev. Edmund Rousmaniere, pastor of St. Paul's church, Boston. Each has a strong following in the convention and as the coadjutor, who will be chosen to succeed Bishop Mackay-Smith as head of the diocese, interest in the proceedings of the convention is intense. The names of the Massachusetts candidates will be presented by a nominating committee appointed a short time ago to consider the merits of those suggested for the coadjutorship. The election probably will take place tomorrow. The convention will also choose a suffragan bishop. Bishop Mackay-Smith came to Philadelphia from Washington, D. C. as coadjutor bishop and on the death of the bishop a short time ago became head of the diocese. His illness, however, forced him to resign. He suggested that a coadjutor and suffragan be chosen and the resignation become effective at the end of a year.

ORPHANS' OUTING

Outings Held in Previous Years Have Been Greatly Appreciated by the Orphans of Local Institutions—Other Automobile News

It is impossible to imagine the joy that automobile outings give to children—who after being housed up for the winter are given a long ride, a good dinner and an unrestrained frolic in an amusement park or pleasure grove. It does one good to see so many hearts gladdened in this manner and its importance can only be judged by seeing the delight it brings to the unfortunate little ones.

It was only a few years ago that philanthropic citizens tendered their automobiles and also contributed funds in order to give the inmates of the different orphanages in the city outings at Long-Sought-For Pond in Westford, but for some reason or other none of these outings has been held of late.

There are enough of generous minded automobile owners in the city at the present time who would be willing to give the use of their machines for an afternoon in order to afford pleasure to some of the unfortunate children who have to depend upon others for the means to secure amusement.

Those who attended the different outings held in past years can realize that the orphans appreciated the gala days and would be delighted to have a chance this year to have an outing. Without doubt some of those who were interested in the former outings will entreat automobile owners and public spirited citizens to get together and make arrangements for an outing for the children.

W. W. Thibodeau has ordered a model K. 40-horse power, special Oakland touring car through the agency of the Moody-Bridge garage.

Charles B. Abbott is one of the latest to join the ranks of automobile enthusiasts. He recently got the fever and before many more hot days have passed he will be seen at the wheel of a model 24-horse power Oakland car.

The management of the Moody-Bridge garage reports good business during the past week. The demand for Oakland cars has resulted in a large order being sent to the factory despite the fact that two car loads of Oakland cars were delivered during the week.

Some owners and operators of automobiles seem to be under the impression that the highways were made for their individual use and that if a citizen is injured, he must not complain even if it wasn't his fault. Mere fines do not seem to have had much effect upon this class of criminality. It may be a few months in the county prison would have the desired effect. Where human life is taken, the severity of the maximum penalty of the law would probably have a healthy effect in rooting out this growing evil.

This automobile manufacturers who are not afraid to condemn the racing fever realize thoroughly the apprehension that all the attendant evils of the racing game bring upon the legitimate use of the motor car. They are fully alive to the fact that unless the speed mania is checked, drastic legislation will surely be enacted. Indeed, indications of this fact are already seen in several bills recently introduced into the legislatures of some of the eastern states toward curtailing the maximum speed limit now permitted on the highway.

Charles P. Walker and Charles D. Jeffrey of the E. R. Thomas Motor Co., who are on a missionary tour through New England, arrived in Lowell yesterday in a model M. 6-40 Thomas Flyer and will remain in this city today and tomorrow.

The purpose of bringing the machine to this city is to demonstrate to the public the many good qualities of the long-stroke, large-valve motor for which the Thomas Flyer is famous. Yesterday and today many Lowell people were given demonstrations of the excellent qualities of the car and those who are interested in automobiles and desire a demonstration can secure one by communicating with Mr. Walker, who is making his headquarters at the Waverly hotel.

One of the best assets of the Thomas Flyer is that it develops 60 horse power on the brake. In conjunction with six cylinders they almost remove the necessity for transmission gears and enable the car to run practically all the time on high gear without changing gears. It is possible for the driver to operate his car through the crowded traffic of city streets.

In climbing a hill, with many cars it is necessary to keep shifting the levers for a lower speed or else making a breakneck start in order to travel over the grade on high, but in order to show how easily the Thomas Flyer can travel up grade, Mr. Jeffrey practically stopped his car at the beginning of Third street hill and then with comparative ease and without shifting from the high gear, climbed the hill and then asked if there were any other hills to climb.

"Nothing like service," is the motto of the Thomas company, and the Boston branch of the company, at 915 Boylston street is equipped in such a manner that customers always have the benefit of the experience of the men in charge of the different departments. Mr. George Schuster, who was around the Thomas Flyer around the world and defeated every other competitor, is at the head of the technical department in Boston.

Arthur G. Beharrell who recently moved to the City Hall garage in Moody street in order to take care of his increasing business has one of the best equipped garages in the city. With plenty of store room, a machine shop fitted out with the latest machinery for use in connection with the repairing of automobiles and expert mechanics, he is now in a position to take care of his many customers.

Harry Pitts of Hurd street has been interesting local automobilists in a self-starter which can be attached to any automobile and which obviates the use of the crank.

Arthur J. Cummings of the Moody-Bridge garage has sold a model 33 Oakland automobile to George W. Peasley of Shirley, Mass.

The automobile fire patrol was delivered to the city a year ago last month and has given general satisfaction and the cost of upkeep has been large compared with the service rendered. Chief Hosmer is a firm believer in the self-propelled apparatus and is of the opinion that the use of the automobile will solve the problem of combating with fires in the outlying districts of the city which will obviate the erecting of new fire houses in suburban districts.

Mrs. Julian Talbot of Nesmith street has purchased a seven passenger Oldsmobile Autocrat through the agency of the Lowell Automobile corporation.

Mr. E. N. Burke is one of the latest automobile enthusiasts and now enjoying rides in a five passenger 21 Buick car which was recently delivered to him through the agency of the Lowell Automobile corporation.

But, a visit to Indianapolis and the tremendous excitement that characterizes the race and the fact that his pride and pet, the Cole 30, was not entered made him disheartened.

"Mr. Cole," queried Endicott, "why isn't the Cole in the 500-mile race?" "Well, Bill," confessed Mr. Cole, "we were just waiting for you to come back."

It was a random shot but "Farmer Bill" was ready for the emergency and said: "I'm game, you furnish me the car and I'm your driver. That $10,000 looks good to me. It would buy another farm."

Negotiations were promptly closed. Mr. Cole decided that Endicott should drive a Cole special and "Farmer Bill" said that it ought to be called the Wizard. In addition to the Wizard, it was decided that a regular Cole 30 racer should also be entered in the 500-mile race.

Endicott did not go back to the farm. He telephoned for Mrs. Endicott to hire a farm hand and for her and the children to come to Indianapolis. "Farmer Bill" went into the racing shop at the Cole factory and quietly changed his clothes for his khaki racing suit still in his locker. It was not long before he had the various mechanical jumping about, getting the material ready for his big car.

The old happy smile of Bill's played around his face. He was like a school-boy. Brought all over from his farm work without a thought he would ever change his mind to come back to the racing game. Endicott had entered into the spirit of the occasion just as if it was only yesterday that he stepped out of the Cole racing camp and retired to the farm.

During the 1910 season Endicott won over $10,000 cash, with which he purchased a farm near Crawfordville, Ind. Among his prominent victories last year were a world's speed record at Los Angeles, a successful completion of two 24-hour races and winning the classic Massapequa trophy in the Vanderbilt cup race.

The Cole Wizard that Endicott is to drive in the 500-mile race has four cylinders and a 90 horsepower rating. "Yes, I am back," said Bill all smiles to the reporter. "I am going after the money in this big race. I have always wanted to make a big strike on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. It's right home for me. I have watched the Cole racing team this year in the Florida beach races and when they were out in Los Angeles, I had a twinge the other day that I would like to be with Johnny Jenkins in California. I admire that driver. He has great stuff in him. Will I drive after the Indianapolis race? Well, no, I'm going back to the farm. But then one day you can call on me and I'll give you a car it's hard to give up. It's pretty hard for you to get away from your game."

When asked about the Cole Wizard, Endicott said: "It's going to have four cylinders and it's going to be painted green—a good Irish green."

Dawson and Harroun Ready
The Marmon racing team is working out daily at the speedway in preparation for many of the greatest road and track events to be held this season. The first big race on the Marmon calendar will be the 500-mile race to be held on the 30th.

Practically the brunt of the entire season's racing will be borne by Joe Dawson, who won last season at the wheel of the record breaking yellow cars. In the Decoration Day race he will have Ray Harroun as his team-mate to pilot the six cylinder Marmon "Vasp."

Both of these drivers have gone into strenuous training for the big event and during the next few weeks will have their racing cars in daily practice. While the two drivers are the best of friends a spirit of good-natured rivalry has sprung up between them and on several occasions during practice they have matched their cars over short distances in speed trials.

Dawson believes that his new Marmon four cylinder car will be able to make better time over the 500 mile distance than the "Vasp," while Harroun has every faith in his rakish looking car and the remaining days of practice promise to be enlivened by many brushings between the team mates.

Harroun will drive the 500 miles of the big speed event alone without the assistance of a mechanic and his car is equipped with but one seat. He hopes to make the 500 miles without a stop, crossing the nation record from Dawson who drove his Marmon car to victory in the Savannah Trophy race of 277 miles without a stop.

JOHN W. THOMAS DEAD
ROCKLAND, Me., May 9.—John W. Thomas, for 17 years advertising manager of the Courier-Gazette, a weekly paper, formerly editor of the Rockport News and at one time owned by the Canton, Mass. Journal, died today. He was secretary of the board of trade and well known in Maine through his connection with the Maine music festival work. He was born at Canton, Mass., 45 years ago.

Edmond H. Mercier is spending a few days at the Stevens-Duryea factory in Chicopee Falls, Mass., having one of his machines tuned up.

Automobilists who have occasion to use the Pawtucket boulevard appreciate the fact that the oil used on the road for the automobile races a year ago last fall has kept the road in excellent condition and all dust is eliminated.

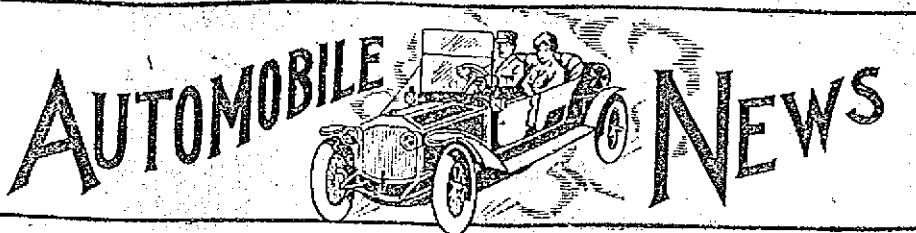

Mr. White, agent for the Reo, has received from the factory another delivery wagon, which is on exhibition at City Hall garage. This is of the 1500 lbs. capacity type, selling for $750, and all of those in use are giving the best of service.

"BILL" CAME BACK

"Farmer Bill" Endicott has come back. The glare and glamor that surrounds the big 500-mile race on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, May 30, was much for him to stay down on his farm at Crawfordville, Ind., and "Farmer Bill" is to drive the Cole 30 "Wizard" in the big race. J. J. Cole, president of the Cole Motor Car company, has entered the Cole Wizard for Endicott; also a regular Cole 30 racer, the driver of which is yet to be selected.

It was a huge surprise when "Farmer Bill" Endicott stepped into Mr. Cole's office and made known the fact that he was uncomfortable because the Cole was not to be run in the big race. It was only a few minutes' conversation that brought him back, temporarily, to be the head of the Cole racing organization and caused Mr. Cole to send him a check for $1000 to the speedway officials making the Cole entries officially numbers 42 and 43.

"Farmer Bill" has been arranging his spring farm duties in hope of a big crop for the coming season. He has kept away from automobile circles,

The war department will defray the expenses. It is said the leper will be sent aboard some sailing vessel.

ANDERSON HELD

Blames Arrest to a Perambulator

BOSTON, May 9.—George W. Anderson, 24 years old, who was arrested by inspectors Wolf and O'Neill of police headquarters on Saturday, and who was wanted by the Philadelphia police for the alleged embezzlement of $48 from the Paul Hirst Vacuum Cleaning company of that city, blames his arrest to his and his wife's attempt to obtain a perambulator that had been bought for their month-old child.

Last Thursday, Anderson, who was employed as a traveling salesman by the Philadelphia concern, disappeared suddenly leaving his accounts about $800 short. It is said Philadelphia detectives learned that Anderson and his wife had arranged to come to Boston to live with his grandmother on Washington street, near Northampton, and they further learned that he had arranged to have the perambulator shipped to his grandmother's house.

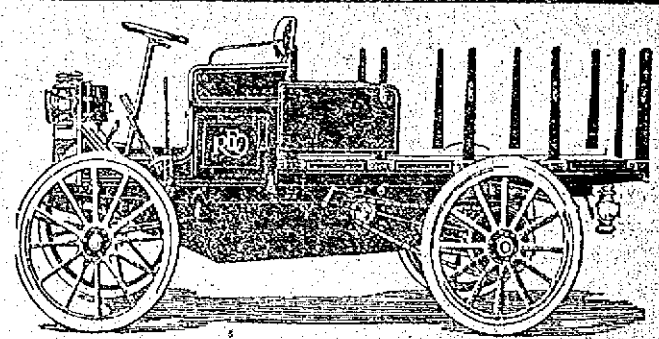

The destination of the carriages was telegraphed to Boston and Saturday the local officers made the arrest.

IN POLICE COURT TODAY'S STOCK MARKET MCGLONE WILL CASE

Varied List of Offenders Disposed of by Judge Hadley

Peter Kirsul was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with assault and battery on Emanuel Kanelopoulos in Davidson street last Sunday afternoon. From what could be inferred from the testimony offered during the hearing of the case it appeared that the defendant was out looking for trouble and when he saw several strangers in what he considered the territory of his nationality he thought it was up to him to take the initiative and drive the invaders out. The complainant testified that he was passing through Davidson street shortly before five o'clock Sunday afternoon when the defendant without any provocation whatsoever assaulted him on the back of the head. Patrolman Michael Lennon said he had been standing at the corner of East Merrimack and Davidson streets and saw the defendant strike a woman with a shoe and later saw him strike Kanelopoulos on the back of the head sending the latter into an alleyway. Cross-examined by Lawyer J. Joseph O'Connor, who appeared for the defendant, Patrolman Lennon said that he had been watching the defendant for he was under the impression that Kirsul was looking for trouble. No defense was offered and the court in considering the matter found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $12.

Drunken Offenders.
Patrick Fels, who spent several months recently at the state farm in Bridgewater, testified that he would do better in the future, but he failed to live up to his good resolutions and as a result of his thirst he was arrested yesterday and this morning when the court learned that he was on parole from the state farm ordered that he be returned to that institution.

George H. Moriarty was fined $6 and three first offenders were fined $2 each.

Assault and Battery
The aftermath of a party which was held at 100 Tilden street last Christmas was aired in police court this morning in the form of an assault and battery case in which John Pontes was the defendant and Maria Tulerence the complainant. Lawyer George Allard appeared for the complainant, and J. Jos. O'Connor for the defense. At the conclusion of the hearing of the case the court found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $10.

It appeared from the testimony offered that Pontes had been using rough-house tactics and during the course of the festivities at the party bounced a china cup off the head of one of the guests. The Tulerence girl remonstrated with Pontes with the result that the latter became angered and struck the former, and she immediately reported the matter to the police.

Alexis Discharged
James Alexis, charged with feloniously assaulting Annie D. Beaulieu, aged 14 years, was given a hearing in police court this morning at the conclusion of which he was found not guilty and discharged. Daniel J. Donahue appeared for the defendant.

According to the testimony offered by the government witnesses, the Beaulieu girl and a friend of the latter named Irene Russell left their homes in Sherbrooke, P. Q., recently and went to Manchester, N. H., and several days ago came to this city.

It was alleged that Alexis met the girls and engaged a room in a block in Merrimack street, stating to the matron that the girls had secured employment in one of the local mills and intended to go to work in a few days.

Owing to alleged peculiar actions the matron notified the police with the result that Alexis was arrested, and the two girls were also taken into custody.

During the course of the hearing Judge Hadley told the girls that they would not have to testify if they did not care to do so, and accordingly they decided not to testify.

After the government had rested its case counsel for the defendant asked the court to discharge the defendant inasmuch as the government had not proven its case, and Alexis was found not guilty and discharged.

STOCK MARKET

WAS HEAVY AT THE CLOSING HOUR TODAY.

Market Was Weakened By Scattered Selling—The Movement Had Little Significance However—Other Features of the Trading.

NEW YORK, May 9.—Trading on the stock exchange showed a tendency on the part of the active stocks to seek a lower level after the opening today although changes for the most part were slight. American Smelting and Virginia Carolina Chemical were the largest losers, dropping 5-8. Some of the semi-active issues made good gains, among them being Can. Pac. which advanced 1 1/4, and Western Maryland, which gained a point. Manhattan moved up 1 1/2.

The bulk of the business of the first hour was accomplished within a range of a quarter of a point, which illustrates the narrowness of the market. The early tendency favored a lower level but there was a sufficient demand for various specialties to impart a slight degree of irregularity to the dealings. All of the fertilizer stocks showed renewed symptoms of heaviness and there was a decided curtailment of yesterday's inquiry for the American Can. issues. The list was advancing all round at 11 o'clock.

Appearance of a fairly large demand, chiefly from professional traders, strengthened the stock market today and after a period of indecision early in the session prices rose. The movement, however, resulted in only small gains and the bull-leaders were unable to command much of a following. U. S. Steel was absorbed freely and crossed 75 and there were also slight fractional gains in other recognized leaders. Speculation, increased in some low priced stocks in which there is a community of interest such as Erie and Southern railroad. Bonds were dull and steady.

Business of an extremely professional character and the familiar expedient of bidding up particular stocks did not arouse any appreciable increase in outside interest. The rise in the standard stocks terminated after midday but there were no recessions of consequence.

St. Paul, which had been depressed during the forenoon and had not been dealt in subsequently when the market rallied, sold at 120 1/2, making an unusually wide spread between transactions for an active stock. Railroad shares were generally firmer with quite an inquiry prevailing for the Hill stocks.

The market closed heavy. Scattered selling weakened the market in the last session, but the movement had little significance, representing mostly the realization of the slight profits accruing on the day's advance.

5000 OPERATIVES

IN FALL RIVER MILL GO ON SHORT TIME

FALL RIVER, May 9.—The Amn. Printing Co. has been quite a heavy buyer of various print cloths for two days, buying of mills here, elsewhere in New England and in the south. The purchases amounted to about half a million pieces. Until they had secured all the goods wanted, M. C. D. Borden, brokers, kept their transactions very quiet. The goods purchased were: 28-inch, 64-68 at 3 1/2 cents; 27-inch, 64-68 at 3 1/8 cents; 27-inch, 66-68 at 2 1/2 cents and 27-inch, 66-68 at 2 1/4 cents. Deliveries are to extend ten weeks. Mr. Borden can buy goods cheaper than he can make them at his Fall River Iron Works Co. mills. Those mills are to be shut down alternate weeks until the curtailment equals the amount of goods purchased, probably six weeks. Over five thousand operatives will be affected.

MCGLONE WILL CASE

Judge Lawton Finds in Favor of the Will

Will of Michael McGlone, Formerly of Billerica, Was Contested by His Nephew, Charles P. Smith, of This City

Judge Lawton in the case of Charles P. Smith, petitioner, to break the will of the late Michael McGlone which was heard in the probate court in Cambridge last Wednesday and Thursday, today rendered his decision, the court finding for and allowing the will.

Michael McGlone was formerly a resident of Billerica but subsequently and up to the time of his death resided with his sister, Mrs. Margaret Reidy of Cambridge. His will, Mr. McGlone made his sister, Margaret, the beneficiary to his entire estate, which includes valuable property in North Billerica. The provisions of the will were acceptable to a brother and another sister, but a contest was made by Charles P. Smith of this city, a nephew, who claimed undue influence and testamentary incapacity. Judge Lawton at the time reserved his decision and made his report this morning. Messrs. Pratt and Devine appeared for the petitioner and Thomas J. Enright for the will.

The weather conditions for fishing at Sebago Lake, much improved this morning and although the wind was a fairly strong breeze blowing from the west it was not too strong for the anglers to try their luck at salmon. The wind which had been creating such havoc with the hopes of the fishermen for the past three days subsided yesterday afternoon and the lake assumed the appearance of a mill pond. The opportunity for which the sportsmen had been anxiously awaiting was seized upon and many handsome salmon were brought ashore at the close of the afternoon's trolling.

"The latest report from the Sebago river is that the smelts are still coming out of the rivers but the salmon are not biting well."

"I landed a seven and one-half, and a six and one-half pound salmon yesterday."

AN EXPLOSION

In Lacquer Department of the Stanley Works

Two Persons Injured and the Damage Amounted to $50,000—Solid Iron Castings Torn From a Brick Wall—Injured Men Burned About the Face and the Body

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., May 9.—Two persons were injured and damage to the extent of $50,000 resulted from the explosion in the lacquer department of the Stanley works here today. Gases contained in a condenser connected with one of the large lacquer machines ignited, causing an explosion which tore three solid iron castings from a brick wall near the machine and hurled them across a space of 200 feet against the wall of another factory building, where they fell a tangled mass. Windows were smashed and a brick wall fourteen inches thick was bulging out. Fire followed the explosion but was confined to the lacquer room, which was fire-proofed and was extinguished in a short time. The injured were the foreman, Walter Broadley, and a workman, Paul Kulmacs, both of whom are burned about the face and body. The injuries, however, are not thought to be serious.

James Moore of 87 Summer street, aged 23 years, was removed to the Emergency hospital this morning, suffering from a bad laceration of the left shinbone. The accident happened today while Moore was at his work for Ziskind, the metal dealer. He was busy breaking old iron, when a piece of the metal struck him on the leg.

LOAN BUSINESS

BOSTON, May 9.—The investigation by the legislature of the small loan business was opened yesterday morning before the committee on banks and banking. Ex-Representative Richard W. Hale and Attorney H. L. Brown appeared for the assignment of wages committee of the Boston chamber of commerce. They said that the chamber did not care to recommend any particular legislation, but would be able to furnish plenty of witnesses.

Percy W. Withersall of W. P. Withersall & Co., grocers, was the first witness. He told of a man in his employ who borrowed $10 and gave four notes of $3 each carrying 6 per cent. interest and a fine of $25 if not paid. After the man had paid $9 he was told he still owed $28.

Other witnesses sustained the assertions that exorbitant interest charges had been made. A man who wished to have his name suppressed said he had borrowed money from a Washington street lender, and testified that he had been obliged to repay $99 for the first loan of $75. He testified that later he had been obliged to borrow money from the same man to pay the funeral expenses of his brother, amounting to $242. He said he had already repaid $300, and that the lender claims that he still owes $110.

Moses Jacobs of 295 Beach street, Revere, testified that he borrowed $100 from Bornstein, 203 Washington street; that he had paid $175 and still owed $180, according to Bornstein.

The hearing was continued until next Thursday morning.

FR. MCGUINNESS

Assigned to Church in Brockton

Rev. James J. McGuinness, who for several months has been stationed at St. Peter's church, has been transferred to St. Margaret's church, Brockton, by His Grace, Archbishop O'Connell. Rev. Fr. McGuinness came to St. Peter's immediately after his ordination during the illness of Rev. W. George Mullin, and in a short space of time endeavored himself to all the parishioners. In the welfare of the boys of the parish, particularly the young priest took a great interest, and they will miss him, for he was wont to participate in their games and counsel them at all times. As a preacher, he was eloquent and instructive, and St. Margaret's parish in Brockton gains while St. Peter's parish loses the services of a faithful worker in the cause of the church.

Rev. Fr. Kelleher of Brockton has been transferred to the pastorate of St. Mary's church in Newton, while Rev. A. J. Hamilton of Ashland is assigned to the Brockton parish.

DAVID NEAL'S PAINTING "THE RIALTO"

At a meeting of the library trustees held yesterday afternoon, it was voted that the attendants at the library be authorized, beginning on Wednesday, to receive subscriptions from all who care to contribute toward the purchase of David Neal's beautiful picture, "The Rialto," now on exhibition at the public library.

The original price of the picture was $1200, but the artist reduced the price to $1000, thus contributing $200 himself and simply because the prospective purchaser is his native city.

The family of the late D. Ogden Mills of New York has contributed $300 to help the work along and there remains but $700 to be raised by popular subscription.

It is thought that with another subscription for the receipt of money to be opened down town—perhaps at Dows' drug store—the $700 will be had in a short time.

The organization committee will be composed of the presidents of the different committees with Rev. Fr. McGuinness as president. A meeting of the presidents of the different committees will take place next Sunday at the church, when final arrangements will be made to go along with the work.

GENERAL ELECTION

May be Ordered in Canada Before Christmas

Government Will Appeal if Opposition Continues to Block Reciprocity—Estimates of $19,000,000 Made for Railroads

OTTAWA, Ont., May 9.—There will be a general election in Canada before Christmas if the opposition clings to its avowed intention of obstructing reciprocity after the parliamentary adjournment is ended, according to a high government official.

The great stumbling blocks in the way of an election now are the enforced absence of Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the coronation and the fact that the Canadian West will be under-represented in parliament until there has been a redistribution of electoral divisions, which cannot be made until the census has been completed. The census figures will be available in October. If at that time the opposition is still obstructing reciprocity, it is said a redistribution bill will be given precedence in the house over reciprocity, and as soon as it is through there will be an election.

Though the government declares it can win hands down with reciprocity as the issue, the opposition will likely have a good deal more than that issue to fight. There will be a progressive railway policy, which will include the extension of the intercolonial by the building of new branches and the acquisition of existing branch lines, the construction of the Hudson Bay railway and a guarantee of bonds to enable the Canadian Northern to span the gap north of the Great Lakes and by linking its eastern and western systems, to become a transcontinental line.

totaling $17,000,000 provide for the construction of six intercolonial branch lines and $2,000,000 with which to commence the Hudson Bay railway. There will likely be a declaration that the government feels a start should at once be made with both the Georgian Bay canal and the enlargement of the Welland canal.

Finally the people of Canada are likely to be asked to declare for or against a reasonable closure being adopted in the house of commons so that no opposition will hereafter be able to carry obstructive tactics to such an unreasonable degree that the minority has the appearance of running parliament. If closure is proposed provision will be made that no government can use it arbitrarily, but opportunity will be given under the rules for the fullest discussion of every question that comes up. However, absolute obstruction will be made impossible.

The government, it is understood, would welcome the opportunity of having the country pronounce upon all of these questions, and would be pleased if the opposition would keep on talking until there is a chance of redistribution and election.

New Store FOR RENT

The beautiful new double-deck store, No. 44 Central street, is now ready for occupancy and is offered for rent.

The store consists of a first and second floor with basement, affording over 6000 square feet of floor space, with entrances on Central and Prescott streets.

Modern display windows, fronting on each street, are provided on the first and second floors; the upper show windows on the Central street front following the latest metropolitan plan, are dropped low enough to display goods so as to be seen from the sidewalk.

The interior of the store is high-posted and finished in a most artistic manner and equipped with the latest devices for attractive electrical lighting and display effects.

The centre of the store is lighted from the sky by a huge dome of pleasing design and equipped with a vacuum ventilator which automatically changes the air on all floors and keeps it fresh and healthful.

Electrical base plugs at convenient intervals on every floor. All openings piped for both gas and electricity. Modern steam heating equipment. Maple floors and ash finish throughout the store.

Entrances to the store from both streets are at level of sidewalk without steps. The basement is lighted by the largest and finest walk lights in the city. Toilet rooms for men and women with perfect ventilation and modern fixtures.

Street cars pass the entrances on both streets, and the unobstructed light which reaches the Central street windows from Middle street affords daylight long after other stores in the vicinity are lighted up.

The Rent Is Low

Considering the fact that the store fronts on two busy streets and is in the very centre of the shopping district, and that both entrances are within a few steps of Merrimack square, the rent is exceptionally low, being much less per square foot than is charged for any equally well located property in Lowell.

For further particulars apply at the office of The Lowell Sun.

MEDICAL EXPERTS

Their Opinions Read at Trial of the Camorristi Today

VITERBO, Italy, May 9.—Gennaro Abbatemaggio, the informer who has experienced a trying ordeal in confronting for several days those whom he accused as principals in the murder of Gennaro Cuocolo and his wife, was unable to appear when the trial of the camorristi was resumed today. In his absence the morning sitting was taken up with a reading of the opinions of medical experts who examined the bodies of the murdered ones. The experts found forty-seven wounds on the body of Cuocolo and 13 on that of his wife. Death was due to dagger thrusts delivered in such a manner as to leave triangular scars. Abbatemaggio has testified that the greater number of the knife blows were inflicted by Corrado Sortino. The physicians expressed the opinion that if this were true, Sortino's clothing need not necessarily have been covered with blood and that he might have gone from the scene of the assassinations by train to Naples without attracting particular attention. This testimony appeared to make a great impression on those in the courtroom.

TO AFFILIATE WITH A. F. OF L.

BOSTON, May 9.—Following the presentation of numerous resolutions, the convention of the Bartenders' International League, which includes cooks and waiters, instructed all local unions throughout the country to affiliate with the state branches of the American Federation of Labor. This action was along the lines of the recommendations of General President Sullivan in his annual report. The convention also suggested the formation of state and district branches of the local unions in this country and Canada.

The delegates were addressed by officers of Boston trade unions at the afternoon session, following which they joined in a number of excursions about the city.

Fall River presented a rather crippled lineup in the game with Lowell at Spaulding park this afternoon but inferior playing on the part of the Lowell team in the second inning gave the visitors a lead of four runs and some encouragement.

Martini, pitcher for Fall River, had to play in the right garden owing to the illness of Bowcock.

Yount was on the slab for Lowell, and Spring was on the receiving end of the battery. Fall River's battery was made up of Plum and Perkins.

There were about 500 fans in attendance and when Empire Staffed called the game at 3:15 o'clock the batting order of the teams was as follows:

Lowell
Moulton, 2b
Barrows, cf
Conney, ss
Magee, lf
Fluharty, rf
Wright, 1b
Boultes, 3b
Spring, c
Yount, p
Duval, p

Fall River

2b, Weaver
cf, Devine lf, Williams
rf, Hickman

p, Plum

First Inning
Neither side scored in the first inning. Flynn and Weaver fell victims to Yount's twirling and were retired on strikes while Devine hit to Moulton and was out at first.

In the latter half of the inning Moulton hit to Flynn and died at first and Barrows followed with a single over second base and then stole second but he died there for Conney failed to Devine and Magee struck out.

Second Inning
Three bases on balls given by Yount, two errors, one by Conney and the other by Fluharty and a little hit were responsible for the visitors scoring four runs in the second inning. Williams drew a free pass and Hickman was also given a chance to walk to first. Martini hit to Yount, forcing Williams at third. Walsh hit to Conney forcing Martini at second but Hickman scored on the play. Perkins drew a free pass. Plum singled to right field and Fluharty hit the ball through him with the result that Walsh and Perkins scored. Plum advanced a base on the throw home. Flynn hit to Conney and the latter fumbled but he was thrown out by Magee while trying to steal. Fluharty hit to Flynn and was out at first. Wright and Boultes singled but Spring fled to Flynn and Yount foul fled to Walsh.

Magee went out on strikes. Fluharty hit to the right field fence and Barrows and Conney scored. Fluharty tried to make three bases and was nailed. Wright was third out on a fly to Devine.

P. S. You are urgently invited to attend the next public meeting of the league, Monday evening May 22d, at the Y. M. C. A. when Mr. George J. Anderson, a newspaper man of Boston, will speak on "The Bar and Bottle License Vote Last Fall in Defense of a Practically Unrestrained License Policy." This shows how important it is to keep the license vote as low as possible. For several years the league steadily reduced this vote, but last year, when it was inactive because crippled by lack of funds, the vote jumped to one of the highest figures the city ever recorded.

Now in view of these facts we earnestly solicit your membership in the league and a contribution to our fund—one or both. The league needs $2000, of which $700 should be used to settle its outstanding bills, and the remainder for new work. In consideration of the good work of the league in the past and the pressing need of a continuation of the work, we appeal to you with confidence. Please send your contribution to Mrs. Lilly A. Clark, treasurer, 653 Anderson street.

POLICE OFFICER

Needed On So. Common
Says Judge Pickman

Judge Pickman says that much of what Mr. Corbett says about disorder on the South common is true, but it is mainly due to the lack of police protection. The park board has no money to expend for police protection and the police department says it cannot afford to put an officer up there. The presence of an officer would remedy most of the evils of which Mr. Corbett complains and an officer is absolutely needed on the South common, says Judge Pickman.

THE FARMERS

ENTER A PROTEST AGAINST RECIPROITY BILL

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Representatives of the farming interests appeared again today before the senate finance committee in opposition to the reciprocity bill. Marchand, the Rhode Island grange; and Richard Patten, the New Hampshire grange.

GENERAL ATTACK

Was Made on the City of Juarez, Mexico

General Madero Confident of an Early Insurrecto Victory—Bullets Poured Into El Paso—U. S. Troops Kept the Sightseers From the Riverfront

EL PASO, Texas, May 9.—A general engagement between the revolutionary forces of General Madero and the federals under General Navarro at Juarez started today under a burning sun. The entire rebel army had broken camp during the night and up to noon today were rapidly swarming into town. The prospects of a rebel success were dependent on the ability of the federals to use 21 machine guns within the town.

The insurgents, it was reported, had silenced some of them but this report had verification only in the fact that the rebels were not shelling the insurgents as extensively in the last few hours as they did earlier in the morning.

General Madero admitted today that he had given his consent to a general attack on Juarez but explained that various circumstances had precipitated it. He declared that reports which had reached him were that the federals had opened fire and that the men who had been reported at revolting against his leadership had pursued them on their own accord and could not be quelled by the council of his chiefs, who advised a general attack and though he made an effort to arrange an armistice, it failed because of the progress the attack already made. All of the leaders had been acting under Madero's orders. They have surrounded Juarez with their men and prospects this noon were that the battle would continue throughout the day without any decisive turn.

General Madero was at his headquarters receiving the reports from the front and with him were the various political chiefs, confident of an insurrecto victory.

Efforts of go-betweens to stop the fighting failed because of the difficulty of handling insurgents who already had entered Juarez. General Navarro would have consented to an armistice if the insurgents had evacuated the town, and he told this to General Madero over the telephone early today but the rebel chief by this time had given orders for a general attack to reinforce the 200 men who had forced their way into Juarez despite the federal trenches, barricades and outposts.

Bullets poured into El Paso after the attack began at 4:30 a. m. but the United States troops kept snipers three blocks away from the river front. Privates Emilio Garcia and Patrick Cassidy of the American legion with the insurgents came to El Paso this morning to get food. They stated that 15 Americans already had been killed and wounded and that the rebel losses would reach 150 killed and wounded and that the federal loss was more than double that amount.

In one trench I counted 47 federals and in another 35. They were stripped of most of their clothing," said Cassidy. He added that when the attack started yesterday there were probably 150 insurgents and that no reinforcements came until last evening.

Cassidy also said that Villareal had arrived from Ojinaga with reinforcements and two pieces of artillery. One, he said, was the famous "McGinly" stolen from El Paso.

At the Madero headquarters a report was received from the front that federal cavalry had evacuated Juarez and were proceeding south toward Nauche.

Efforts of go-betweens to stop the fighting failed because of the difficulty of handling insurgents who already had entered Juarez. General Navarro would have consented to an armistice if the insurgents had evacuated the town, and he told this to General Madero over the telephone early today but the rebel chief by this time had given orders for a general attack to reinforce the 200 men who had forced their way into Juarez despite the federal trenches, barricades and outposts.

Bullets poured into El Paso after the attack began at 4:30 a. m. but the United States troops kept snipers three blocks away from the river front. Privates Emilio Garcia and Patrick Cassidy of the American legion with the insurgents came to El Paso this morning to get food. They stated that 15 Americans already had been killed and wounded and that the rebel losses would reach 150 killed and wounded and that the federal loss was more than double that amount.

In one trench I counted 47 federals and in another 35. They were stripped of most of their clothing," said Cassidy. He added that when the attack started yesterday there were probably 150 insurgents and that no reinforcements came until last evening.

Cassidy also said that Villareal had arrived from Ojinaga with reinforcements and two pieces of artillery. One, he said, was the famous "McGinly" stolen from El Paso.

Colonel Garibaldi is in command of the so-called "American legion" of insurgents. The rebels have poured a stream of sharpshooters and solid shot into the city. One of the guns is manned by United States and French artillerymen.

An American insurgent named Anderson attempted to cross the Santa Fe bridge to El Paso but was driven back by the American troops.

Mrs. Josefa Garcia and her young son were the persons shot early today, the former receiving a wound in her neck.

The cannonading continued slowly. The rebels used their machine guns sparingly, while the federals poured their shells into the insurgents' outposts.

Early this morning Col. Stever, in charge of the United States troops, issued orders not to permit any provisions to be taken

STATETREASURER

Refuses to Give Books to Expert

BOSTON, May 9.—Appearing with two assistants at the office of State Treasurer Edward A. Stevens, as he had said he would, Harvey S. Chase, the expert employed by Gov. Ross, was virtually ejected from the office yesterday.

Atty. Gen. James M. Swift was called into the controversy to determine whether Mr. Chase has authority to call again for documents which he wants to examine. Until his opinion is given the books will not be surrendered to the expert.

At 3 o'clock Mr. Chase and his assistants, Messrs. Tuttle and Oakley, entered the state treasurer's office. They were informed by Mr. Bridge, assistant to the treasurer, that only Mr. Chase was to be admitted, according to orders of Treasurer Stevens.

While this explanation was being made Mr. Chase pressed on into the inner office. Treas. Stevens, who was signing checks, looked up in surprise.

Mr. Chase said that he had come, just as he had said Saturday that he would, to make an examination of the office.

"I have nothing to say to you at this moment," said Mr. Stevens. Stenographers were called, and Mr. Stevens dictated a statement to Mr. Chase, in which he said he doubted the expert's authority to re-examine the books and announced his intention to submit the whole matter to the attorney general before allowing him to proceed further. Mr. Chase then left the office.

Commenting upon the incident, Mayor Fitzgerald said: "What would have happened a couple of years ago if I had refused to allow the finance commission to examine the books at city hall? Why, the hall would have been mobbed and a posse of police stationed about the building to see that I did not escape with the city's funds. As for the newspapers, they would have lashed themselves into maddest over my act. The whole thing only goes to show how differently things are handled at the state house and at city hall."

WOOD'S BIG SALE

It has been practically settled that the long talked of improvements on the Hamilton site in Central street are to be made. If rumor has it right, Mr. George H. Wood, who has been for more than a quarter of a century on the premises as a tenant in one of the Hamilton block stores and has been one of the most interesting business men in Lowell, as he has two very large wholesale and retail jewelry shops, one on Merrimack street and one at his old home on Central street, must vacate. The rebuilding of this property will make it necessary for him to vacate the premises until such time as the new building is constructed, and it behooves him to have his show windows trimmed with an endless variety of beautiful and up-to-date articles such as are carried in a thoroughly up-to-date jewelry store.

Mr. Wood cannot get out in a day or a week or a month without sustaining a great loss financially, and as the project is now considered a reality he at once will start to inaugurate a sale that will be greater in its value to the purchasing public than an auction would be as he intends to place without limit or reserve any and every article in his mammoth stock of both stores almost at the mercy of the trading public.

Any reasonable offer for these goods will not be refused.

The six large windows are filled with a beautiful variety of articles varying in size, price and value from a stick pin to a diamond of the first water, also gold, silver, china, cut glass, clocks, watches and an almost endless variety of useful and ornamental articles. It does seem that it would be impossible for prudent persons to read this special announcement without realizing that it meant a wonderful saving to them to take advantage of the wonderful offers in merchandise. A short time ago Mr. Wood conducted a bundle sale and in a very few days he disposed of nearly 6000 bundles of a miscellaneous collection of articles that were when opened marvelous values for the price asked, namely, 25 cents. It may seem an exaggerated statement, but, nevertheless, it is true that some of these bundles contained more than ten times the price asked, but they went just the same.

This removal sale will take place within a short time, and Mr. Wood will again treat the public to a brief bundle sale having had a few hundred left over, and he intends to add a limited number more, and people should get their eye on his advertisement in The Sun, which will announce when it will take place. The regular stock is on sale at present in the stores. A word to the wise should be sufficient. Don't fail to give this announcement special consideration, and go at once and select what you desire.

"JOE" CHRISTO

Is Entered in Several Big Races

"Joe" Christo, the well known long distance runner, is preparing for a busy season on the track and is in hopes of adding a few more prizes to his present collection. He has been booked to appear in races in Lowell, Boston, Haverhill and elsewhere during the next few months.

Christo since his entry in the racing game, has met with great success, his staving qualities in a race being demonstrated each time he entered. This was never more forcibly demonstrated than in the B. A. A. Marathon on Patriots day, for while he did not finish in the prize-winning limit, he nevertheless completed the course, leaving behind some of the crack runners of the east. Joe's ambition is to win a Marathon race, and his friends feel that some day Lowell will have the honor of welcoming him home as the winner of the Boston Marathon.

CARS COLLIDED

Twelve Persons Were Injured In Crash at Westwood

WESTWOOD, May 9.—A dozen persons, four of them women, were injured when a special open electric car of the Old Colony street railway ran into the rear end of a large car, opposite Westwood park, shortly before 6 last night, when its brakes failed to work properly. The injured persons are:

Miss Hazel Frye of Washington street, Westwood; rendered unconscious and sustained numerous bruises and a severe shaking up; taken to her home.

John Nebroy, 15 Tremont street, Norwood; both legs broken; taken to Norwood and later removed to Massachusetts general hospital.

Thomas Tully, Washington street, Dedham; arm cut; taken home.

Mrs. Thomas H. O'Toole, Norwood; shaken up; taken home.

Mrs. Andrew S. Hanson, Norwood; shaken up; taken home.

Mrs. Edward D. Baldus, 334 Railroad avenue, Norwood; shaken up; taken home.

Michael Duffy, Norwood; shaken up; taken home.

The large semiconvertible car, carrying many passengers, was bound for East Walpole and had made a stop opposite Westwood park, after passing the local car barns, to allow Miss Hazel Frye to board it. Miss Frye had just stepped inside the door when a special open car, running without passengers, crashed into the rear end of the forward car.

The vestibule of the semiconvertible was demolished and several men who were standing in it were thrown inside the car striking Miss Frye. She was knocked down and rendered unconscious. She was removed to her home nearby, where it was found that she had received numerous painful bruises.

The dashboard of the electric car was crushed, injuring James Brann, the motorman who was operating it. The injured persons were treated by various doctors of this town, Dedham and Norwood. When the open car came bowling along toward the semiconvertible, it was stated last night, Motorman Brann attempted to apply the brakes, but they failed to work.

The conductor of the open car was Richard O'Flaherty of Walpole. The semiconvertible car was in charge of Ruel Fulton of Norwood, conductor, and Thomas Mahoney of Norwood, motorman.

Health and Beauty Notes

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

Edith: No, I do not believe in "dry shampoos." If you were going to wash your face, would you think of rubbing powder on it? When you shampoo, ask your hairdresser for a canthrox shampoo or buy the canthrox shampoo at home by preparing a tea-shampoo at home by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox in a cup of hot water. The cleansing lather of this shampoo will remove the excess oil and all dirt and dandruff from the scalp pores. Your hair will rinse easily and dry quickly. This is the most beneficial shampoo I have ever used. It is very refreshing to an itching scalp and makes the hair very soft, silky and so fluffy there will seem to be twice as much of it. You will find nothing better than this shampoo for promoting a clean, healthy condition of the hair and scalp. It is not expensive and will not cause the hair to become dull and streaky like soap shampoos do.

W. M.: Your dull, weak, expressionless eyes can be made clear, beautiful and sparkling by putting in each eye twice daily a few drops of a tonic made by dissolving an ounce of crystals in a pint of cold water. This inexpensive tonic is very soothing and strengthening to weak, tired and inflamed eyes. Oculists find it excellent for treating granulated lids and eye troubles generally. Its strengthening properties make it a great aid to those who wear glasses.

Mrs. G. K.: You may be able to reduce your weight simply by exercising and dieting, but you can easily hasten the reduction with the following: Dissolve four ounces of paraffin in one and one-half pints hot water; when cold strain out the sediment; take a tablespoonful of the liquid before each meal and you will find it a splendid dissolver of fatty tissues that will not yield to other remedies. It is harmless, inexpensive and has restored many to their former slender figures and given sure relief from the burden of being too fat.

M. R. C.: A good, inexpensive lotion to take away that shiny, oily, sallow look to your complexion can be prepared at small cost as follows: Dissolve four ounces of salicylic acid in one-half pint hot water; when cool add two teaspoonfuls glycerine and apply to the skin, rubbing gently with the fingers until white and healthy. Your skin without leaving that powdered look. You will find this lotion far better than powder, as it not only gives your face a fresh, youthful tint, but does not rub off or show like powder. I find it excellent for preventing and removing freckles, skin pimples and a protection to the skin from the sun and wind. Do not use powder on your face if you want your complexion to remain smooth and free from that mottled look.

Martha: If you have any fears of becoming bald, now is the time to save your hair. By getting one-half pint alcohol and one ounce quinine in a pint cold water you will have the finest remedy imaginable for dandruff and falling, lifeless hair. Rub this tonic into the scalp twice a week and you will soon see a wonderful improvement in your hair. It will take on a healthy color and become glossy and abundant. This tonic is not sticky and will instantly relieve scalp itching. I know of many hairdressers who use this tonic exclusively and with fine results. It is equally good for both light and dark hair.

Mrs. C. K.: For that tired, worn-out feeling you need a good tonic to build up your strength, energy and appetite. Remove from your blood those impurities which cause pimples, sallowness and other skin troubles. You can prepare at home an inexpensive, beneficial tonic as follows: Dissolve one-half cup sugar and one ounce quinine in one-half pint alcohol, then add hot water to make a full quart. Take a teaspoonful before each meal. I cannot recommend this tonic too highly as a reliable spring medicine. It will give you new life and ambition and turn your plump, sallow complexion into a new, fresh one. For stimulating the organs of the body to normal action you will find this simple, old-fashioned tonic just grand.

Mrs. N. C.: Even at your age of 10 there can be no good excuse for your complexion not looking just as smooth, fresh and plump as it did 15 years ago. I want you to try a cream-lily that I have found very fine for clearing up a dark, rough, wrinkled skin. You can make it yourself by dissolving an ounce of almond oil in one-half pint of alcohol, then add two teaspoonfuls glycerine, stir and let stand over night before using. Apply this to your face and you will soon find those large, collecting pores smaller, your blackheads and wrinkles gone and your complexion clear and bright. As a skin beautifier I have never seen its equal and I know you will like it.

Betty: A simple paste made with powdered delatone and water will rid your face of those unsightly hairs. Get an ounce of delatone from the drug gist and with a little water mix some to form a paste, then spread on hairy surface and after removing two or three minutes rub off and wash the skin. Delatone costs a dollar an ounce, but it does the work quickly.

May: Faded blonde hair can be restored to its former gloss and brilliancy if you shampoo thoroughly and dry, and then wash with marlar and dry again and dry. You will find marlar quite harmless, but it soon changes faded blonde hair to its former rich shade and softness.

BIG LOAN ORDER

Voted For Macadam Paving

A $35,000 loan order for the paying of the following streets was recommended by the street committee last night.

Belvidere, Knapp avenue, $4750; Summit street, $1325; Stackpole street, $2000; and Massena street from Westworth avenue to Parkview avenue, $925.

Centralville: Lilley avenue, from West Sixth street to Lakeview avenue, $2350; Dalton street, from Lilley avenue to Ennell street, $800; West Sixth street, from Ennell street to Lakeview avenue, $2350.

Otis street, from Moore street to angle, $1075; North street, $375; and Bourne street, from Andrew street to angle, $375.

Washington street, $3000.

Pawtucketville: Moody street, from bridge to Sixth avenue, $3550; and Riverside street, from Moody street to Bodwell avenue, $4850.

The total amount of the estimates is $30,175.

In drafting the order, however, it was decided to make it a round $35,000, so that the oil, if it was later desired to have it, could be purchased.

The order for the paving of Alken street from Hall street to the bridge, came up. It was voted to recommend that the street be repaved with granite blocks, to be recut and placed on the present base at a cost of $6500.

Alderman Connors asked about Elm street, and was told that the matter would receive the consideration of the committee at the next meeting.

Supl. Putnam wanted to know about changing over the body of his automobile, so that it might accommodate the members of the various committees which might use it. He said it would cost about $300 to change it over, but he wanted the recommendation of the committee before going ahead. It was voted to recommend.

Adjourned.

Only Sober Men Wanted

Competition is too keen and life is too strenuous for an employer to keep on his payroll men who are not in mental or physical condition to perform their duties. Every line of business is closing its doors to "drinking men." If you are a drinking man, it may be your time next. Better stop drinking at once. Orrine, the standard remedy for the liquor habit, will help you. By the aid of Orrine thousands of men have been restored to lives of sobriety and industry, hence they have become worth more to their employers, and best of all they've made their loved ones happier.

Orrine is a simple home treatment. No loss of time from work while you are taking it. Start today. You will be surprised at the results. We are so sure that Orrine will benefit you that if after a trial you fail to get any benefit from its use, we will give you money back.

ORRINE is prepared in two forms. No. 1, secret treatment, a powder, absolutely tasteless and odorless, given secretly in food or drink. ORRINE No. 2, in pill form, is for those who desire to take voluntary treatment. ORRINE costs only $1.00 a box. Write for Free Orrine Booklet (enclosed in plain sealed envelope) to ORRINE MEDICANT, Orrine Building, Washington, D. C. Orrine is recommended and is for sale in thirty by R. H. Jones Drug Co., 119-123 Merrimack street.

THE BOY LEPER

Will Not be Taken to Penikese

BOSTON, May 9.—Harry Sheridan, the 15-year-old schoolboy of Pawtucket, R. I., who was found at the Massachusetts general hospital to be afflicted with leprosy, will not be admitted as a member of the leper colony at Penikese Island, Buzzards bay.

The Massachusetts state board of charity, which has supervision of the leper colony, decided yesterday afternoon that it had no authority to care for the stricken boy; even temporarily.

Dr. Joshua M. Lewis, superintendent for the adult, poor of Massachusetts, received yesterday through the Boston board of health a request made by the Rhode Island state board of health that the Massachusetts state board of charity care for the boy.

Dr. Lewis submitted the proposition to the state board and yesterday afternoon received that following communication from Secretary Robert W. Kelso:

"I find, after consulting members of the board, that they do not deem it advisable to consider for the purpose of maintaining in any state institution under our supervision a case not legally belonging in Massachusetts. Furthermore, the members of the board are not clear as to their authority under the existing laws to receive such patients in an institution and subjecting them to the necessary restraint of liberty."

"I regret, therefore, to report that the request of the Rhode Island authorities, to take a Rhode Island case, even temporarily, for Penikese, cannot be granted."

A FINE PROGRAM

Was Presented at St. Joseph's College

A fine entertainment was presented last night at St. Joseph's college by the young people of the French American orphanage, under the auspices of the members of St. Joseph's Savings circle. The affair was attended by over 400 people who greatly appreciated the good work of the youngsters whose ages range from 4 to 14 years.

The play presented was "Zelle, ou La Martyre," de l'Obsequence Fillette, and the cast of characters was as follows: Madame d'Aglenmont, Edella Poull; Zelle, sa fille ainee, Blanche Rocheville; Josephine, sa fille cadette.

Beatrice Martin

Catherine, concubine d'Aglenmont, Edella Martin
La mere Thomas, voisine de Catherine, Alice Armand

There was a prolog by Lucien Dubois, a chorus, "Les Pastourelles," "Les Oiseaux de Borage" by the "babies," "Deux Lecons a la Bonne," by Leo Manseau, "Le Petit Boiteux," by Rodolphe Lajola, "Au Photographie" by Little Donatien Lefebvre, "Impressions de deux pelerinages devent la Grotte," by Yvonne Tessier and Edella Poull, "La lettre a la Madonne," by Beatrice Martin, "Les deux rivaux," by Yvonne Pageau, and Blanche Rocheville and a chorus by the whole body of youngsters.

DIRECT NOMINATIONS

The House Orders the Bill to a Third Reading

The Corporal Punishment Bill Was Reported—The Senate Refused to Enter a Protest Against Free Boots and Shoes

BOSTON, May 9.—The bill for the direct nomination of all candidates for public office was ordered to a third reading in the house yesterday, on a voice vote, in which the "noes" were rather feeble. The bill takes in every elective state officer from the governor down, also congressmen and county commissioners.

Representative Washburn was the only member to speak against it.

Speaker Walker, who a year ago, came out for direct nominations all along the line, took the floor and made a brief argument in favor of the pending bill.

Representative Washburn said he believed the bill is too much wrought up in the idea that the republican party has not been all that it should have been. He said he believed in progress, but he also believed that the republican party has been a pretty good party, and that it has nothing to apologize for.

Good government, he said, depends not so much upon the system as upon the individual who goes to the polls and to the caucuses. Personally he said he strongly favored the elasticity of the delegates system and in the state convention, yet this bill emasculates the entire convention system.

Telephone Bill Rejected

On a voice vote the house turned down a motion, of Representative McGrath of Natick to substitute for an adverse report a bill providing that the poles, wires and other like appurtenances of railroad corporations shall be subject to local taxation.

The house then took up the bill providing that shares of stock in public service corporations shall not be subject to the provisions of the inheritance tax law. Representative Dean of Wakefield, speaking against the bill, said that the state would lose $100,000 a year if the measure became law. The Representative Crocker of Boston said that the bill merely exempted from Massachusetts taxation stocks which are taxed elsewhere.

The bill was passed to be engrossed, 114 to 98, on a roll call.

Representative Dean then moved that the house substitute for an adverse report a bill providing that telephone rates between any points in the suburban district shall not exceed five cents. There was comparatively little interest manifested in this proposition, and the Dean bill was rejected, 32 to 42, and the adverse report was accepted.

House to Meet at 10.30

Speaker Walker appointed Representatives Wells of Haverhill, Halets of Montague and Conway of Boston as the house members of the special committee to consider changes in the rules for the purpose of shortening the legislative sessions.

The committee on ways and means reported tonight not to pass on the bill providing that the franchise tax assessed upon a business corporation shall go in its entirety to the municipality in which the corporation conducts its business.

Water supply reported a bill authorizing Pittsfield to borrow $700,000 for improving its water supply.

Cities reported a bill authorizing the city of Boston to pay an annuity of $300 a year to the widow of Michael J. Coyne.

An order offered by Mr. Underhill of Somerville was adopted, providing that beginning today, the house shall meet at 10.30 in the forenoon each day except Monday and Saturday.

The house attached an amendment to the senate order extending the time for committee reports, the amendment providing that all matters shall be reported not later than May 20.

By a vote of 61 to 45, the house reconsidered its rejection of the bill providing for the abolition of the grade crossing at Orient Heights, and postponed further consideration until Friday.

The committee on railroads reported a bill authorizing the town of Winchester to adopt new plans for the abolition of its grade crossings, the increased expense to be assessed entirely upon the town. The act is to take effect upon its acceptance by two-thirds of the registered voters of the town.

The senate yesterday afternoon indefinitely postponed action on the order Senator Nelson offered last Friday, placing the senate on record against the proposed removal of duties by congress on boots and shoes. The motion to indefinitely postpone was made by Senator Greenwood of Worcester and was carried, on a rollcall, 31 to 13. The democratic members, with the exception of Senator Timilty, voted for the Greenwood motion.

Many bills of importance were postponed, among them being the following: Boston charter bill to Thursday, Cambridge charter bill to tomorrow, adverse report on Chelsea annexation also to Friday, bill for extension of Boylston street across the fens in Boston to tomorrow, bill to provide for the determination of the value of shares of stock of consolidated railroad and street railway companies to Friday.

Senator Ross of Bristol offered a substitute bill for the pending measure to compel railroads to furnish drinking water and drinking cups to patrons. The new bill says that the railroads shall furnish water and cups on passenger trains free, subject to approval by the state health board. Equivalent methods of furnishing pure water free to passengers may be provided instead of the cups and water system if approved by the health board. The proposed act is to take effect June 15 of the present year.

The senate tabled the adverse report on the governor's recommendation relative to the election of U. S. senators. This was done on motion of Senator Mailey of Hampden.

A LIVELY BLAZE

BROKE OUT ON OAK HILL, IN WESTFORD

One of the most spectacular fires which occurred in this vicinity for many years broke out about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon on Oak Hill in Westford and fanned by a brisk wind spread rapidly. It swept over the hill toward Tyngsboro.

At Flint's corner, which is on the direct road to Dunstable from North Chelmsford where the road from Tyngsboro depot connects with it, Otis L. Wright's house was in imminent danger. Wet blankets were spread on the roof and a force of men sought to prevent the flying sparks from burning the buildings. They were successful, and by 10 o'clock in the evening the fire was making its way through the brush, away from the house.

Mr. Wright stated that the fire had swept some of his timberland, but he could not estimate the loss until he had a chance to go over the burned area and examine it.

PRESIDENT OF VENEZUELA AND CAPITAL THREATENED BY REVOLT

NEW YORK, May 9.—Important developments here reveal that plans are being formulated in this city to launch an insurrection in Venezuela to depose President Juan Vincentes Gomez. The news of the contemplated movement to oust from power the successor of President Cipriano Castro came from Havana. The reports have been confirmed by Alejandro Rivas Vasquez, one of Venezuela's foremost public men, who has come to this city to prepare for the uprising, which he has been selected to lead. Dr. Rivas Vasquez, who even now is a member of the Venezuelan congress from the state of Apure, was formerly president of the state of Julia, an office corresponding to that of governor here, and was minister of public works in the cabinet of President Castro. He spoke most optimistically of the movement he is to

LIVERMORE FALLS, Me., May 9.—The three missing Italians wanted in connection with the alleged murder of Donato Ventrelli, whose body was found in front of his home on Church street, Chisholm, early yesterday, were captured during the night, six miles this side of Rumford Falls and were brought here during the forenoon.

They were arrested by Deputy Sheriff L. M. Small of Oxford and Deputy Niles of Rumford, five hours after they were first sighted by those officers during which they led a lively chase through the woods. It was planned to take them to the county jail at Farmington at noon and the preliminary hearing probably will be held there as Chisholm is in Franklin county.

BAZAAR OPENED

At Highland Club in Aid of St. Margaret's Church

The bazaar in aid of St. Margaret's church was opened in the Highland club hall, last evening. Mayor McLean officiating at the opening. The bazaar will continue all week. The hall presented a neat, attractive appearance with its numerous booths adorned with pleasing colors. A feature of the booths is the tea garden enclosed in a vine-covered lattice and surrounded by an arch of autumn leaves and purple grapes. Tea, hot and cold, is served.

Each evening will be devoted to one of the bazaar tables, and the opening evening was St. Margaret's evening. The entertainment was furnished by Minnie's orchestra, composed principally of High school students, with Miss Harriet Moran, soprano soloist, and Miss Elizabeth Murlingham, accompanist.

Mayor McLean was introduced by John J. Pinder, for the committee and he congratulated the pastor and parishioners upon the worthy object of the bazaar, the erection of a new church.

Fr. Harkins in reply said that His Honor would be invited to occupy one of the front pews in the new church before another election comes around. After the formal opening general dancing was enjoyed.

Tonight is A. O. H. night and after the opening exercises there will be general dancing.

During the week the volunteer orchestras, Minnie's and the "Ladies' Festival" orchestra will alternate in playing.

HOUSE OF LORDS

The Fight to Reform is On

LONDON, May 9.—Lord Lansdowne, leader of the opposition in the house of lords, has opened his fight for the form of the upper chamber. He proposes that the membership of the house of lords be reduced to 300, 100 being chosen for a term of years from the existing house, with the safeguard of a minority representation introduced by a proportional vote, fifty to be of eminent standing, such as cabinet ministers, governors of dominions and others of renown in the service of the state; fifty to be peers nominated by the ministry of the day for a term of years and 100 to be elected for a short term by county and borough councils. He has prepared for immediate introduction a bill comprising these provisions. The bill also seeks to restrict the exercise of the royal prerogative in the creation of new peers.

TEN BUILDINGS

On Fire in Winter and Summer Streets Today

The alarm from box 19 yesterday afternoon was for a fire that started in a shed in Winter street and communicated with neighboring roofs until it had a chain of ten burning roofs. Most of the damage, however, was confined to the Namack property where the fire started. The property extends from Summer street to Winter street. The cause of the fire was unknown but is supposed to have been caused by children playing with matches in the shed. It looked for a time as if the fire would make small work of several buildings but the firemen arrived in time to check its headway.

Patrolmen James Kennedy and Mortimer John J. Meahan forced a door to a room where the smoke was thick, and rescued two women who were overcome by the smoke.

Shoe Shop Ablaze

Shortly after 1 o'clock a portion of the fire department was summoned to a fire in the shoe shop in the Hood building in Thorndike street. The fire was due, it was stated, to spontaneous combustion. One window was burned out and considerable damage was done to stock.

Another Fire

Another telephone alarm, shortly after the alarm for the fire in Winter street, called a portion of the department to a fire in Bay State court. The fire was in a pile of rubbish and did not amount to much.

The North End lad was bigger, stronger and far too clever for Sullivan, who was badly punished.

In the preliminary bouts Jack Nelson of Woburn defeated Young McGarr, also of Woburn, in six rounds; Young Doyle of Lowell and Cy Goodwin of Boston boxed six rounds to a draw; Young Budreau of Somerville defeated Eddie Moran of Boston in six rounds, and Young Connolly of Everett disposed of Young Murphy of Cambridge in one round.

GARY, Ind., May 9.—Harry Forbes won a decisive victory over Young Fitzgerald of Milwaukee last night. He scored Fitzgerald three times in the third round. Forbes won the fight by his superior ring knowledge and generalship.

The honors were about even for the first two rounds, but when the third opened Forbes began to mix things. He feinted with his left and then gave a

GARY, Ind., May 9.—Harry Forbes won a decisive victory over Young Fitzgerald of Milwaukee last night. He scored Fitzgerald three times in the third round. Forbes won the fight by his superior ring knowledge and generalship.

MEN MARCHING IN PARADE, DEMANDING VOTES FOR WOMEN

NEW YORK, May 9.—Owing to the approach of the closing of the New York state legislature the members of the suffragist movement have begun a spirited crusade of national proportions to impress on the legislators the importance of their demand that women should be allowed to vote. The leaders of the movement here have rallied to their support women from a score of states in the Union, including women who have voted in the various states where they have been given the suffrage. The parade down Fifth avenue in which about 4,000 men and women marched has aroused wide comment. The suffragists believe that demonstration will impress the legislators favorably and gain votes for them in the senate and assembly judiciary committees, which have the cus-today of the bills striking the word "male" from the state constitution. Tuesday, May 9, a large delegation of the paraders went to Albany to speak before the committee, carrying with them the banners displayed in the procession. A notable feature of the procession was the men's division, in which 300 men, many of them prominent citizens, marched. Two young women generally described as being of unusual beauty and attractiveness form one of the assets of the suffrage movement. They are Miss Roberta Hill of New Zealand and Miss Ilex Millholland of New York, society favorite, and are shown in the accompanying illustration carrying the banner they displayed in the suffragist parade. Miss Hill is holding the banner pole, and Miss Millholland is at her right in the picture.

SINS OF THE TONGUE

Severe Arraignment of the Calumniator, the Slanderer, the Detractor and the Scandal Monger—Christ's Injunction to Charity and Love of One Another Forcibly Explained

The exercises of the second night of the mission for women being given this week at St. Michael's church were attended by a throng that filled the large edifice. The Dominican Fathers are in charge of the mission and are much pleased with the result attending their efforts.

The sermon last evening was preached by Rev. Fr. Kelly, O. P., and followed by a practical talk on the Rosary by Rev. Fr. Donohue, O. P. The subject of the sermon was "Sins of the Tongue."

The reverend preacher spoke in part as follows:

"Man is distinguished from the low-

er animals by being endowed with the gift of reason and free will. He is capable of seeing the effect of his actions, capable also of abusing the many gifts bestowed upon him. Man is a responsible creature and will be judged according to the good or bad use he makes of his opportunities of the gifts, talents, faculties. Our Lord in this judgment will be severe, not one iota or word escaping Him.

As a complement to reason and free will God has also given the gift of speech, which serves many purposes. It is a medium of communication by which we may share our thoughts and emotions, may give solace, may instruct, enlighten or edify one another. In harmony with all the other works of God it may be used to praise and glorify His Holy Name.

To the noble and sublime uses to which speech may be put, your presence bears testimony and tribute. Through its medium the eternal truths are given to you and made operative on your soul.

Gift of Speech Abused

Yet what gift of God is more abused than that of speech? In blasphemy the name of God is debased through anger, envy, hatred or disappointment. Through calumny and detraction the good name of one's neighbor is injured. The sin of blasphemy may seem more grievous, but if the latter sins are less so, they are more widespread, more prevalent. Undoubtedly blasphemy is more common among men than women, for the besetting sin of woman's tongue is detraction, calumny, or the sins that follow idle gossip. Whether these are lies or simply detractions, they are injurious alike in their results, embarrassing, annoying, demoralizing. And the facility with which these sins are committed is much to be regretted for there are few, even among those who lead good lives, who have not at one time or other been guilty of it. Those who seem able to resist all other temptations are ensnared by this one. Yet nothing is more despicable to the true Christian than calumny or detraction, nothing more irreconcilable with the spirit of Jesus Christ, whose mission was one of love. Coming on earth to bring peace, he established the brotherhood of man and sealed the bond with his blood, and dying left us the injunction to love one another as He loved us. Surely our Lord could not have emphasized the necessity of charity more than when he made it one of the conditions of gaining eternal life. "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with thy whole heart, thy whole soul and thy neighbor as thyself," or when he made it the distinguishing mark of his followers. "Why shall all men know ye that ye love one another?"

Charity then should be the chief characteristic of the Christian, but what kind of charity is it that makes known the faults of another, or that besmirches the good name of a neighbor? Most of the miseries of the world can be traced to this lack of charity. So many domestic infelicities spring from it, broken friendships follow in its train. It has disrupted business, been the source of trouble everywhere, separating friends, even separating husband and wife. It has been the cause of poor health, loss of employment, even of death. Many a man has fought death on the battlefield but has succumbed, has gone down before the deadly shots of the slanderer.

In all of us there is more or less of pride. Many there are who think themselves paragons of perfection. Pharisee-like they thank God they are like the rest of men. They are self-appointed censors of their neighbors' faults. They make their neighbors' weaknesses the butt of their wit or ridicule or sarcasm. Let them hear what they themselves are doing, lest they be more guilty in God's sight than the neighbor they undertake to criticize. Our Divine Lord says he who uses the sword shall perish by it, so let them beware that the weapon they use so skillfully may not be turned upon themselves.

Men and women are not all alike. Some are born with stronger passions than others, upon some the sins of parents have been visited. If one is stronger, less tempted than another, he should thank God for it and strive to help the neighbor weaker than himself.

Pride prompts before destruction and envy prompts a great deal of this evil of calumny, of slander, of detraction. These are unatoned are insolent, they flatter a friend to his face but behind his back calumniate and disparage him. The success, the prosperity of a neighbor seems to hurt them and they set to work to disparage, to annoy, to sadden those who seem to be getting on better than themselves.

Envy and Rash Judgment

If one wishes to be really charitable, envy must be suppressed even in thought. By the envy of the devil, death came into the world and by the envy of mankind a spiritual death is everywhere being wrought daily. Once only fastens itself on one, it consumes like a fire and many there are who through rash judgment sin mortally before they utter a word defamatory of another. Religion does not enjoin merely that we speak well of another, but it regulates our inner movements. Do unto others as you would be done by is not sufficient. Religion commands us to banish from our hearts even the thought of judgment. Judge not that you yourself be not condemned. Our charity should be of the kind that thinketh no evil.

judge our neighbor? There is only one judge. The parable of the unjust servant teaches us what the Lord thinks of those who wish to be treated fairly themselves, but who are unjust to others. Like the Pharisees they are mainly who impute bad motives even to the best of actions. Like them they would criticize alike those who follow the austere life of a John the Baptist or those who, with the unaffected simplicity of our Lord mingle with the good and bad alike.

Spirit of Revenge

The spirit of revenge is often the cause of uncharitableness. Our Lord promulgated the doctrine of love and forgiveness. With what majesty did the Prince of Peace utter these words: "You have heard it said of old, an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, but I say to you, love your enemies, do good to those who hate you and bless those who persecute and calumniate you."

Did not our Lord teach us that mercy would be dealt out to us, only as we gave it to others and do not we ourselves ask for forgiveness only to the same extent as we bestow it. "Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive others their trespasses against us."

There are some who defend and traduce their neighbors through habit. It is a second nature to them, and to be faultfinding, ill natured and slanderous is as natural for them as it is to breathe.

The speaker then cited examples of the evil effects of calumny and detraction and begged his hearers to be careful of the reputation of a neighbor as each would be of her own, to look for the good traits that are in even the worst of people, to praise these good traits instead of condemning the evil tendencies. Of course, he said, where wickedness must be denounced the laws of justice demand its being made known to proper authorities, but where love, gossip, curiosity, envy or malice are at the bottom of the revelation we make of our neighbors' faults, a heavy account will be demanded of us and reparation, no matter how difficult is an obligation we bring upon ourselves. That what we do or say is done or said through envy is no excuse either. "For every idle word a man shall speak, he shall render an account." We can lose our souls as easily through the sin of detraction as in other ways and it scandal follows this sin then the words of malediction should stir us to reparation. "Wee to the man by whom scandal cometh. It were better a stone be laid around his neck and he be drowned in the depths of the sea."

Christ's Injunction of Charity

For the love of the Prince of Peace, whose prayer in Gethsemane, that all should abide in love and whose last words on Calvary were words of forgiveness, for His sake let us be kind, charitable, forbearing in all our relations with one another that of us, as of the Christians of old, it may be said: "See how they love one another."

Coyne of the Brotherhood of Railway Station Employees at the opening of the third annual convention in A. O. H. hall this morning at 10 o'clock. "Our sympathy goes out to the people of Bangor in their hour of trouble. The brave and determined courageous spirit of the citizens to begin anew deserves our warmest praise. God speed them in their work." President Coyne's report and committee appointing was the main business of the session today. Mr. Coyne reports that the brotherhood is prospering and relations with employers are amicable as in the past.

It is Said That He Has Confessed Stealing for Eight Years—Reported to Have Lost Money in Manufacturing Concern

CLEVELAND, May 9.—For alleged pecuniations amounting to nearly $115,000, Julius W. Hopkins, paying teller of the First National bank, was placed under arrest last night. It is stated by the bank officials that Hopkins made a confession three days ago, beginning the first inkling they had of wrongdoing.

Bank Examiner Williams was sent for and the arrest ensued. He is held on a warrant issued by U. S. District Atty. Day, which specifically charged him with the theft of $60,000 from the bank.

When arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Walthers, the accused man waived a preliminary hearing and was bound over in $60,000. He was unable to get bail and was sent to jail.

It is said that later, Teller Hopkins confessed to District Atty. Day. Federal Bank Examiner Henry A. Williams and officials of the bank that during the last eight years he had embezzled a total of $114,500 of the institution's funds.

The officials say that, according to his alleged confession, Hopkins juggled his entry accounts and succeeded in evading disclosure. Most of the embezzled money, bank officials say, was invested in a manufacturing concern, of which Hopkins was the head. Hopkins is 37 years old and a widower. He has a son.

Friends who saw Hopkins in his cell last night say he told them he would plead guilty and "take his medicine without a fight."

Charles E. Farnsworth, cashier of the First National bank, made the following statement: "One of our trusted employees, Julius W. Hopkins, is a defaulter in the sum of $114,500, which amount he has abstracted from express packages containing currency sent us by the national banking department at Washington."

"The bank is fully protected by a blanket guaranty policy issued by a London company, so that the loss of this defalcation will not fall upon the bank. The facts will be placed before the public officials for such action as they deem it proper to take with reference to Mr. Hopkins."

RIFLE RANGE

TO BE EQUIPPED WITH FOUR TARGETS

It is probable that within a short time the rifle range in Dracut, Conto will be equipped with four new targets, according to reports from the armory. It is said that Col. Upton, inspector of rifle practice for the Massachusetts militia, declared that "Lowell sadly needs new targets for the rifle range in Dracut."

For a long time, officers of the local militia companies have sought to have something done about the range in Dracut. Yet all of their work has brought them nothing.

There are eight targets for the 200 and 300-yard ranges, with four targets to be used interchangeably between the 500 and 600-yard ranges. Two of the present targets are two inches smaller than the others, yet all of them are fired at from the same place. It is proposed to get four more targets, if possible, which will allow four targets each for the 500 and 600-yard ranges.

Col. Upton also found some fault with the bunkers at the range. One only of these is constructed of cement; the others are of wood and dirt. These latter were declared unsafe, and the recommendation was made that all of the bunkers be of cement. A fence about the shooting grounds was also suggested.

HEAVY RAIN

DROWNED OUT FOREST FIRE NEAR DOVER

DOVER, May 9.—A heavy downpour of rain during the early morning drowned out the forest fire that had been burning between Dover and Westwood. During its course the fire spread over a territory five miles long and covering about 600 acres. Several buildings were destroyed by the fire, including three farm buildings, three camps and a water tank. The fire destroyed a large quantity of valuable standing timber.

OLD-FASHIONED TONIC

PROVES BEST

(From National Health Journal)

Statistics show that not one person in fifty emerges from the strains of winter in good health. Due to various causes the system becomes clogged with impurities and the liver, kidneys and bowels fail to perform their functions properly. As a result we have faded, sallow complexions, liver spots, spring fever, lost appetite, no energy—in fact, feel sick without knowing the cause.

For correcting these disorders there is nothing so far discovered to equal old-fashioned karende tonic which can be made at home at small cost. Dissolve an ounce of karende in one-half pint alcohol, then add one-half cup sugar and hot water to make a quart.

A tablespoonful before each meal soon rids the system of impurities, clears the skin and restores the whole body to its normal, healthy condition.

PUBLIC MORGUE NEEDED

Lowell should have a public morgue to which all unidentified bodies should be brought so as to offer the greatest facilities possible for identification. It is safe to say that many bodies taken from the canals and buried as "unknowns" would have been identified had the bodies been held for a reasonable time for inspection at a public morgue open at all hours. It might be located at the police station.

OUR LOCAL HALL OF FAME

Halls of fame are becoming very common nowadays. Nearly every nation has in some form a temple in which an assemblage of statues or of paintings commemorates the most eminent of the good and great men it has produced. The time will come when every city will have its hall of fame to be filled with the men who have at some time rendered signal service to the city, whether as private citizens, public officials, artists, inventors, patriots, heroes, poets, statesmen, orators, philanthropists.

The proposition to purchase David Neal's well known picture "The Rialto" on exhibition at the city library has the suggestion of a hall of fame for Lowell in which some of her great men might be commemorated in one way or another. Lowell in the first place could select for this hall of fame some of her great artists whose names are already immortal. Among these would be Whistler and David Neal, whose painting a few of his admirers are talking of purchasing for the library by public subscription. It would be a good thing for the city, a good thing for the artist and a good thing for the promotion of artistic taste in this community. The time may come when David Neal's paintings will be much more highly prized than at present, although he has won high honors in some of the greatest art registers in Europe.

But as to the hall of fame idea, we might select heroes, patriots, statesmen and orators in goodly numbers, while as for scholars, poets and writers, Lowell has produced as many as most cities of her size. Most of all could she score in the number of eminent mill men she could commemorate in this hall of fame, from Kirk Boott, Patrick Tracey Jackson and Francis Cabot Lowell, down to Col. Francis, the great engineer, who might well be honored in any local hall of fame. Since the days of Col. Francis it would perhaps be more difficult to make a selection, not only from the leaders of our great industries, but from the men who have directed our municipal government.

No doubt there have been many good and a few great men, but of late years it would be difficult to find among our city officials, men worthy to stand side by side with the officials of our city's early history. The question then arises, is the present generation less prolific of men who have won distinction for some great quality, such for example as civic virtue, high ideals of citizenship, or devotion to the progress of our municipality? It would really seem so, but we are inclined to believe that we have as many great and good men as ever and their talents and ability would be shown if any great emergency demanded their services. While matters go along in hum-drum fashion, these men go about their own private affairs with apparent indifference, but if any grave emergency calls for their service to the city or the state, then they come forward and show the stuff they are made of. While we are not suggesting a hall of fame, it will do no harm to reflect upon the abundance of material for such an institution shown by one generation and the apparent dearth of such material shown by another. It is a matter of general concern also whether this apparent lack of able men is due to any system by which we put forward men of second or third rate ability. When the legislators of a state select a man to represent the state in the United States senate, they are expected to choose a man whose talents and integrity will always reflect credit upon the state he represents. Similarly, if the voters of a district have to choose a representative to congress, or to the general court, they are expected to select a man who will at least measure up to the standard of the men with whom he has to associate. Otherwise, the man's lack of ability will reflect upon his district and the intelligence of the people who sent him there. The same rule applies to the men elected to hold municipal offices. If they are below the standard the voters are to blame; for we insist that there is always a sufficient number of able and good men to select from. If, instead of selecting the best available, the voters choose some who are positively unfit, then what is to be done? It must be remembered that not only the voters of this or that ward or district have to blush for a municipal misfit, but the entire city. This is where the voters by districts seem to fail in their duty, whereas in the aggregate or at large, they select better and abler men. It does seem to us that if the voters exercised their best judgment in the selection of public officials, they should always be able to point to a number of officials who on account of ability and devotion to their public duties would deserve to be commemorated in the history of the city, or in any assemblage of the faithful and efficient servants of the municipality. The system, we admit, has been at fault and until a new system shall have been established we need not expect any better results. Until we have a new and modern charter we shall have to bear the presumption that the men selected for public office are the most experienced, the ablest and best we can find in the entire community. It seems to be the present aspiration of this community to remove the evils of this antiquated system and substitute one that will secure better results so that we shall be able to secure the best men who aspire for public office rather than as at present preventing such men from seeking public office.

Let it be remembered that in our public officials and our men of affairs we are unconsciously selecting subjects which will stand in our historical hall of fame, whether to our credit or our discredit. It may be a fact that some of us regard the exercise of the franchise too lightly, while some and perhaps the majority are tired of a system in which they have lost confidence. The only logical remedy is, to change the system and then appeal to the voters to use their best judgment for their own good.

SEEN AND HEARD

A woman living in Cross street, a good-natured soul who could never say no to a neighbor, says that hereafter she will draw the line on clothespins. "I may lend the clothes line or the clothes-horse, but not the pins," she says, and there's a reason. She loaned her bag of clothes pins to a neighbor. The pins were not returned and a few days later she sent her boy to get them.

"Mother sent me for the clothes pins," said the boy to the neighbor. "Your mother is a good woman," said the neighbor, and she'll not be vexed when she hears about the clothes pins. I was late in getting up the other morning and would have been late at the mill if I stopped to gather klad-ding, so I used the clothes pins to start a fire and make a cup of coffee. Your mother is a good woman and she'll never miss them."

SOUTH COMMON

Mr. Corbett Says It is Given Up to Rowdiness

The following communication addressed to The Sun by Mr. Michael Corbett calls public attention to a matter of considerable importance. If conditions on the South common are as bad as represented here, they should be remedied at once.

The communication follows:

Editor Lowell Sun:

Dear Sir: I should like to make use of your columns to express my opinion and that of many other citizens concerning the conditions which are existing and have been allowed to exist for the past eight years, upon the South common. This common, as well as the other parks belonging to the city of Lowell, is under the exclusive control of the park commissioners; yet, through their neglect of this, the largest and most valuable park in the city, they have allowed conditions to exist which are a disgrace to our community, and especially to these gentlemen, who are solely and entirely responsible. Until this commission was established the South common was a recreation ground, a place of innocent amusement, where law and order was maintained. It was a safe and healthful resort for the women and children of the poor. I have counted, at five o'clock of a summer morning, fifty baby carriages with their occupants and guardians, who were there to spend the greater part of the day. Invalids and convalescents were there, seeking relief from their hot and crowded tenement homes. How many boys and men? Under the beneficent care (?) of the park commissioners, the common has been given over to thugs and bums. Assaults are numerous. No woman crossing the common at evening can be sure of safety. In spite of ample space reserved for ball grounds, and to which in justice, they should be restricted, boys and men play ball all over the common, breaking windows in the vicinity, endangering the lives of passers-by. The commissioners, when requested to provide at least one policeman for the protection of the public, who have occasion to pass through the common, say that they cannot afford it. Yet, the South common yields a yearly revenue to the city, that of last year being $167.40. In return, the commissioners magnanimously expended upon the common, $1063.35—$23.12 less than the revenue observed; while on Fort Hill park, on the outskirts of the city, yielding no revenue, and frequented by few, they lavished $5565.74. Let me quote from the Report of the Park Commissioners of 1910: "Suggestions of Geo. C. Wilton, head supervisor: 'This pool at the South common is a menace to public health. The bottom is filthy, unsanitary and unsightly.' Then follow suggestions for improvement, which the commissioners have, so far, seen fit to disregard."

On July 3d, a massive limb fell from an elm tree on the common, directly upon some children at play. One child was killed and others injured. Could not a little care have prevented this accident?

Now I understand that the commissioners are considering the turning over of the common to the militia, to be used as a drill-ground. Let the state provide a ground for the militia. Preserve the South common for the purpose for which it was intended by its donors to the city of Lowell: for the use of the general public; for the public health; for the public amusement; for the good of the women and children.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for allowing me the use of your space, I remain, Respectfully yours,

Michael Corbett.

CHELMSFORD

The board of selectmen met yesterday but took no action relative to the appointment of a superintendent of streets.

It was decided, however, that for the present the selectman in each district should have charge of the roads within his section of the town, and a certain part of the annual appropriation was allotted each one to cover the work needed to be done. The teams and equipment will be under the supervision of E. T. Adams, chairman of the board, and will be cared for as formerly by Michael McKenney.

PALE AS A GHOST

After Two Years in Bed She Was Cured By Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and Has Since Been Well.

Anemia is simply a lack of blood. It therefore follows that the correct treatment for anemia is one that increases the blood supply. That is really the only treatment that can possibly be successful. To restore the blood supply to its normal quantity and quality, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be recommended with confidence. First, because they are known to have cured thousands of anemic people—the highest possible recommendation. Secondly, they actually contain the ingredients that combine with the food and oxygen to make rich, red blood, without which no man, woman or growing boy or girl can be healthy.

Miss Carrie E. Hathaway, of North Houghton street, North Adams, Mass., was cured of anemia by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills after recovery was pronounced hopeless by her doctor. The statement of her cure is told by her mother, Mrs. A. A. Hathaway.

"My daughter, Carrie, was confined to bed for two years suffering from anemia. She seemed to have no blood, and was as pale as a ghost. She was thin and did not weigh more than 100 pounds, had no strength or ambition and couldn't sit up. Her appetite was poor and she had difficulty in breathing. No one expected her to get well and our minister, before going on his vacation, came to bid her good-bye as he did not think she would live until his return."

"We spent hundreds of dollars but the doctor seemed to be puzzled and could not help her. She had been sick for over two years before I decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. The pills gave her quick relief and cured her after a fair trial. She has had no serious sickness since and weighs 170 pounds. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a wonderful remedy and I cannot say enough in praise of them."

A new edition of our booklet, "Diseases of the Blood," will be sent free on request to any one interested.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60c. per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Pills sold in any other package or loose, by the dozen or hundred are not the same, whatever the clerk says.

Granville, Vt. — "I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forgot to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. DARLAV, R.F.D., Granville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing woman's ills such as inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life.

EL PASO, Texas, May 2.—Continuing firing during the night indicated that the rebels were pressing closely the advantage gained yesterday by forcing the federals from their trenches and outlying fortification near Juarez and that they would make a general attack on the city some time during the day. The small band of rebels which precipitated the engagement have driven the federals well into town and when reinforcements are at hand they believe they will take the city. General Navarro men have mines in various places and also machine guns with which to turn a deadly volley at their foes. It was reported early today that one of the federal machine guns late yesterday had torn a part of the rebel detachment to pieces.

The decision to attack the federal forces was made after the envoys sent shortly before midnight to General Navarro returned, saying that he refused to surrender. For an armistice arrangements he referred them to Judge Carbajal, the federal peace envoy, but he, too, refused to enter into an agreement with part of the rebels already in Juarez. The firing by the insurgents was begun by a small detachment of men stationed in an adobe house near the Stanton street bridge. With their machine gun leveled to sweep the main streets of Juarez they waited for the first break of dawn and opened fire. A United States soldier while off duty swam across the Rio Grande only an hour before the attack began and brought back with him two of the wounded insurgents. Orders had been given not to allow the wounded to remain in El Paso but under cover of darkness the soldier towed the two wounded men to shore and brought them to a hospital. One of the insurgents had a bullet wound in his neck and the other a bullet-hole in his leg. The soldier declared that the detachment of men with the machine gun near the Stanton street bridge was ready to keep up a continuous fire all day as they had plenty of ammunition.

General Navarro is confident of holding Juarez and military experts in town think he can do it. He has his two field pieces and cannon in an advantageous place in the town. He has 12 guns in all, three of which are in action on the outskirts of the town shelling the hills from which the main column of the insurgent army must pass to enter the city unless they decide to follow the river bank. This route is bound to draw heavy fire into American territory.

Thousands of residents of El Paso for hours have been watching from rooftops and points of vantage. The United States troops have ordered everybody on the American side of the line to stay three blocks away from the river front. Colonel Villareal, the insurgent chief, is advancing on Juarez this morning from the east with 500 men from the state of Chihuahua while General Rabago is advancing to Juarez with 1000 federals but a strong command has been assigned to oppose him and Madero says he has no fear from that source.

Two Americans have been shot within the last two hours since the fighting began, one of whom has a wound in the neck.

The range of the federal artillery was remarkably accurate, their shells landing close to the on-coming insurgents and forcing them to scatter. It is obvious that the heavy artillery of the federals has given them a tremendous advantage.

Small bands of rebels can be seen marching toward the city from the south toward Juarez along the river front. It is probable the insurgents will send a detachment to attack Juarez on its opposite side. The federal machine guns are keeping up a sweeping fire within every radius of the town.

ANNIHILATED BY REBELS

TAJUMA, Cal., May 2.—A detachment of 800 federal troops left for the town of Tajuama, Cal., on a scouting expedition has been annihilated by the rebels, according to a report brought to the International line early this morning by Enrique Gonzales, a federal official.

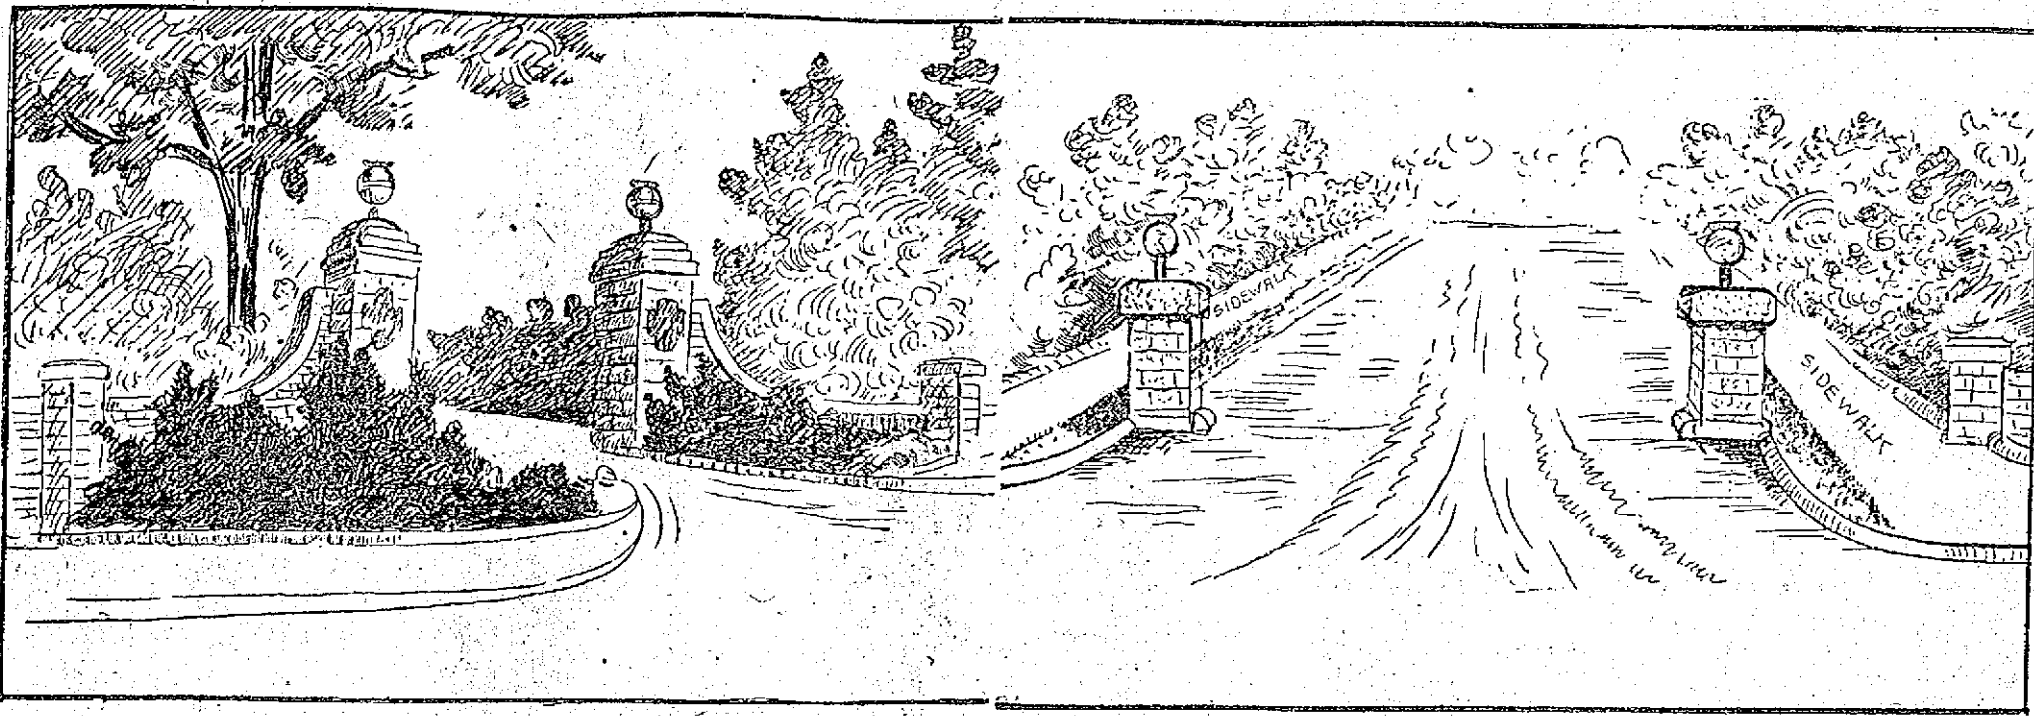

Another detachment left the Mexican town at the same time and it is believed that they met the same fate. Early today the revolutionaries had completely surrounded Tajuama and the federal defenders have been driven into the bull ring. It is believed the town will be captured. No authentic reports of the dead on either side are obtainable. Hundreds of Americans in automobiles lined the border watching the night fighting.

STUBBORN FIGHTING

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 2.—After a fight which began about 11 o'clock yesterday and continued all day and into the night, the federal forces continue in possession of Tijuana, lower California, today. When the fighting began in the distance three prisoners in the quartel tried to escape. As they fled the guards fired on them. Bruce Hudson, said to be a United States army deserter, was wounded. Monroe McKinley, held as a rebel sympathizer, was instantly killed. A German prisoner whose name was not learned got away. The number of killed and wounded cannot be ascertained. The rebels outnumbered the federals and are supposed to have suffered the more severely as they were more exposed. When the fighting began Juan Triate, chief of police of Tijuana, crossed the boundary line and was arrested. He explained that he wanted to confer with the American commander. He was promptly released but decided not to return to the Mexican side. General Bliss of the United States army who was at Lakeside when the fighting began, at once started in an automobile for Tijuana. The fighting was witnessed from the American side by a great crowd from San Diego. Local agents of the Red Cross were at Tijuana, California, during the fight but the American commander refused to let them cross the line while the fighting was in progress. Captain Wilcox, commanding the detail of United States troops on this side of the line, expressed admiration for the skill with which the rebel forces were handled.

When the insurgents reached the edge of the town the main struggle began at the bull ring, where the federals put up a stubborn fight but gave way at last. In parties of twos and threes they could be seen from the American side running from the breastworks to the town. The rebels on the fugitives fell, wounded or dead. The rebels captured the customs house, which they held all night while desultory firing continued.

VIEW OF THE SHEDD PARK AND KNAPP AVENUE GATEWAYS ON ROGERS STREET

The Shedd Park Gateway and that of Knapp Avenue, when the latter is completed, will appear as shown above. The Gumb Brothers have the blocks for the stone-work of the Knapp Avenue entrance almost completed, and it will soon be set upon the foundation. This double gateway will then be one of the most attractive features in connection with our park system. It is rumored that Mr. Freeman B. Shedd, the donor of the Shedd Park and both these gateways, contemplates a further improvement near the entrance to Knapp Avenue after Rogers street in that vicinity shall have been widened as now proposed by the street department.

The sub-committee from the committee on streets, Alderman Barrett and Councilmen Brady and Elliott, appointed to look into the matter of the widening of Rogers street and the cutting down of Knapp avenue, visited Shedd park yesterday afternoon and looked the grounds over. City Engineer Kearney supplied the sub-committee with a plan on which was outlined the position of the proposed new gate and the land that would be taken in the process of widening the street. Mr. Shedd has not made public all of his plans for the beautification of Shedd park and the extent of the improvements to be made by him will depend in no small measure upon the work done by the city during the early summer. Mr. Shedd has a plan for the uniformity of streets in the vicinity of the main entrance and the gate about to be built, and it is understood that he is negotiating for another strip of land for the development of his plans. The improvements will include a concrete wall extending from Rogers street and Knapp avenue towards Boylston street.

The park department will get busy at Shedd park next week. The department has about $5000 left over from the Shedd park appropriation, and the first work to be done there this summer will be on the skating rink. The department will clean out and clear away all brush, tree roots, post, etc., and install a gravel foundation. This will make the temporary rink permanent and it will be in the pink of condition for next winter.

FACTORY EMPLOYEES TARGET PRACTICE STATEHOOD FAVORED

Described at the Trial of Mrs. Dodge Today
For the Territories of Arizona and New Mexico

LYNN, May 9.—"All we want is a fair deal and in a spirit of fairness we appeal to the lasters to cooperate," are the closing words of a petition circulated today among the employees of the Sorosis factory of the shoe manufacturing firm of Charles A. Little & Co. where more than 1000 employees have been idle for more than a month as the result of a strike of 70 lasters. The petition is in the form of a "round robin," the list of signatures giving no intimation of the leaders in the movement on the part of the employees, all of whom are affiliated with some labor union connected with the industry, to induce the striking lasters to return to work pending a settlement of the difficulty originating in a demand for a higher price list for work on certain "high toe" lasts.

The petition declares that many of the workmen forced into idleness are facing financial distress, while others are in actual want. The petitioners enter an earnest remonstrance against a system under which the interests of a great many can be sacrificed for the furtherance of the cause of a few. "Therefore, we petition the striking lasters in the Sorosis factory to return to work pending the settlement of the question and give us a chance to earn the wages of which we feel we have been unjustly deprived."

It became known today that Richard T. Barry, the Lynn member of the state board of conciliation and arbitration, at a conference with President Little of the company, suggested arbitration of the difficulty with the lasters but was told by Mr. Little that the time for arbitration had passed.

JOSEPH LAMBERT

Said to Have Been Threatened With Death

He is a Witness in an Alleged Conspiracy Case — It is Said That Two Men Made Threat and Efforts Will be Made to Find Them

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 2.—That Joseph Lambert, a witness in the trial of James Beach for conspiracy to defraud the city of Pawtucket had been threatened with death if he testified against Beach was brought out in the trial today. When Lambert, a teamster of Central Falls, was questioned by Assistant Attorney General Cross regarding the case his memory proved so poor that Mr. Cross had the jury taken out and then told the court that the man had come to him last night and told him that two men had tried to intimidate him. Lambert said that they threatened him with death if he testified in the case. Judge Lee declared that efforts would be made to find the men who tried to intimidate the witness and prosecute them.

Beach, who is now serving time for defrauding the city through crushed stone contracts, is on trial on another indictment for a second count in the same connection.

More Expert Testimony Was Offered Today—Mrs. Dodge's Face Wreathed in Smiles When She Entered the Court Room, Accompanied by Her Daughter

GUILDHALL, Vt., May 2.—Target shooting with the revolver that has figured as one of the exhibits in the case was described by three witnesses today at the trial of Mrs. Florence Dodge for the alleged murder of William Heath. The target practice, these witnesses said, took place in the orchard behind the Dodge home four or five years ago and Mrs. Dodge watched it, although it was testified, she did not herself fire the weapon.

The prospect of another day of expert testimony seemed to keep the crowd away from the courthouse today when the case was resumed with Dr. B. R. Johnson of Concord, one of the experts for the defense, on the stand.

In answer to the question as to whether a person five feet five inches tall could shoot a person five feet nine inches tall at the angle indicated by the testimony of the previous experts and the report of the autopsy on Heath's death, the witness replied on cross examination that it would be impossible if both persons were standing or if the person shot was on his knees painting a baseboard. Dr. Bradley, who was in the courtroom and who in general is of the same proportions as Heath, was placed on his knees as a model of Heath painting a baseboard and Dr. Johnson was questioned regarding the angle of the wound that might be produced. The witness expressed the opinion that the point of entrance of the bullet would be nearer the floor than the point of exit, but when a measurement was made it was found that the point of exit was nearer the floor by two inches.

The testimony concerning the target shooting in the orchard behind

Mrs. Dodge's house was then given by Alfred Morrow and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis Morrow, who is the under-taker's assistant who testified for the prosecution regarding the wounds on Heath's body, said that four or five years ago he boarded at Mrs. Dodge's house and on several occasions there was target practice in the orchard. On one occasion Mrs. Dodge's revolver, which, it is alleged, was the one with which Heath was killed, was used in the practice. Morrow did not remember whether he reloaded it or not. He did not know whether Mrs. Dodge knew if the revolver was loaded or unloaded when it was taken back into the house. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis corroborated Morrow's testimony.

Another expert was then called, Leonard Jones of Island Pond, a draughtsman who had made measurements in the Dodge home. Mr. Jones in the course of his testimony said that if Heath was in the position described by the government witnesses when he met his death he could not have been shot from the door leading from the front hall but rather from the bay window from the other side of the room.

Mrs. Dodge's face was wreathed in smiles when she entered the courtroom accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Bell, and by the mistress of the Essex county jail.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Statehood for Arizona and New Mexico held the attention of the senate yesterday. Reports were received from committee on inquiry and the committee on territories which met early in the day and approved the sub-committee report recommending statehood for both territories after they have voted on certain constitutional amendments. Arizona is asked to re-submit the recall provision of its constitution, voting on an amendment which eliminates the judiciary. New Mexico is asked to vote on an amendment making its constitution more easily amendable. The joint resolution, reported by Chairman Flood of the committee on territories, will be called up later in the week. Inquiries and investigations also kept the members busy. Chairman Henry of the committee on education was ready to call up the re-ported provision for an inquiry into the United States Steel corporation and to report the recommendation of the Har-

That Charlie Morse will be elected superintendent of streets on the part of the common council, at the regular meeting of that body to be held tonight, is the report that is being given credence in political circles today and tonight. The board of aldermen would concur in the election of Mr. Morse there seems to be scarcely the shadow of a doubt, and the outlook as a whole points to the defeat of Mr. Putnam. It was stated today that republicans, upon whom Mr. Putnam banked, had gone over to Mr. Morse, and if that is true there is nothing to it but the election of Charlie Morse.

"Yes, I expect that Charlie Morse will be elected by the common council tonight," was an alderman's answer to a reporter's query this forenoon. "I expected it was going to happen at the last meeting of the lower board," he said, "but I understand that the kettle was tipped by a scrap in the caucus."

A republican councilman spoken to by the reporter said: "I don't take any stock in this report about the defeat of Supt. Putnam. I do not think that he has lost strength in the council and it's a good bet that Mr. Morse will not be elected tonight."

WORCESTER BOWLERS

J. J. Monsey and 25 of the fastest bowlers in the city of Worcester are bowling for honors and prize money at the Crescent alleys this afternoon in one of the series of contests in connection with the annual duck and candle pin bowling congress.

The visitors arrived in Lowell this morning and started to roll during the early part of the afternoon. Carl Hedberg who put up a triple of 300 at the tournament held on the Adams Square alleys last year, was the most prominent entry and he put up some high scores in the different contests in which he was entered.

The five-men teams included the Commonwealths, Monsey and American Steel & Wire Co. The latter team last winter broke the record in the five-men class at candles, putting up a total of 1332.

LATE SPRING COLDS

There seems to be something particularly persistent about a cold in April or May. At the end of the season they seem hardest of all to shake. The system apparently needs something to help it out. A remedy that has proved remarkably helpful in such cases is Toiletine. It relieves immediately inflammation either internal or external. Toiletine is an old established remedy for colds, coughs and all throat troubles. It soothes and allays irritation. It is also very healing in cases of cuts, burns or chafing. It is perfectly harmless and can be given to any child.

DIAMOND NOTES

Wornwood for a chaser after a Martini resulted in riotous hitting of the ball.

Four home runs and three of them within the grounds was some hitting.

Huston had his wing with him yesterday and there was nothing doing in the stealing line.

Little Mickey Flynn, recently with Brockton, is now on the Fall River pay-roll.

Little Jawn O'Brien and Peter Butterworth, the yeast man, should double up and do a twin brother act.

Lawrence put a goal in the onward rush of the Brockton team yesterday.

It was a relief to have Umpire Jack Stafford making the decisions.

Lowell got something when Warwick blew in. He is not only a good pitcher but he is some batter.

Hickman is as frisky as ever. He got so frisky on second base that Jimmie Magee copped him off the base by a beautiful throw from left.

When Brockton and Lowell come together again there'll be some fun.

Fred Reiger, who "Little Jawn" says is one of the best pitchers and one of the laziest men that ever lived has joined the Fall River team again and reported at Lowell yesterday. Fred formerly played with New Britain in the Connecticut league and then went to Fall River. After leaving Fall River he played with Jack Burns' team in New London and Jack succeeded in making him up and that Fall River went looking for him again. Fred lives down to Pleasure Beach, one of the most delightful and yet one of the quietest spots on earth. Unless you carry an alarm clock at Pleasure beach you have to hire someone who does, to tip you off when it's meal time. That's why Fred appeared lazy to "Little Jawn," who is always looking for trouble whether with the knife and fork or with umpires. But Reiger is some pitcher, nevertheless, and he'll make good with "Little Jawn."

Tommy Devine, the popular Little captain and outfielder of the Fall River team, reports an addition to the family since last season, making four all, mostly little players. Tommy always keeps at least a lot of thinking when he comes to Lowell. Some years ago he started out to be a milt artist and he was going along like a race horse copping them all in Boston until one unhappy night a kid from Lowell named Jimmy Gardner went down to the Hub and hid Tommy away. "I've missed my vocation," said Tommy as he came to, "you see, the diamond hereafter." And he went forth as a ball player and has been making good ever since.

HAVE BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Soap and water if used too frequently will spoil any head of hair. The best hair treatment is a dry shampoo made as follows: Get six ounces of pulverized ointment root and two ounces of villan powder. Mix thoroughly and keep in a tight box or jar. At night apply a heaping tablespoonful to the hair: distribute with the fingers all through the hair to the scalp. Next day comb and brush until all trace is removed and as a result any man or woman will have beautiful fluffy hair. This removes dirt, surplus oil, dandruff, etc. It is the best thing ever devised for excessively "greasy" hair. Many easterners now use it regularly. Men use it daily and ladies one to three times a week.

Mr. J. A. Sailer, Rockford, Illinois, says: "I have found your Blackburn's Cascara-Royal-Pills at Allen's Drug Store, and they are the best medicine I have ever taken for constipation, and I have depended constantly for twenty years for that trouble. I have never found anything to compare with Cascara-Royal-Pills; I would not be without them."

If you have doctored for many years for constipation, why don't you try Blackburn's Cascara-Royal-Pills and get immediate and pleasurable relief. PING BODIE SETTING FURIOUS PACE FOR WHITE SOX BATTERS

CHICAGO, May 9.—Ping Bodie, the squatly Little Italian, with his five feet six inches of displacement, is the Chicago player of the hour. The San Francisco home-run hitter is setting a furious pace for the White Sox batters. Besides hitting the ball hard, Bodie is running the bases like a deer and playing a fine game in right field. Last season Bodie was the champion home run swatter of the Pacific Coast league, he having made thirty.

CLOWN AND MINISTER IN "POLLY OF THE CIRCUS"

THE OPERA HOUSE

In the company appearing in Frederick Thompson's "Polly of the Circus," with pretty George Olin in the title role, which comes to the Opera House on Thursday, May 11, are, in addition to a score or more of well known actors, a number of circus people and circus acts which contribute not a little to the success of the play.

The big third act, sawdust scene represents a three ring circus in actual operation—one of the most realistic stage pictures ever shown on a stage of a theatre. Among the many features of "Polly of the Circus" is a trained horse called "Bingo," a thoroughbred Arabian animal that was brought to this country by Harman & Dalley's circus and afterwards sold to the New York Hippodrome when Frederic Thompson was the managing director. During the summer months Bingo is one of the features of that amusement place, Luna Park, Coney Island, New York city. Miss Olin and Bingo are a number of other animals and a trained elephant, "Little Hipp," that is the wonder of the age, and which, like Bingo, was brought to this country by the management, at a great expense. For "Polly of the Circus" also the Barlow Dany circus is one of the features with clowns, acrobats, bare-back riders, and ringmasters. Miss Edith Dillon, the greatest bareback rider in the world, does stunts from the back of a horse that is unheeded of, and to think of it, all on the stage of a theatre.—Adv.

Hopper, the dainty comedienne, is a specially engaged member of the cast which also includes Will H. Philbrick, a new and original comedian, and Ina Claire, a talented young imitator.—Adv.

A Welcome Change

Smoke curling up from the farmhouse chimney as the men are coming in from the fields, gives a pretty suggestion of a good supper and a comfortable home. But it also means a hot, tired woman, working hard over a blazing fire.

A New Perfection keeps a kitchen many degrees cooler than any other range, yet it does all a coal or wood range can do. It saves time, labor and fuel. No wood to cut; no coal to carry; no ashes; no soot. With the New Perfection oven it is the best cooking device you can find anywhere.

Benjamin Bachelor, who married in haste Severin DeDeyn
Minerva, his sister and moral guardian, Ada Allen
Amaryllis Isabelle Balestier
Charvillat Doris Dutton
His Twin Daughters
Marlene, maid servant who got a clue in her head Lillian Stewart
Joe, a man servant Jack Keller
Stephen Howston, a very busy man, Donald Meek
Dr. Ludwig Schwartz, who nurses a secret sorrow Simon Cairns
Anthony Gumbag, a confidential agent adept at distorting facts, Harrington Reynolds, Jr.
Miss Arbuckle, known on the stage as Juno Joyce, late of the Omphalia theatre, New York, Lillian Nelder-rauer.

The play tells the story of Benjamin Bachelor, a sports widower who during the absence from home of his sister an exacting maiden lady and his twin daughters, secretly marries an actress, representing himself as a bachelor. He takes his new wife to his home for their honeymoon and they are at home but a short time when the remainder of the family arrive home unexpectedly, and then the complications begin. While Bachelor is attempting to keep the identity of his wife a secret some of her friends appear and then she becomes burdened with secrets that she would hide, while the sister and the twins are vainly trying to figure out who's who and a hired girl with a weakness for detective clues gets a clue in her head relative to the mix-up which she keeps there until the finish. Then one Stephen Howston, a busy Englishman, who wants to marry the actress "at 12.30 tomorrow" butts in to the mix-up and further complicates affairs. Upstart lousy funny situations follow each other until the audience is in doubt that they'll ever be ironed out, but at the close everyone learns everyone's else identity and the sister becomes reconciled to the fact that she must have an actress for a sister-in-law.

In the roll of Benjamin Bachelor, Severin DeDeyn is seen in a comedy part, a role that he seldom seen in and he contributed a large share of the merriment. Donald Meek as Howston had a very funny part and he brought all the fun in it even to a few little acrobatic stunts. Miss Lillian Nelder-rauer was both clever and charming as the actress while Miss Allen was most acceptable as the maidenly sister. Miss Lillian Stewart as the hired girl with the clue was most amusing, while Misses Isabelle Balestier and Doris Dutton as the twins were decidedly fair to behold. Messrs. Cairns, Marlon and Russell as cast in congenial roles and the opening performances ran most smoothly. The play is neatly staged and costumed and will be repeated twice daily for the remainder of the week.

Another very good feature of the bill is Plunkett and Marlow in their laughable sketch, "The Deaf Student." This pair has been seen before at this popular house and they were given a royal welcome last night.

Wieder and Harcourt, two clever young women, introduce a comedy duo to the woman suffrage movement, that is most amusing. One of the women gives a talk on the "Rights of Women" that is laughable in the extreme.

Yenger and Kemp are, known as "the Village Cut-Ups," and their turn introduced a series of acrobatic stunts that are new. The soloist for the week is Miss Sadie Graham who is well liked by the patrons of the theatre who are always fond of hearing her melodious voice. The motion pictures are again classed as the very best Lowell people have had the pleasure to enjoy and are instructive as well as entertaining. Through the excellent system of ventilation the temperature at the theatre yesterday was kept at a comparatively low figure. Performances will be given daily through the remainder of the week from 1.30 to 10.30 p. m.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

A big comedy bill was presented at this house yesterday. Valveno and Lamore are clever acrobats and introduce a pantomime novelty in their act that is amusing. Dainty Diane is a whimsical singing comedienne and entertaining in a brace of catchy songs that display a wide range in her voice. The Janitor is a comedy sketch, given by Mullen, Bartell & Co., and one that explains the arrival of a French count and his entanglements with a chorus girl and an Irish janitor. The cast in congenial roles and the opening performances ran most smoothly. The play is neatly staged and costumed and will be repeated twice daily for the remainder of the week.

THEATRE VOYONS

Contractors and builders will be interested in the moving pictures being exhibited at the Theatre Voyons today and tomorrow. They show the work being done at the Panama canal. The million dollar concrete mixing machine is shown in full operation with cars being filled with the wet cement. The steam shovels at work are shown filling the cars, also the dumping machines which dump material from a slowly moving train, behind which comes a leveler, which pushes the dirt away from the tracks. As the ground is filled up the tracks are moved by machinery, a section being taken up at a time, and set down nearer to the precipice, over which the dumped material is thrown from the dumper.—Adv.

LOST HIS LIFE

Boy in Swimming Was Seized With Cramps

BOSTON, May 9.—Seized with cramps after he had swam almost to shore, Verdon Gubeau, a 11-year-old Hyde Park schoolboy, was drowned in the Neponset river at Hyde Park last night as the result of a canoe accident.

Gubeau and a friend, Phillip Bowle, 15 years old, of Hyde Park, had gone for a paddle in Bowle's canoe. In some unknown way the canoe was capsized. Both were able to swim and they started for shore.

Bowle took the lead and reached shore safely. He looked about for Gubeau and saw him struggling only a few yards from shore. He started back to his assistance, but before he could reach him, Gubeau had sunk to death.

Gubeau was the son of Joseph A. Gubeau of 23 Beacon street. His body was recovered by the Hyde Park police.

Venerable Couple Celebrated a Notable Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Byrne, two well known and highly respected residents of this city, observed yesterday the 60th anniversary of their marriage, at their home, 333 Hildreth street. The event was a most joyous one, and the venerable couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts as well as a host of congratulations from their numerous friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Byrne were married in this city 60 years ago yesterday, the ceremony being performed at St. Patrick's church by the late Rev. John O'Brien. They made their home in this city and have lived here ever since, where they count a host of friends. From this marriage four children were born, three of whom are living, namely: Mrs. James Cassidy of North Billerica, Mrs. James Quinn and Mr. George F. Byrne of this city, as well as 10 grandchildren.

Mr. Byrne is 84 years of age, while his devoted partner is nearing the 80s. Despite their advanced age, they both enjoy the best of health.

To be Nominated for Bishop

PHILADELPHIA, May 9.—Three Massachusetts clergymen will be nominated for bishop coadjutor at the 27th annual convention of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Pennsylvania, which began here today in the church of St. Luke. The clergymen are Rev. Alexander Mann, rector of Trinity church, Boston; Prof. Philip Mercer Rhineland of the Episcopal theological school, Cambridge, and Rev. Edmund Rousmaniere, pastor of St. Paul's church, Boston. Each has a strong following in the convention and as the coadjutor who will be chosen will succeed Bishop Mackay-Smith as head of the diocese, interest in the proceedings of the convention is intense. The names of the Massachusetts candidates will be presented by a nominating committee appointed a short time ago to consider the merits of those suggested for the coadjutorship. The election probably will take place tomorrow. The convention will also choose a suffragan bishop. Bishop Mackay-Smith came to Philadelphia from Washington, D. C., as coadjutor bishop and on the death of the bishop a short time ago became head of the diocese. Ill health, however, forced him to resign. He suggested that a coadjutor and suffragan be chosen and the resignation become effective at the end of a year.

ORPHANS' OUTING

IF AUTOMOBILE OWNERS WILL FURNISH CARS

Outings held in previous years have been greatly appreciated by the inmates of local institutions—Other Automobile News

It is impossible to imagine the joy that automobile outings give to children—who after being housed up for the winter are given a long ride, a good dinner and an unrestrained frolic in an amusement park or pleasure grove. It does one good to see so many hearts gladdened in this manner and its importance can only be judged by seeing the delight it brings to the unfortunate little ones.

It was only a few years ago that philanthropic citizens, fearing that automobiles and also contributed funds in order to give the inmates of the different orphanages in the city outings at Long-Sought-For Pond in Westford, but for some reason or other none of these outings has been held of late.

There are enough of generous minded automobile owners in the city at the present time who would be willing to give the use of their machines for an afternoon in order to afford pleasure to some of the unfortunate children who have to depend upon others for the means to secure amusement.

Those who attended the different outings held in past years can realize that the orphans appreciated the gala days and would be delighted to have a chance this year to have an outing.

Without doubt some of those who were interested in the former outings will entreat automobile owners and public spirited citizens to get together and make arrangements for an outing for the children.

W. W. Thibodeau has ordered a model K, 40-horse power, special Oakland touring car through the agency of the Moody Bridge garage.

Charles B. Abbott is one of the latest to join the ranks of automobile enthusiasts. He recently got the fever and he will be seen at the wheel of a model 24 horse power Oakland car.

The management of the Moody Bridge garage reports good business during the past week. The demand for Oakland cars has resulted in an extra large order being sent to the factory. Despite the fact that two cars of the Oakland line were delivered during the week.

Some owners and operators of automobiles seem to be under the impression that the highways were made for their individual use, and that if a citizen is injured, he must not complain even if it wasn't his fault. More times do not seem to have had much effect upon this class of criminality. It may be a few months in the county prison would have the desired effect. Where human life is taken, the severity of the maximum penalty of the law would probably have a healthy effect in rooting out this growing evil.

The automobile manufacturers who are not afraid to condemn the roadless fever realize thoroughly the apprehension that all the attendant evils of the racing game bring upon the legitimate use of the motor car. They are fully alive to the fact that unless the speed mania is checked, drastic legislation will surely be enacted. Indeed, indications of this fact are already seen in several bills recently introduced into the legislatures of some of the eastern states toward curtailing the maximum speed limit now permitted on the highway.

Charles P. Walker and Charles B. Jeffrey of the E. R. Thomas Motor Co., who are on a missionary tour through New England, arrived in Lowell yesterday in a model M 6-40 Thomas Flyer and will remain in this city today and tomorrow.

The purpose of bringing the machine to this city is to demonstrate to the public the many good qualities of the long-stroke, large-valve motor for which the Thomas Flyer is famous. Yesterday and today many Lowell people were given demonstrations of the excellent qualities of the car and those who are interested in automobiles and desire a demonstration can secure one by communicating with Mr. Walker, who is making his headquarters at the Waverly hotel.

One of the best assets of the Thomas Flyer is that it develops 50 horse power on the brake. In conjunction with six cylinders they almost remove the necessity for transmission gears and enable the car to run practically all the time on high gear without changing, entirely eliminating the jerks, jars and rasping noises of gear changes and the vibration inevitable in other cars.

Mr. Walker gave the automobile editor of The Sun a demonstration in the Thomas Flyer yesterday afternoon and showed how easily the speed of the car could be changed from over 60 miles per hour to one mile an hour without the constant manipulation of levers. The running on high gear without changes makes it possible for the driver to concentrate his mind on the crowded traffic of city streets.

In climbing a hill, with many cars it is necessary to keep shifting the levers for a lower speed or else making a breakneck start in order to travel over the grade on high, but in order to show how easily the Thomas Flyer practices stepped his car at the beginning of Third street hill and then with comparative ease and without shifting from the high gear climbed the hill and then asked if there were any other hills to climb.

"Nothing could like service," is the motto of the Thomas company and the Boston branch of the company at 515 Boylston street is in a position to handle in a manner that customers always have the benefit of the experience of the men in charge of the different departments. Mr. George Schuster, who drove the Thomas Flyer around the city and defeated every other competitor at the head of the technical department in Boston.

Arthur G. Beharrell who recently moved to the City Hall garage in Moody street in order to take care of his increasing business has one of the best equipped garages in the city. With plenty of storage room, a machine shop fitted out with the latest machinery for use in connection with the repairing of automobiles and expert mechanics, he is now in a position to take care of his many customers.

Harry Pitts of Hurd street has been interesting local automobilists in a self-starter which can be attached to any automobile and which obviates the use of the crank.

Arthur J. Cunningham of the Moody Bridge garage has sold a model 33 Oakland automobile to George W. Penney of Shirley, Mass.

The automobile fire patrol was delivered to the city a year ago last month and has given general satisfaction and the cost of upkeep has not been large compared with the service rendered. Chief Homer is a firm believer in the self-propelled apparatus and is of the opinion that the use of the automobile will solve the problem of combating with fires in the outskirts of the city which will obviate the erecting of new fire houses in suburban districts.

Mrs. Julian Talbot of Nesmith street has purchased a seven passenger Oldsmobile Autocrat through the agency of the Lowell Automobile corporation.

Mr. E. N. Burke is one of the latest automobile enthusiasts and is now enjoying rides in a five passenger model 21 Buick car which was recently delivered to him through the agency of the Lowell Automobile corporation.

Mrs. Charles Adams has purchased a model 21 Buick automobile.

Walter Perham has delivered Cadillac machines to F. E. Haines and Laforest Beals.

Edmond H. Mercier is spending a few days at the Stevens-Duryea factory in Chicopee Falls, Mass., having one of his machines tuned up.

Automobilists who have occasion to use the Pawtucket boulevard appreciate the fact that the oil used on the road for the automobile races a year ago last fall has kept the road in excellent condition and all dust is eliminated.

Mr. White, agent for the Reo, has received from the factory another delivery wagon, which is on exhibition at City Hall garage. This is of the 1500 lbs. capacity type, selling for $150, and all of these in use are giving the best of service.

"BILL" CAME BACK

"Farmer Bill" Endicott has come back. The glare and glamor that surrounds the big 500-mile race on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, May 30, was too much for him to stay down on his farm at Cranfordville, Ind., and "Farmer Bill" is to drive the Cole 30 "Wizard" in the big race. J. J. Cole, president of the Cole Motor Car company, has entered the Cole Wizard for Endicott; also a regular Cole 30 racing car, the driver of which is yet to be selected.

It was a huge surprise when "Farmer Bill" Endicott stepped into Mr. Cole's office and made known the fact that he was uncomfortable because the Cole was not to be run in the big race. It was only a few minutes' conversation that brought him back, temporarily, to be the head of the Cole racing organization and caused Mr. Cole to send his check for $1000 to the Speedway officials making the Cole entries officially numbered 12 and 13.

"Farmer Bill" has been arranging his spring farm duties in hope of a big crop for the coming season. He has kept away from automobile circles,

But, a visit to Indianapolis and the tremendous excitement that characterizes the race and the fact that his pride and pet, the Cole 30, was not entered made him disheartened.

"Mr. Cole," queried Endicott, "why isn't the Cole in the 500-mile race?"

"Well, Bill," confessed Mr. Cole, "we were just waiting for you to come back."

It was a random shot but "Farmer Bill" was ready for the emergency and said: "I'm game, you furnish me the car and I'm your driver. That $10,000 looks good to me. It would buy another farm."

Negotiations were promptly closed. Mr. Cole decided that Endicott should drive a Cole special and "Farmer Bill" said that it ought to be called the Wizard. In addition to the Wizard, it was decided that a regular Cole 30 racer should also be entered in the 500-mile race.

Endicott did not go back to the farm. He telephoned for Mrs. Endicott to hire a farm hand and for her and the children to come to Indianapolis.

"Farmer Bill" went into the racing shop at the Cole factory and quietly changed his clothes for his khaki racing suit still in his locker. It was not long before he had the various mechanical jumping about, getting the material ready for his big car.

The old happy smile of Bill's played around his face. He was like a school-boy. Bronzed all over from his farm work, without a thought he would ever change his mind to come back to the racing game. Endicott had entered into the spirit of the occasion just as if it was only yesterday that he stepped out of the Cole racing camp and retired to the farm.

During the 1910 season Endicott won over $10,000 cash, with which he purchased a farm near Cranfordville. Among his prominent victories last year were a world's speed record at Los Angeles, a successful completion of two 24-hour races and winning the classic Massachusetts trophy in the Vanderbilt cup race.

The Cole Wizard that Endicott is to drive in the 500-mile race has four cylinders and a 60 horsepower rating. "Yes, I am back," said Bill all smiles to the reporter, "I am going after the money in this big race. I have always wanted to make a big strike on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. It's right home for me. I have watched the Cole racing team this year in the Florida beach races and when they were out in Los Angeles, I had a twinge the other day that I would like to be with Johnny Jenkins in California. I admire that driver. He has great stuff in him. Will I drive after the Indianapolis race?" Well, no, I'm going back to the farm. But then one never can tell. When racing gets a grip on you and you become attached to a car it's hard to give up. It's like you newspaper fellows, it's pretty hard for you to get away from your game."

When asked about the Cole Wizard, Endicott said: "It's going to have four cylinders and it's going to be painted green—a good Irish green."

Dawson and Harroun Ready
The Marmon racing team is working out daily at the Speedway in preparation for many of the greatest road and track events to be held this season. The first big race on the Marmon calendar will be the 500-mile race to be held on the 30th.

Practically the front of the entire season's racing will be borne by Joe Dawson, who won fame last season at the wheel of the record-breaking yellow car. In the Decoration Day race he will have Ray Harroun as his team-mate to pilot the six cylinder Marmon "Wasp."

Both of these drivers have gone into strenuous training for the big event and during the next few weeks will have their racing cars in daily practice. While the two drivers are the best of friends a spirit of good-natured rivalry has sprung up between them and on several occasions during practice they have matched their cars over short distances in speed trials.

Dawson believes that his new Marmon four cylinder car will be able to make better time over the 500 mile distance than the "Wasp," while Harroun has every faith in his rakish racing car, and the remaining days of practice promise to be enlivened by many brushes between the team mates.

Harroun will drive the 500 miles of the big speed event alone without the assistance of a mechanic and his car is equipped with but one seat. He hopes to make the 500 miles without a stop, wearing the non-stop record from Dawson who drove his Marmon car to victory in the Savannah Trophy race of 277 miles without a stop.

FILIPINO LEPER

Is to be Returned to Relatives

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Anacleto Palabay, the young Filipino leper confined in a pesthouse here, is to be returned to relatives and friends in the Philippines. Manuel L. The war department will defray the expenses. It is said the leper will be sent aboard some sailing vessel.

ANDERSON HELD

BOSTON, May 9.—George W. Anderson, 24 years old, who was arrested by Inspectors Wolf and O'Neil of police headquarters on Saturday, and who was wanted by the Philadelphia police for the alleged embezzlement of $498 from the Paul Hirst Vacuum Cleaning company of that city, blames his arrest to his wife's eagerness to obtain a perambulator that had been bought for their month-old child.

Last Thursday, Anderson, who was employed as a traveling salesman by the Philadelphia concern, disappeared suddenly leaving his accounts about $500 short, it is said. Philadelphia detectives learned that Anderson and his wife had arranged to come to Boston to live with his grandmother on Washington street, near Northampton, and they further learned that he had arranged to have the perambulator shipped to his grandmother's house.

The destination of the carriage was telegraphed to Boston and Saturday the local officers made the arrest.

One Needless From Local Shoe Shop

An alarm from box 23 at 7:19 o'clock this morning summoned a portion of the fire department to a slight blaze in a tenement in Riverside avenue, Centralville, belonging to Samuel P. Hebert. The fire was caused by one of the occupants of the house carelessly throwing a lighted match in a pile of clothing in the cellarway, but the blaze was extinguished before much damage was done.

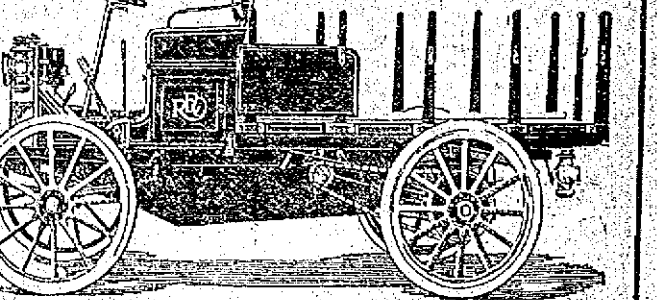

Overheated Thermostat
An overheated thermostat at the factory of the American Shoe Co., in Stackpole street, caused the sounding of an automatic alarm at 9:47 o'clock this morning. The members of Engine 4 responded only to find that there was no fire.

IN POLICE COURT

Varied List of Offenders Disposed of by Judge Hadley

Peter Kuruski was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with assault and battery on Emanuel Kanelopoulos in Davidson street last Sunday afternoon. From what could be inferred from the testimony offered during the hearing of the case it appeared that the defendant was out looking for trouble and when he saw several strangers in what he considered the territory of his nationality he thought it was up to him to take the initiative and drive the invaders out.

The complainant testified that he with friends was passing through Davidson street shortly before five o'clock Sunday afternoon when the defendant without any provocation whatsoever assaulted him on the back of the head. Patrolman Michael Lennon said he had been standing at the corner of East Merrimack and Davidson streets and saw the defendant strike a woman with a shoe and later saw him strike Kanelopoulos on the back of the head sending the latter into an alleyway. Cross-examined by Lawyer J. Joseph O'Connor, who appeared for the defendant, Patrolman Lennon said that he had been watching the defendant for he was under the impression that Kuruski was looking for trouble.

No defense was offered and the court in considering the matter found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $12.

Drunken Offenders
Patrick Reels, who spent several months recently at the state farm in Bridgewater promised that he would do better in the future, but he failed to live up to his good resolutions and as a result of his third he was arrested yesterday and this morning when the court learned that he was on parole from the state farm ordered that he be returned to that institution.

George H. Moriarty was fined $6 and three other offenders were fined $2 each.

Assault and Battery
The aftermath of a party which was held at 100 Tilden street last Christmas was aired in police court this morning in the form of an assault and battery case in which John Pontes was the defendant and Maria Tulerence the complainant. Lawyer George Allard appeared for the complainant, and J. Jos. O'Connor for the defense. At the conclusion of the hearing of the case the court found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $10.

It appeared from the testimony offered that Pontes had been using rough-house tactics and during the course of the festivities at the party bounced a china cup off the head of one of the guests. The Tulerence girl remonstrated with Pontes with the result that the latter became angered and struck the former, and she immediately reported the matter to the police.

Alexis Discharged
James Alexis, charged with feloniously assaulting Annie D. Beaulieu, aged 14 years, was given a hearing in police court this morning at the conclusion of which he was found not guilty and discharged. Daniel J. Donahue appeared for the defendant.

According to the testimony offered by the government witnesses the Beaulieu girl and a friend of the latter named Irene Russell left their homes in Sherbrooke, P. Q., recently and went to Manchester, N. H., and several days ago came to this city.

It was alleged that Alexis met the girls and engaged a room in a block in Merrimack street, stating to the matron that the girls had secured employment in one of the local mills and intended to go to work in a few days.

Owing to alleged peculiar actions the matron notified the police with the result that Alexis was arrested, and the two girls were also taken into custody.

During the course of the hearing Judge Hadley told the girls that they could not have to testify if they did not care to do so, and accordingly they decided not to testify.

After the government had rested its case counsel for the defendant asked the court to discharge the defendant, inasmuch as the government had not proven its case and Alexis was found not guilty and discharged.

STOCK MARKET
WAS HEAVY AT THE CLOSING HOUR TODAY
Market Was Weakened By Scattered Selling—The Movement Had Little Significance However—Other Features of the Trading

NEW YORK, May 9.—Trading on the stock exchange showed a tendency on the part of the active stocks to seek a lower level after the opening today although changes for the most part were slight. American Smelting and Virginia Carolina Chemical were the largest losers, dropping 5-8. Some of the semi-active issues made good gains, among them being Can. Pac., which advanced 1 1/4, and Western Maryland, which gained a point. Manhattan El. moved up 1 1/2.

The bulk of the business of the first hour was accomplished within a range of a quarter of a point, which illustrates the narrowness of the market. The early tendency favored a lower level but there was a sufficient demand for various specialties to impart a slight degree of irregularity to the dealings. All of the fertilizer-stocks showed renewed symptoms of heaviness and there was a decided curtailment of yesterday's inquiry for the American Can. issues. The list was advancing all round at 11 o'clock.

Appearance of a fairly large demand, chiefly from professional traders, strengthened the stock market today, and after a period of indecision early in the session prices rose. The movement, however, resulted in only small gains and the bull leaders were unable to command much of a following. U. S. Steel was absorbed freely and crossed 75 and there were also slight fractional gains in other recognized leaders. Speculation increased in some low priced stocks in which there is a community of interest such as Erie and Southern railroad. Bonds were dull and steady.

Business of an extremely professional character and the familiar expedient of bidding up particular stocks did not show any appreciable increase in outside interest. The rise in the standards stocks terminated after midday but there were no recessions of consequence.

St. Paul, which had been depressed during the forenoon and had not been dealt in subsequently when the market rallied, sold at 120 1/2, making an unusually wide spread between transactions for an active stock. Railroad shares were generally firmer with quite an inquiry prevailing for the Hill stocks. The market closed heavy. Scattered selling weakened the market in the last session, but the movement had little significance, representing mostly the realization of the slight profits accruing on the day's advance.

McGLONE WILL CASE

Judge Lawton Finds in Favor of the Will

Will of Michael McGlone, Formerly of Billerica, Was Contested by His Nephew, Charles P. Smith, of This City

Judge Lawton in the case of Charles P. Smith, petitioner, to break the will of the late Michael McGlone, which was heard in the probate court in Cambridge last Wednesday and Thursday, today rendered his decision, the court finding for and allowing the will.

Michael McGlone was formerly a resident of Billerica but subsequently and up to the time of his death resided with his sister, Mrs. Margaret Reidy of Cambridge. In making his will Mr. McGlone made his sister, Margaret, the beneficiary to his entire estate, which includes valuable property in North Billerica. The provisions of the will were acceptable to a brother and another sister, but a contest was made by Charles P. Smith of this city, a nephew, who claimed undue influence and testamentary incapacity. Judge Lawton at the time reserved his decision and made his report this morning. Messrs. Pratt and Devine appeared for the petitioner and Thomas J. Enright for the will.

BOSTON, May 9.—A steady growth has made this year's work of the Massachusetts state council of the Knights of Columbus the most prosperous in its history, according to the reports of the officers at the 15th annual convention. ON SHORT TIME
LAWRENCE, May 9.—Notices were posted in the Atlantic cotton mills last week to the effect that the entire plant would go on four days a week until further notice. The new time schedule went into effect last week, the mill being closed Friday and Saturday.

The weather conditions for fishing at Sebago Lake were much improved this morning and although there was a fairly strong breeze blowing from the west it was not too strong for the anglers to try their luck at salmon. The wind which had been creating such havoc with the hopes of the fishermen for the past three days subsided yesterday afternoon and the lake assumed the calmness of a mill pond. The opportunity for which the sportsmen had been anxiously awaiting was seized upon and many handsome salmon were brought ashore at the close of the afternoon's trolling.

"The latest report from the Sebago river is that the smelts are still coming out of the rivers but the salmon are not yet biting well."

"I landed a seven and one-half, and a six and one-half pound salmon yesterday."

5000 OPERATIVES

IN FALL RIVER MILL GO ON SHORT TIME

FALL RIVER, May 9.—The Amn. Printing Co. has been quite a heavy buyer of various print cloths for two days, buying of mills here, elsewhere in New England and in the south. The purchases amounted to about half a million pieces. Until they had secured all the goods wanted, M. C. D. Borden, brokers, kept their transactions very quiet. The goods purchased were: 28-inch, 64-64s at 3 1/2 cents; 27-inch, 64-64s at 3 1/2 cents; 27-inch, 56-56s at 2 1/2 cents; and 27-inch, 56-56s at 2 1/2 cents. Deliveries are to extend ten weeks. Mr. Borden can buy goods cheaper than he can make them at his Fall River iron works. Those mills are to shut down alternate weeks until the curtailment equals the amount of goods purchased, probably six weeks. Over five thousand operatives will be affected.

AN EXPLOSION

Two Persons Injured and the Damage Amounted to $50,000—Solid Iron Castings Torn From a Brick Wall—Injured Men Burned About the Face and the Body

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., May 9.—Two persons were injured and damage to the extent of $50,000 resulted from the explosion in the lacquer department of the Stanley works here today. Glasses contained in a condenser connected with one of the large lacquer machines ignited, causing an explosion which tore three solid iron castings from a brick wall near the machine and hurled them across a space of 200 feet against the wall of another factory building, where they fell a tangled mass. Windows were smashed and a brick wall fourteen inches thick was bulging out. Fire followed the explosion but was confined to the lacquer room, which was fire-proofed and extinguished in a short time. The injured were the foreman, Walter Broadley, and a workman, Paul Kulmaczsky, both of whom are burned about the face and body. The injuries, however, are not thought to be serious.

PINE OF PORTLAND

Put Up a Score of 344 at Candlepins, Equalling the Record

The Portland rollers had their innings at the national quack and candlepin bowling congress yesterday at the Crescent alleys in Hord street, and Fred Pine was the honor man. In the individual class at candlepins he rolled 244, which tied the existing record which is to the credit of Warren Brown of Boston.

In the two-men class Delano and Russell of Portland put up 616, which is sixth in the standing. Among the three-men competitors, Pine, McConville and Delano, split the sticks for 875 and the score stands third in the list, while Thompson, Anderson and Hooper are fourth with 863. Longfellow-square team of Portland in the five-men class is fifth with 1432.

Flint and Cahill, the Providence duck pin stars, competed in the individual and two-men divisions, and they showed excellent class, despite the fact that they were under a handicap of being forced to bowl on polished alleys. Their home city is strictly sandpapered but the men took their chance. Flint hit 305 and Cahill 235. In the two-men they scored 559. Later in the evening the pair rolled a special five-strings match with Concanon and Coleman, two of the best duckpin stars in the city, and the local men were lucky to score by 23 pins. Coleman hit 311, Concanon 492, Cahill 499 and Flint 481.

House, Chandler and Drisko of the Colonial club rolled several of their postponed entries and the club annexed a few extra prizes. The trio landed first in candles and boston pins.

The big match between Pochler and Martell and Galloway and Christopher, which was planned for Wednesday and Thursday evenings, has been called off, owing to Galloway not being in shape. The men will meet later and try and bowl the match on some alley in Boston.

As far as this city is concerned the match will not be rolled here. As to where in Boston the bowling will be done later in the month has not been settled. Pochler is desirous of having 10 strings rolled on Murray's alleys and have his opponents choose the alleys where the other 30 will be contested. Christopher and Galloway want all 20 strings rolled on some neutral alley.

Jack Monney of Worcester will have his all-star aggregation in action to-day and it is expected that more than one of the existing candlepin records will be shattered. The scores:
